

Kochman Goes 100 Yards for Score

Manhattan Defeats Lion Harriers, 27-30

A great block by guard Bud Kohlhaas at midfield gave Kochman clear sailing.

Kochman also was responsible for putting Penn State in the lead in the first period.

Coming off the bench with ten minutes gone, he went 17 yards for a score the first time he got his hands on the ball.

Sam Stellatella who has missed just two extra points all-season, tried the PAT but it was wide and the Lions settled for a 6-0 lead.

Syracuse went ahead, 7-6 at the six minute mark of the second period. With sophomore Dave Sarette directing the attack, the Orangemen took the kickoff and marched all the way to the Penn State eight.

Here the Lions' Dick Hoak, who had dropped a touchdown pass in the first quarter, stopped the Syracuse drive with an interception in the end zone.

The Lions took over but were stopped on downs and Lucas punted to the State 43. From there Syracuse's Art Baker and Ernie Davis took turns moving the pigskin to the six.

Then on a first and goal play, Sarette pitched to halfback Ger Schwedes who dove in for the score. "Toe" Yates tacked on the extra point.

Syracuse added seven more in the third period on a Sarette to Baker pass from five yards out. Once again Yates kicked the extra point.

The Orangemen looked like they would run away with things when they scored in the opening minutes of the last quarter on a one yard plunge by Davis. This time Yates missed the kick and the score was 20-6.

Then came Kochman's dramatic runback and all of a sudden the Lions found themselves right back in the ball game.

But when they failed on their try for two points things looked dim again.

Not to be denied, though, they came storming back and held Syracuse for two series of downs, forcing them to punt deep in their own territory.

Yates went back to kick for Syracuse. The snap came and so did blue uniform number 78—Andy Stynchula.

Stynchula blocked the kick and the ball rolled free near the 10-yard line where Syracuse's Fred Mautino picked it up. From behind came Kohlhaas with a vicious tackle and the ball squirted to the one where Penn State recovered.

Fullback Sam Sobczak went over for the TD on the next play and the crowd went wild. The score was 20-18. Then realizing the importance of the next play, the huge throng suddenly became silent.

The Nittanians broke from the huddle and approached the ball. The "Sizeable Seven plus some" dug in.

Then came the snap. Lucas pivoted, Kochman took the handoff, banged into a wall of white shirts just short of the goal line and the rally fizzled. There was still time for the Lions, but Syracuse got the ball and slashed off yard after yard to run out the clock.

Statistically, Syracuse outrushed and outpassed the Lions.

Sarette wound up as Syracuse's leading ground gainer and passer. He picked up 66 yards rushing and 54 passing. Baker, the Orange fullback also had 66 yards rushing and Schwedes had 59. Davis had 44.

Pat Botula, Penn State's captain and fullback, led the Lions in the ground gaining department with 43 yards in nine carries.

Opponents Scores

Missouri's Tigers pulled one of the biggest upsets of the day Saturday when they beat the Air Force Academy, 13-0, in Columbia.

It was quarterback Phil Snowden's passing and all-round fine play which was the difference. Missouri's win evened its record at 4-4.

Here's how Penn State's other opponents made out. Holy Cross, the Lion foe this weekend beat Boston University, 17-8. BU had lost to State 20-12 earlier this year.

Bad breaks and misfortunes were the keynote as the Penn State cross country team dropped a close 27-30 decision to Manhattan College on New York's Van Cortlandt Park last Saturday.

Chick King, one of the top Lion harriers, sprained his ankle at the beginning of the meet. Coach Chick Werner felt that this was the difference. "King, our fifth runner, usually takes one of the top places. Without him, our third and fourth finishers were spread all over the course. This made the difference in the meet," the Lion mentor said.

Werner is not sure whether King will be able to compete in the IC4A championships next Monday. "We will see whether he responds to treatment and this will indicate if he will run," Werner said.

However, all was not despair for the Wernermen as Herm Weber, running his most convincing performance of the season, took first place against the Jaspers. The Nittany coach said that Weber definitely put forth his finest showing of the year. "If Weber keeps up the pace he set, we have a contender for IC4A honors," Werner stated. The junior harrier toured the course in 25:37.5, finishing 50 yards ahead of his nearest opponent.

Pete Beyer, defending New York City Metropolitan Champion, captured second place for the Jaspers. Beyer also ran a strong race but he couldn't keep up with Weber. His time was 25:44.9.

Dick Engelbrink carded third place for Penn State. Engelbrink has been disappointing in the last few meets. In early season meets, he racked up two first places. However, after that, he scored two thirds and a fourth. He toured the difficult course in 26:10.

Jasper Dan Cerry finished fourth. His time 26:18.

The fifth place was the Lions' Steve Moorhead. Moorhead, who Werner said showed the most potential in practice, had a poor day finishing with a time of 26:29.

Joe Driess, Art Evans, John Corry and Larry St. Clair rounded out the scoring for Manhattan. They finished sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth, respectively.

Penn State's Denny Johnson and George Jones finished 10th and 11th.

This was Manhattan's six win on one defeat, apparently making them the number two team in the East behind Army.

Sooners Eager To Play Army

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Coach Bud Wilkinson told a news conference yesterday he thought it was a fine thing for his Oklahoma football team to be playing Army but added quickly, "we probably won't feel that way Saturday night."

The Sooners and the Cadets meet at Owen Field Saturday and already the game is sold out for a crowd of 61,700.

"The purpose of competition is to play teams who know what they're doing," Wilkinson said, "and Army is one of those teams."

Asked if thought it would be a pretty even game, Wilkinson replied:

"I don't really know but if a team gets going it can beat anybody badly. We haven't been an explosive club and Army plays real well."

Wilkinson said Oklahoma possibly will have an advantage in playing its three remaining games at home.

"Actually, the team has a chance to concentrate on a game when it is traveling away from home," he said, "but I think the warmth of home helps."

Beams, Beatty Injured

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tackle Byron Beams and center Ed Beatty came out of the Pittsburgh Steelers-Detroit Lions football game Sunday with injuries.

Beams suffered a dislocated shoulder in the fourth period. He is in Mercy Hospital and may be lost for several weeks. Beatty sustained a cut over an eye.

Former Halfback

Running with the football is old stuff to Richie Lucas, Penn State's ace quarterback. He played halfback in his sophomore and junior years at Glassport High School. Through six games, Lucas is State's rushing leader with 248 yards and a 3.8 average.
