Assembly to Hear Report On Class Officers Bill

By CAROL BLAKESLEE

A recommendation that class presidents appoint a class secretary-treasurer and that class vice presidents be elected by their class representatives on the Student Government Association Assembly, will be brought before the Assembly at 7:30 tonight in 215 Hetzel Union Building.

The assembly will also hear the first reading of the proposed amendment to the SGA constitution which asks that the SGA President chair the Assembly instead of the vice president.

For the recommendation to become an amendment it must be passed at three Assembly meetings. The first two readings must be passed by a majority vote and the third by a two-thirds majority vote.

Jean VanTassel, chairman of the Reorganization Committee, will present the recommendation concerning class officers to the Assembly.

Miss VanTassel's committee was asked at last week's Assembly meeting to further study a bill introduced by Campus party for an amendment to the constitution.

The original bill suggested that a president, vice president and a treasurer be elected by Assembly provided for his class; each class; that each class president hold one of the seats on and that each vice president be the president's official alternate assemblyman.

Miss VanTassel's committee will suggest that each class advisory board draw up a list of students qualified to hold the vice presidential position. The class members who sit on Assembly would then elect a class vice president from the students on the list.

Each class president's appointment of a secretary-treasurer would be subject to the approval of his advisory board.

In this way, Miss VanTassel said, "a type of check-and-balance system would be set up."

In other business, the assembly will hear reports from the Pep Club and the School Spirit workshop of the 1959 Student Encampment. Both will be given to Lanney Dey, senior in business administration from Camden, Ohio.

No Student Tickets Left For Concert

All student tickets have been distributed for the concert by Leonard Rose, cellist, and Leon Fleisher, pianist.

Less than 45 non-student tickets remain on sale at the Hetzel Union desk.

The Artists Series program is to be held at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium. Fleisher and Rose will perform works by Bach, Brahms and Beethoven.

Strike Injunction Remains Unsettled

World at a Glance . . . Page Four

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A U.S. district judge ordered the record 99-day steel strike halted temporarily yesterday.

But the strike rolled on as an appellate judge delayed execution of the Taft-Hartley edict. A stay of the order was granted until this morning.

That meant no reopening of mills and pickets continued on duty. He said the Taft-Hartley injunction would not become effective if the union asks a full 3-member third Circuit Court panel in Philadelphia for a further stay pending formal hearing of the union's appeal.

Arthur J. Goldberg, USW general counsel, said he would be before the court at 10 a.m.

Judge Staley said the union had challenged the constitutionality of a section of the Taft-Hartley Act granting courts the right to ban strikes.

George C. Doub, assistant U.S. attorney general, told Judge Sorg that the federal government would oppose the appeal.

The injunction issued by Judge Sorg would prohibit the union from continuing its strike against the nation's basic steel industry for a maximum of 80 days as provided by the Taft-Hartley law.

The government sought the injunction on orders from President Eisenhower who said the strike was endangering the nation's economic health and safety.

Judge Sorg's momentous ruling was delayed by a three-hour conference among company and union attorneys over retroactive pay.

The union told the judge that if the strikers returned to work under an injunction, any economic settlement negotiated in the meantime should be retroactive to the resumption of work.

Company attorneys objected to this proposal, contending "the court would be settling in favor of the union one of the most important terms of collective bargaining."

Judge Sorg reserved a decision on the retroactivity issue. He said he did so "at the request of all parties concerned."

David J. McDonald, USW president, declined any comment on the legal maneuvers.

Surprise Guest Slated for Rally

A surprise speaker will appear at the "Beat Illinois" pep rally at 7:30 tonight in front of Old Main.

Most students will not recognize him but they will know him when he is introduced.

Sever Toretti, assistant football coach, will also speak at the rally. Frank Pearson, senior in arts and letters from Ridley Park, will be master of ceremonies.

The cheerleaders plan to introduce some new cheers to the crowd.

Before the rally the Navy Band and the cheerleaders will parade around campus.

Cloudy Skies, Rain Expected Today

Cloudy skies are likely to continue for two and possibly three days.

Today will be cloudy and cool with rain probably beginning this afternoon. The high should be 53 degrees.

Rain and cloudy skies will continue tonight and part of tomorrow as a storm system approaches this area. Tonight's low will be 46 degrees.

WSGA Approves Travel Permissions

By ELAINE MIELE

The Women's Student Government Association Senate voted last night to give women an unlimited number of 1 a.m. traveling permissions.

The Senate approved changing the rule which states that women are allowed four 1 a.m. permissions a semester when they travel more than 35 miles from the University.

It was decided that freshmen as well as upperclass women be allowed the unlimited permissions. They will be allowed to take them except for the first four weeks of school, when freshmen women are required by Customs to remain on campus.

Senate members agreed that many girls go away from campus frequently and find it difficult to get rides which will get them back on time.

An objection was raised that girls might use the late hours for dating when they return to campus. But it was stated that there has not been a penalty given to a girl for dating on a traveling permission for over a year. Jessie Janjigian, president of WSGA, said that when women wish to travel more than 35 miles from campus and return on the same day they must receive permission from Dorothy Toklish, chairman of WSGA Judicial Board. This applies to the new ruling also, she said.

In other business Senate voted not to allow gym suits in the dining halls. It was brought up that women have been wearing them in the dining halls since the rule allowing bermuda shorts was passed.

The deadline for applying for WSGA committees was set for Oct. 31. Women may apply in the WSGA office, 203C Hetzel Union.

Weekend To Feature Talent Show

The musical show committee of the United Nations Weekend celebration will present its original production, "Getting to Know You," from 8 to 10 p.m. Saturday in Schwab Auditorium.

The Chapel Choir, directed by Mrs. Willa Taylor, professor of music and music education; Acacia Quartet; the Thespian Chorus and many of the 210 international students enrolled at the University will participate in the program.

Tickets, costing 50 cents each, will be available at the Hetzel Union desk starting today. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

The program, which is the last event in the University's UN Weekend celebration, is directed by Lynn Christy, associate professor of English composition. The acts and participants are as follows:

Japanese dance—Miss Hisako Matsubara; Mexican songs—Adiel Belam; Indonesian songs—Mr. and Mrs. Sumanti; Philippine dances—Marcelo Alvarez and E. Fabia; Israeli dances—Mr. and Mrs. Pour-El; Indian Dance—Mrs. Rona Saha; Scotland songs—Miss Elizabeth Munn; African songs—Jacob Dentu and Melton Clinton; and Latin American songs and dances, done by members of the Latin American Project. Eight countries will be represented in this number.

All the numbers in the program deal with the students' love and memories of their home countries.

The musical show committee, which has as its chairman Madan Singh, graduate student in mining engineering from India, is presenting the program as a part of the national observance of World Refugee Year.

AIM Fails to Approve Indie Merger

By NICKI WOLFORD

The Association of Independent Men Board of Governors last night voted against approval of the proposed AIM-Leonides merger and sent it to a committee for study.

Only four of the 34 member board voted to approve the merger.

Leonides approved the merger Monday night by a vote of 17 to 6.

In proposing the motion for merger approval, parliamentarian Carl Smith said lack of communication between the groups was the obvious reason for the merger.

As an example of this poor communication, he cited the annual spring AIM-Leonides Award Banquet. He said not one proposal about the banquet came from Leonides until one week before it was scheduled to take place.

He said many of the groups' joint activities were carried out by AIM alone.

Philip Haines, president of the Town Independent Men Council, speaking against the merger, said "We are a little premature in trying to make a decision since only 5 or 6 members of the board have ever even sat in on a Leonides meeting."

Haines said he wanted definite proposals about how the new organization would be set up. Citing the average 2-hour AIM meeting, Haines said since the group's business was just barely gotten over in its present time allotment, "just imagine what it would be like if women sat on the board."

He said AIM members would not be interested in hearing about "housemothers teas and things."

Frank Pearson, AIM vice president, said the merger would solve the problem which will arise with the new community living program.

Stafford Friday proposed a substitute motion which would study the merger and bring back reports both to AIM and Leonides. This motion was endorsed by the board.

After endorsing the substitute motion, Smith said, "Two independent organizations are worthless. I only hope this committee will bring back to us the purposes of the merger. We just can't pass it by."
