

'Open Bids' Considered By PanHel

By PAT DYER

A recommendation to use a system of "open bidding" throughout the year was heard by PanHellenic Council last night.

The recommendation was made by Mrs. Ralph Bayfield, college district president of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Open bidding would mean that following any rush period a sorority could still bid a girl who had gone through rush and did not pledge. This would not involve "open rushing."

Open bidding would allow sororities which did not fill their quotas during the rush period to do so later on in the semester, said Mrs. Bayfield. National Panhellenic also supports the system because "a few groups weak in membership weaken the whole system," she added.

PanHel delegates were asked to take the idea back to their sororities for discussion before it is formally brought up for a vote.

Susan Chapman, PanHel rushing chairman, announced statistics from the fall informal rushing. Of the 361 girls who registered, 53 withdrew before preferential bidding. Two hundred forty-seven rushees signed preferentials and 164 were ribboned. About 35 per cent of those signing preferentials did not receive bids.

A recommendation to allow men in the sorority suites in the new residence halls from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. every day and from 6:30 to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights was adopted by the council. Plans to allow men in the suites located in Simmons and McElwain from 7 to 10 p.m. two Sunday nights a month were sent back to the sororities concerned.

The schedule for spring formal rush was adopted. Pre-rush registration will be December 3, open houses will be held February 13 and 14, and chatterdates will begin February 22. Bidding and ribboning will be March 4.

Changes in the rushing code were discussed. A straw vote established that most of the delegates favored a policy which did not limit contacts between freshmen and sorority women except during the rush period.

IFC PRESIDENT GARY GENTZLER (left) awarded the annual IFC scholarship trophies last night. Jerry Miller (center), Lambda Chi Alpha, accepts the Sigma Chi Award for the most improvement. Sam Minor, Alpha Zeta, accepts the professional fraternity improvement award.

3 Fraternities Win Scholastic Awards

By DEX HUTCHINS

Alpha Zeta was presented the Social-Professional Trophy for the highest fraternity average last semester, 3.09, at the annual Interfraternity Council Workshop banquet held last night at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Alpha Phi Delta received the Social-Scholarship Trophy for the highest social fraternity average of 2.79.

300 Tickets Left For Artist Series

Less than 300 tickets remain for the fourth Artists Series program with Leonard Rose, cellist, and Leonard Fleisher, pianist.

The concert will be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Schwab Auditorium.

Non-student tickets go on sale at 9 a.m. today at the Hetzel Union desk. They cost $1.25.

Fleisher and Rose will present works by Brahms, Bach, and Beethoven.

The Sigma Chi Scholarship Improvement Trophy was presented to Lambda Chi Alpha.

Robert W. Kelly, a member of the executive committee of the National Interfraternity Conference, gave the keynote address.

Opening his remarks, Kelly expressed appreciation to the fraternity advisors for their volunteer work in the fraternity system. He gave a brief history of the National Interfraternity Conference and explained the functions and purpose of the organization.

According to Kelly, the NIC opened its first permanent national headquarters in New York two years ago to provide a central information center and clearing house for national fraternity affairs.

It is staffed by one permanent secretary and three volunteer secretaries from colleges in the New York area, he said.

Kelly commended the fraternity (Continued on page eight)

A program of faculty-after-supper talks will begin in fraternity houses at 5:30 p.m. today.

work in the fraternity system. He gave a brief history of the National Interfraternity Conference and explained the functions and purpose of the organization.

According to Kelly, the NIC opened its first permanent national headquarters in New York two years ago to provide a central information center and clearing house for national fraternity affairs.

It is staffed by one permanent secretary and three volunteer secretaries from colleges in the New York area, he said.

Kelly commended the fraternity (Continued on page eight)

A program of faculty-after-supper talks will begin in fraternity houses at 5:30 p.m. today.

work in the fraternity system. He gave a brief history of the National Interfraternity Conference and explained the functions and purpose of the organization.

According to Kelly, the NIC opened its first permanent national headquarters in New York two years ago to provide a central information center and clearing house for national fraternity affairs.

It is staffed by one permanent secretary and three volunteer secretaries from colleges in the New York area, he said.

Kelly commended the fraternity (Continued on page eight)

Judge Delays T-H Decision

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A federal judge yesterday heard government and union attorneys argue the pros and cons of a Taft-Hartley injunction to halt the record 98-day steel strike. He delayed his decision.

The government sought the injunction to send 500,000 steelworkers back to their jobs for an 80-day "cooling off" period. It claimed the strike imperils the nation's economic health and safety.

Attorneys for the United Steelworkers, while admitting the strike has caused inconvenience and hardship, contended it does not now pose a real threat to the national economy or defense.

Both sides presented their cases at a 2½-hour hearing before Judge Herbert P. Sorg in U.S. District Court.

Shortly before 6 p.m. Judge Sorg recessed court until 10 a.m. today. He may rule then or sometime later in the day.

Asst. Atty. Gen. George C. Doub told Judge Sorg President Eisenhower ordered the Taft-Hartley proceedings because he believes the strike is harmful to the American public.

"Such a strike," Doub argued, "is an invasion of the rights of the public. We are here today by virtue of a tragic failure of collective bargaining."

Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel, said there are no facts to support the government's contention that the strike threatens the well-being of the country.

"If an injunction is granted, the great sacrifices which the steelworkers have suffered will have been largely in vain. Their strike will have been broken," he said.

Goldberg said strikes "are not a failure of collective bargaining but are a part of collective bargaining."

Doub argued that the nation's rocket and space programs are endangered by shortages of specialty steels.

He said "these programs of the highest national priority require special and unique types and shapes of steel which are not obtainable from the comparatively few mills still in operation or from imports and are not inventoried."

MI Courses To Institute Honor Code

Two curriculums in the College of Mineral Industries have unanimously adopted the proposed academic honesty system, President John Bonestell said at a meeting of the Mineral Industries Student Council last night.

Elections were held in both the Department of Geo-Chemistry and Geo-Physics last week through a process of sealed ballots. The first examination to be conducted under the new system will be held Friday.

Other department heads have indicated approval of the new system and voting will be held next week in the Departments of Ceramics and Mineral Preparations Engineering.

James Reed, chairman of the Academic Honesty Committee, urged council members to talk up the program in the various curriculums, since 85 per cent of the students in the honor courses must approve it before it can be put into effect. Reed said his committee will begin further publicity of the system in the near future.

A standard ballot is being made up for the students in the elections.

Dr. Benjamin F. Howell Jr., professor of geo-physics and advisor to the council suggested that at least three students should talk to their department head before the question of election in their particular curriculum is brought up in class for a vote.

Collegian to Sponsor Publicity Workshops

Presidents, publicity directors and members of campus organizations will have a chance to learn the fundamentals of publicity at a workshop to be sponsored by The Daily Collegian.

The First Annual Publicity and Public Relations Workshop is planned for Tuesday and Wednesday, November 3 and 4, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in 9 Carnegie.

Both workshops will cover the same information; but are being offered two nights to enable as many students as possible to attend.

According to Loll Neubarth, Collegian public relations director, the workshop was planned to help organizations make their programs and social events known to non-members who might want to participate in them.

Since many publicity chairmen are not experienced in their job or with the facilities available to them on campus, they cannot properly publicize their organizations, she said.

The workshop will cover the basic planning of a publicity program, as well as how to effectively use the Central Promotion Agency, campus publications and radio stations.

An informal discussion will follow and coffee will be served. The group will then make a short tour of the Collegian offices.

Organization presidents, publicity chairmen and all interested students may attend either of the workshops.

Interested students may obtain additional information from Miss Neubarth by calling The Collegian, UN 5-2531.

Colder Weather Expected Today

Cold arctic air from Eastern Canada will be carried into the area today on gusty northerly winds.

The temperature reached 70 degrees yesterday afternoon, which was 16 degrees higher than Monday's maximum.

Partly cloudy skies and much colder weather are due today. The high temperature should be about 51 degrees.

Tonight will be clear and cold with the lowest readings of the fall expected. The low will be 27 degrees.

Tomorrow is expected to be partly cloudy and cool with rain or showers developing by late in the day and continuing at night.

By Joel Myers

21 Women's Groups Enter Mardi Gras

Twenty-one groups will participate in the Mardi Gras, Oct. 30 in Recreation Hall and 15 groups have sent their nomination for Mardi Gras king to the Scrolls committee chairman.

Scrolls, senior women's hat society, is sponsoring Mardi Gras.

Freshman Council, South Halls, Simmons, Atherton, Grange and McKee Halls have not submitted their candidates.

Kings nominated by other groups are Henry Deemer, Alpha Zeta Delta; Theodore Haller, Phi Mu; James Beggs, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Robert Briar, Kappa Delta; Mark DuMars, Zeta Tau Alpha; Dennis Malick, Beta Sigma Omicron; Jack Crosby, Alpha Phi; Armando Vega, Gamma Phi Beta; Richard Engelbrink, Delta Gamma; Larry Byers, Phi Sigma Sigma; Leonard Julius, Alpha Chi Omega; Kenneth Florence, Delta Zeta; Anthony Mortimer, Chi Omega; Gary Gentzler, Sigma Delta Tau; Stephen Ott, Alpha Epsilon Phi.

The winner will be announced at the Mardi Brawl Jam session held from 1 to 4 p.m. Oct. 31, and sponsored by Chimes, junior women's hat society. The finalists will put on a talent show, before the winner is selected.

Winning booths will also be announced at Mardi Brawl.

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service society, and Skull and Bones, men's hat society, will help with the construction of all booths.

Freshman Council will not have a booth but will dress as clowns and distribute lollipops to the crowd.

The kings will ride in a motorcade to Recreation Hall. The motorcade will start at 6:30 p.m. Penny voting for the candi-