

—Collegian Photo by Charles Jacques
STATE COLLEGE IS THE ONLY TOWN that celebrates victories through toilet paper parades instead of ticker tape parades. The parade was part of the jubilation that pervaded State College after PSU beat Illinois 20-9 Saturday.

Game Spectators Miss Rally at Home

By JIM MORAN

Boy! You people who went to Cleveland really missed it Saturday.

Yeah, you saw a good game, but you should have seen the goin's on in these parts.

After the game was over, you could hear a few screams

65 Begin Drive By Registering To Give Blood

Sixty-five persons registered yesterday to donate blood at the Red Cross Bloodmobile which will be here next Wednesday and Thursday.

Among those who registered, there were 56 men and 9 women.

Registration will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. all this week in the lobby of the Hetzel Union Building near the Assembly room.

Those wishing to donate must be over 18 years of age, and unmarried students between the ages of 18 and 20 must have their parent's signature on a consent and release slip which can be obtained at the HUB desk. These slips are also available at the registration table, but must be shown before the donation of blood is given, even though the person has registered.

Members of the Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and members of Gamma Sigma Sigma, service sorority, are working at the registration table.

Members of the Army and Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corp will receive merits from their respective service branches for donating a pint of blood.

Films Net 'S' Club $114

The Varsity 'S' Club made a profit of $114 by showing movies of the Penn State-Army football game last Wednesday evening in Omond Lab. The money will be used to help purchase a new Lion suit.

and shouts and a horn here and there, but not much happened.

But about 15 minutes later, everybody began moving downtown, where a parade of cars was streaming down College Ave. Horns were blowing, kids were screaming—just like after the Army game.

Sgt. Matthew Seckinger of the Borough police force was out there with his big smile and his beckoning hands, trying to keep things moving. In fact, Seckinger was the star of the show.

As soon as everybody found out he was on our side, they began yelling for him to lead a cheer.

"Short yell State! Short yell State!" cried Seckinger, and the crowd, numbering about 1500, came back with a "Short Yell State."

A little later, somebody handed Seckinger a rubber Halloween mask, which looked like some slummy monster with a withered face and an eye missing. The good sergeant donned the mask and continued directing traffic. The crowd went wild.

Shouts of "We Want Syracuse!" filled the air. Students dressed in all manner of apparel lined the streets and filled the cars. One student wore a road marker on his head.

All the cars were filled or overflowing with students. Some had more than 30 people in them or on them. Cars of every shape, size and vintage were present and virtually every type of horn, siren or other noisemaker was utilized.

Saturday's bedlam was just a preview of the post-Syracuse game ruckus, if Penn State wins, many felt.

"They'll walk off with the town," predicted one student. And it's likely they will, too.

Councils Set Application Deadlines

Student Council self-nomination forms are available this week.

Four councils have deadlines today. They are Division of Counseling, Liberal Arts, Home Economics and Mineral Industries.

- Applicants for Division of Counseling may obtain their forms at the Hetzel Union desk. Liberal Arts applicants may secure forms in 132 Sparks.

- Applicants for Mineral Industries may sign the poster which is located on the bulletin boards in Mineral Industries.

- Home Economics applicants may mail their forms to Anthony Canike, 360 E. Hamilton Ave.

Other deadlines and instructions are:

- Engineering - Architecture: Freshmen and sophomores may obtain self-nomination forms in 204 Sackett or the Engineering College library. Thursday is the deadline.

- Business Administration: Forms are available in 120 Boucke. The deadline for nominations is Saturday.

- Chemistry and Physics: Freshmen and juniors may sign any of the nomination posters which are located on the bulletin boards in the Chemistry and Physics buildings. The deadline is Friday.

- Physical Education: Self-nominations are being conducted in the freshman class.

Two pictures of each applicant are required for all student council elections except Physical Education and Mineral Industries. Student Council elections will be held November 3 and 4.

Hockey Team at State

In the years spanning 1940 to 1947, Penn State was represented by a varsity ice hockey team which participated as an independent in the Eastern Intercollegiate Ice Hockey League.

Trade Union Chairmen To Attend Conference

Forty-two chairmen and potential chairmen of local trade unions will attend the Labor Education Leadership Training Seminar which opens today at the University.

The sessions, co-sponsored by the Department of Labor Education, the Pennsylvania CIO Council and the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, will continue until noon Thursday.

SGA Assembly OK's 4 Student Appointments

Executive and legislative appointments approved Thursday by the Student Government Association Assembly are:

Spring Week Chairman, Hart Langer; sophomore class assemblyman, Barbara Hackman; junior class assemblyman, John Fenimore; library expansion committee chairman, Nancy Gilliland.

RESEARCH and DEVELOPMENT

For peaceful purposes and the benefit of all mankind, NASA directs and implements U.S. research efforts in aeronautics and the exploration of space.

NASA

OFFERS ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS CHALLENGING OPPORTUNITIES IN BASIC RESEARCH, EXPERIMENTAL RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT AND DESIGN. FIELDS OF ENDEAVOR INCLUDE ROCKET, NUCLEAR AND ELECTRIC PROPULSION SYSTEMS; AERODYNAMICS, STRUCTURES, GUIDANCE AND CONTROLS; MATERIALS, FACILITIES CONSTRUCTION, EQUIPMENT DESIGN.

See Mr. George C. Deutsch on campus October 28, 1959
See your Placement Office for interview appointment.

POSITIONS ARE FILLED IN ACCORDANCE WITH AERONAUTICAL RESEARCH SCIENTIST ANNOUNCEMENT #18

Opportunities at NASA Research Centers in Washington, D.C.; Langley Field, Virginia; Cleveland, Ohio; Moffett Field, California and Edwards, California.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE ADMINISTRATION

THIS IS WORTH REMEMBERING

The life of a student is hard enough, without the responsibility of replacing buttons, mending a torn pocket and the likes.

We cheerfully shoulder the burden of such mundane chores . . . by providing the best tailoring service you'll find anywhere! Whatever garment needs taking-in or leaving-out, shortening or lengthening, major or minor repairing or altering . . . bring it in. We have the skill, patience and time to do it properly.

All of our clothes-care services are designed to help you win top honors in appearance, during classes and extra-curricula activities. Quality drycleaning. Superlative laundering — shirt, fluff-dry and bachelor service. Expert showerproofing.

Balfurd's Cleaners

307 W. BEAVER AVE.

328 E. COLLEGE AVE.

Who is Howard Smith?

Why, he's the biggest cut up in town. That's what good old Howard Smith is. He's got this clip joint on South Allen Street, see, across from the Post Office. You can really get trimmed there. Any style you like: Princeton, Crewcut or Flat Top. Park your wheels in the rear and stagger in. You'll find this the friendliest clip joint in town. Plenty of old magazines to read. A beat-up radio for atmosphere. Howard? He's the guy with the red hair, that's who. Come on in and get what you deserve. Howard Smith Barber Shop, 210 S. Allen St. AD 8-0222.