

Festival to Kick Off UN Weekend Events

By BILL MAUSTELLER

The United Nations Festival, kick-off event of the United Nations Weekend celebration, will be held tonight from 9 to 12 midnight in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The festival is the first of a series of events designed to create more interest in international affairs on the part of students, faculty and residents of the area.

Students to File Exam Conflicts

Students may file final examination conflicts from Monday until November 6 in the Scheduling Office, 2 Willard

Any student who has two exams scheduled at the same hour, or has three or more on the same day may file for a conflict. The "same day" is defined by the scheduling office as the period between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Seniors who plan to graduate in January should file conflicts if they have any exams later than 7 p.m. January 25, 1960

Students can find the exam schedule in the fall semester timetable. They are advised to check the supplement to the schedule before filing conflicts.

The conflict schedule will be published in December.

Over 300 Register For Leadership Course

Over 300 students were at Wednesday night's orientation meeting of the Leadership Training Course, according to James Eitelson, course chairman.

Registration for the course will continue until 5 p.m. today. Students may sign up for the course at the Hetzel Union desk.

Junior Panhel Initiates Plan For 1st Party

The Junior Pan-Hellenic Council, little sister to the senior women's greek council, will hold its first unified pledge function at 7 p.m. on Nov. 12.

Thirteen of the 21 sororities that rushed this semester were represented at the council's first meeting, held last night.

The project, a casual Thursday evening party, is being planned to give all of this semester's pledges the opportunity to get to know each other. It represents the first attempt by the council in three semesters of existence, to bring all of the new pledge classes together.

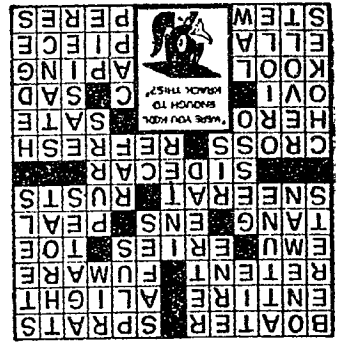

Also suggested for organization by the council was a pledge workshop program. The purpose of such a program would be to discuss the similar problems of each pledge class, philanthropic functions of sororities, and organizational procedure.

Finance Officers Meet in Workshop

Some 200 state and local finance officers arrived yesterday for the University's 24th annual Pennsylvania Finance Officers Workshop.

The 3-day workshop began with a dinner meeting at the Nittany Lion Inn. John H. Ferguson, director of the Institute of Public Administration served as chairman.

Today's program will feature group meetings on the state's fiscal dilemma.
