Record Crowd Sees Orange Win Thriller

For When the one Great Scorer comes to mark against your name, he writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game.

A fitting epitaph indeed for the Penn State-Syracuse battle which provided 32,800 fans at Beaver Field with the most thrill packed 60 minutes of football they'll probably ever see anywhere.

Even though the Orange handed Penn State its first loss this year, 20-18, the two teams proved to all present and a national radio audience that there isn't just one great team in the East, there are two.

In the end the only difference between the two squads turned out to be a couple of missed extra points.

"That Penn State team was the greatest team I've ever come up against," said Syracuse coach Ben Schwartzwalder in the happy out relieved Orange dressing room after the game.

Puffing happily on a big cigar, Schwartzwalder went on: "That team is better than Oklahoma's team of last year and as for Richie Lucas, why he's the best quarterback I've seen."

Just a few steps away in the Penn State locker room, Lion coach Rip Engle had plenty of praise for the Orange squad. "That's one of the best football teams I've seen. They've got everything and they're well-balanced."

"It's no shame losing to a team like that and I'm proud of each and every boy on our squad for their performances today," he said looking at the battered and bruised Penn Staters who were showering or removing tape from ankles, legs and arms.

The win establishes Syracuse, now 7-0, as the odds-on favorite for the eastern grid championship and a bid to either the Orange, Colton or Liberty Bowls.

Penn State, too, got plenty out of the game. For a new star—halfback Roger Kochman—"came-of-age" Saturday.

Kochman, who had been in the lineup for a total of three plays before the West Virginia game Oct. 31, proved that his performance against the Mounties—111 yards in eight carries—was no fluke.

Gathering in a Syracuse kickoff on the goal line in the fourth quarter, Kochman brought the record crowd jumping to its feet with a 100-yard touchdown dash.

The tall, blonde haired sophomore from Pittsburgh who runs like a deer and maneuvers like an eel, dodged the whole Syracuse.

IFC Upholds Deferred Rushing Plan; Vetoes Plan for Open Frosh Parties

By DEX HUTCHINS

The Interfraternity Council defeated last night the Board of Control recommendation which would have permitted freshmen to attend fraternity functions from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday evenings.

The council upheld the entire deferred rushing plan by a 33 to 20 roll call vote.

James Alexy, president of Phi Kappa Sigma, made the motion to vote out deferred rushing.

Defending his motion, Alexy said, "since deferred rushing has not accomplished its objectives, we should not try to tag along with a lame duck, attempting to patch it up." Alexy proposed that fraternities return to the old system of rushing and concentrate on a social pledge program to orient freshmen to fraternity and university life.

George McTurk, Phi Kappa Psi, said that it is too early to say whether or not deferred rushing is a failure. He said that under the present system many problems including freshmen averages and the drinking problem have been alleviated.

"With deferred rushing, fraternities do not have to gamble with rushee's averages," McTurk said, and "we can now know which freshmen have the high averages and concentrate on these men first when rushing."

On Orr, IFC rushing chairman reported that an average of 60 to 65 men visited each fraternity during the last open house held Nov. 1. Orr said that this was a considerable improvement in attendance compared to the previous openhouses.

Richard McMahon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, reported that the Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association transacted $20,000 in business during the month of October. McMahon said that the IFCPA has placed advertisements with various state employment agencies to obtain more kitchen help for fraternities.

Pitt Game Tickets

Football tickets for the annual classic between the Panthers of Pitt and the Nittany Lions will go on sale at 8 a.m. Thursday.

They may be purchased at the Press Reservation booth at the main gate of Beaver Field.

Public Role Discussed By Hager

By KAREN HYNCKEAL

"The main purpose of our continuing liberal education program is to install greater public responsibility toward the main issues and problems of today," Cyril F. Hager, director of the Center for Continuing Liberal Education, said last night.

Hager, formerly dean of the school of foreign affairs for the Department of State, outlined the center's five-year plan which is now in its second year, at the mass Communications Forum held at the Nittany Lion Inn.

CLE, as the center is called, is attempting to foster comprehension and investigation of the social sciences, the arts, and the humanities by adults of the State of Pennsylvania, he said.

"We do not ask that a definite agreement be reached on the subject matter but only that the pros and cons of a subject and the ideas of each individual are well-presented," Hager said.

"We are attempting to train our citizens to be discussion leaders and to make intelligent decisions in solving federal and community problems," he said.

When asked if experts or teachers are present at the meetings, Hager answered, "we discourage lecture sessions. When experts on any subject are needed, there are always people right there in the community who can supply the necessary information."

According to Hager, "most of those who signed up for the

'Gambling' Plans OK'd By Leonides

By PAT DYER

Leonides will cooperate with the Town Independent Men in sponsoring Las Vegas Night Dec. 12.

Patricia Pennypacker, junior in elementary education from Earlville, was appointed Leonides chairman for the event.

Las Vegas night will give students a chance to have all the thrills of gambling but in a legalized fashion, according to Phillip Haines, TIM president, who presented the plan to Leonides Council last night. Over $2.4 million in play money will be used during the evening.

Two cage dice tables, a roulette table, wheels of fortune and several tables of black jack and poker will decorate the Hetzel Union ballroom. Betting on horse racing and an auction will climax the event.

Coeds will be dressed in special costumes to assist the "croupiers" in handing out the money (all odds will be set so the "house" will lose.)

Participants will purchase a ticket at the door for $1. This ticket may be exchanged for 25 $100 bills, in play money, according to Haines. This money will be used for all the gambling during the evening.

Rowena Rotcop, chairman for Leonides hostess tea to be held Dec. 10 in Simmons lounge appointed sub-committee chairmen. About 75 residence hall

Traffic Report To Be Basis Of Cabinet Acts

The Student Government Association Cabinet decided last night it would take no further action on the campus parking until the Traffic Code Investigation Committee reports the findings of its investigation next week.

In explaining this move, SGA President Leonard Julius said a conflict in statistics had caused confusion in several discussions of the Sunday parking problem.

In other business, Cabinet approved a report of the Student Encampment Workshop on Off-Campus Living Problems.

Presented by Harald Sandstrom, president of the Association of Independent Men, it deals with fraternity expansion, town parking, town living conditions, Greek-Independent relations and borough taxes.

Mild Temperatures To Prevail Today

Today and tomorrow are expected to be beautiful fall days. Sunny skies, light winds and mild afternoon temperatures will be the prevalent features both days.

Today will be partly cloudy and warm with a high of 58 degrees.

Fair and cool weather is likely again tonight. The low will be 35 degrees.

Temperatures will climb to 62 degrees under partly cloudy skies tomorrow.

Chou Proposes Talk With India's Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP). — Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed yesterday to settle his country's border dispute with India at a personal meeting with Prime Minister Nehru. Indian sources said Chou's new approach is unacceptable.

Refusing to yield on claims to 40,000 square miles of Himalayan soil India regards as its own, the Chinese Premier suggested both sides pull back their forces 12½ miles from the disputed border.

"The entire approach is repugnant to India's stand on its internationally recognized border," an authoritative Indian source said.

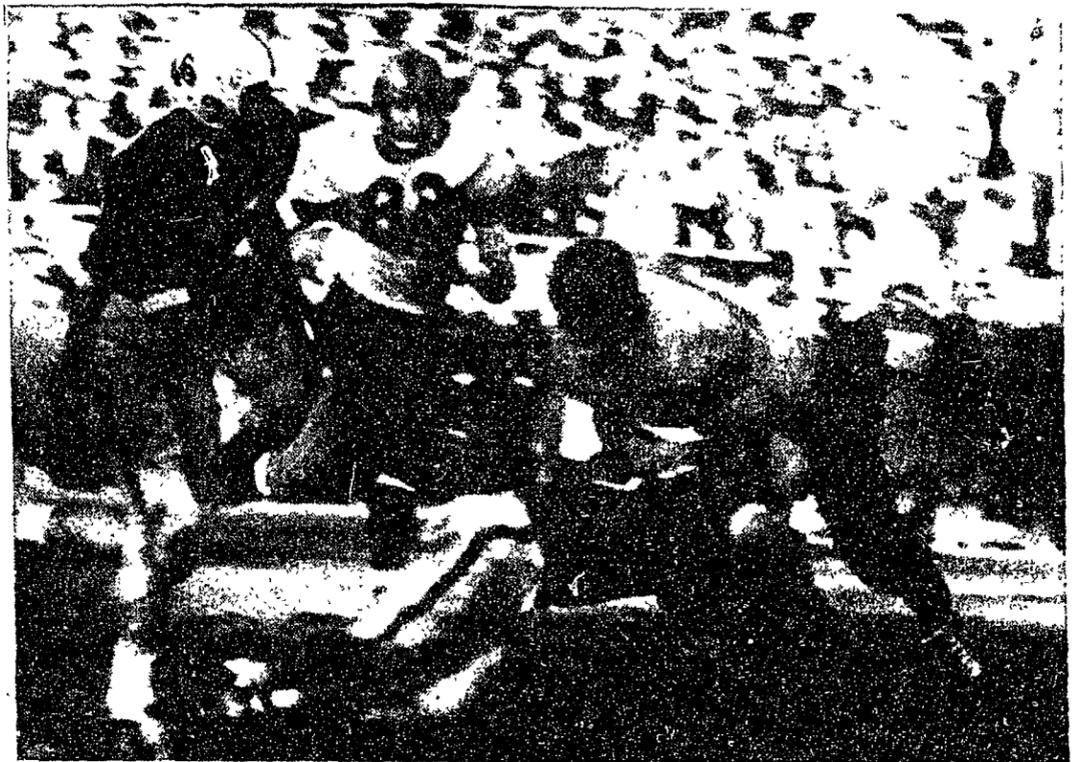

Nehru himself mentioned Chou's note in a report to a committee of his Congress Party but expressed no opinion, a committee member reported. Nehru has declared he is willing to negotiate but has never said anything about sitting down with Chou to talk things over.

Chou's note was handed to Nehru

Sunday, then broadcast yesterday by Peiping radio before its contents were made known here. If he suggested a site for the meeting it was not mentioned publicly.

The Red Chinese Premier, in urging prompt action on his plan, said "clashes which both sides do not want to see may occur in the future."

"The Chinese government proposes that, in order to discuss further the boundary question and other questions on relations between the two countries, the prime ministers of the two countries hold talks in the immediate future," Chou's note said.
