

Band Will Give 60th Year Show

A tribute to the growth of the University's athletic fields and to the 60th anniversary of Blue Band will be the theme of the Penn State Blue Band's half time show at the Penn State-Holy Cross football game Saturday.

This theme was decided because Saturday will be the last time a football game or a Blue Band show will take place in the present Beaver Field.

The show will trace athletic fields from the first Beaver Field, formerly on the site where the College of Chemistry and Physics now stands, to New Beaver Field which started with 1200 wooden seats and grew to its present size in 1949. The growth of Blue Band from a 6-piece drum and bugle corps to a 96 member marching band will also be traced.

After the salute to Holy Cross and the playing of the "Alma Mater," a 6-piece drum and bugle corps will detach from the band and march down the field and back to represent the Blue Band which played in Old Beaver Field in 1899.

Next a 22-piece band will detach from the main group to represent the band that played at New Beaver Field in 1909.

To represent the band that played in 1920 when Beaver Field boasted 1300 wooden seats a 64-piece military style band will march down the field.

Showing the next step in both the band's and Beaver Field's progress, 80 members will go through a World War II routine involving the formation of a plane crushing a formation of a swastika.

To end the histories all 96 band members will form a typewriter with movable parts, showing a recent routine of the Blue Band.

The band will play "Semper Fidelis," "Billboard March," "Thunder March," "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," and "The Typewriter Song."

Before the theme of the program starts, the senior members of the Blue Band will be asked to step out and take a bow in recognition of their band work.

HUGO WEISGALL, composer and conductor who is now on the University faculty, will speak on 20th century opera tonight in the HUB assembly room. Weisgall is the first of four lecturers in the Open Lecture Series.

TIM Council Elects 3 Men To Membership

Town Independent Men's Council Wednesday night approved the recommendation of the screening committee and elected three men to fill council vacancies.

They are George Finnen, Dale Hoover and Frederick Phanco, all juniors in electrical engineering.

In other action, Kelly Mather, chairman of the independent social house committee, reported that social houses will be inspected within two weeks by representatives from TIM Council and the dean of men's or dean of women's office.

He also said mimeographed petitions for approval to entertain women are now available in the TIM office, 203-HUB.

Richard Babcock reported that the old intramural committee has been changed to two separate committees, to be known as the TIM Intramural Committee and TIM Recreational Committee.

The new constitution was turned over to the council members for study. It will be discussed and adopted at the next meeting.

Council President Philip Haines announced that Leonides Council will assist in the Las Vegas Night program, to be held Dec. 12 in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

Haines appointed Fred Shaw as delegate-at-large to the Association of Independent Men Board of Governors, and Finnen to the town parking committee.

Non-council members Joseph Kopp and Stephen Jackson were appointed to the social recreational committee, and Ronald Shiban and Stephen Blum to the independent social house board of control.

Haines also announced that a meeting with the legal counsel for the dean of men's office to discuss the downtown housing problem has been postponed.

Players Will Perform 'On Borrowed Time'

The first Players' production of the season, "On Borrowed Time," will be presented at 8 tonight at Center Stage.

The play was adapted by Paul Osborn from a novel written by L. E. Watkins and is being directed by Kelly Yeaton, professor of theatre arts.

Main roles in the drama are played by Joseph Servello, a former University student from Altoona, and Erik Zimmerman, a 10-year-old from State College. They play a lovable old grandfather and his grandson.

University Analysis--

(Continued from page one)

in astronomy and nuclear science departments have been added and a 2-year program in accounting has been initiated.

The next article in the series will present the vice president's overall views on the growth of the University and where it will eventually end.

The final article will express President Eric A. Walker's views on the more abstract needs and direction of the University.

MIL BALL

TICKETS

Mon.-Thurs. Nov. 16-19

ATTENTION SENIORS

Seniors in ENGINEERING and ARCHITECTURE are scheduled to have their portraits taken for the 1960 La Vie at the . . .

PENN STATE PHOTO SHOP
214 E. College Ave.

from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

No appointments are necessary.
Please follow this schedule.
Those with last names:

A—G Nov. 9-12
H—P Nov. 12-16
Q—Z Nov. 16-19

Five Seek Hockey Olympics

The women's field hockey club, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, isn't satisfied with the Liberty or Cotton Bowl. It is after higher stakes—the 1960 Olympics.

Five members of the team were named to the Susquehanna Field Hockey Association team last weekend, at a meet held on the Wilson College campus at Chambersburg.

These five will represent the association at the Mid-East Tournament to be held this weekend at Wilson. Players will be chosen from the competition to represent the Mid-East Field Hockey Association in the nationals.

The next step in this chain is the Olympics. Members of the team competing this weekend are: Sandra Kleebe, sophomore in physical education from Wayne, the first team's right inner; and Virginia Flamish, senior in art education from Allentown, left fullback.

Members of the second team are: Lana Glaser, junior in physical education from Greencastle, left half-back; Sheila Allison, sophomore in physical education from Lancaster, right wing; and Phyllis Jobson, freshman in physical education from Wynnwood, left wing.

KOOL ANSWER

WRA to Hold Tennis Clinic

Tennis fans will have one last chance to practice their smashes at the Women's Recreation Association open house at 7 tonight in White Hall.

A tennis clinic, organized by the tennis club, will be open to all those who wish drills, practice hints, and the opportunity to polish up on serves, lobs and drives. Instruction will be given by members of the club from 7 to 8 p.m. Open practice will follow.

The open house will also provide many other sports for interested coeds. Volleyball, free bowling, basketball, swimming, and badminton are among the activities open.

Book Fair Orders

Students who purchased books last week at the book fair sponsored by the Reading Clinic are requested to pick them up before 5 p.m. today in 424 Boucke.

Coming up, Melvin . . .
CENTRE COUNTY FILM LAB WEEK
November 16 - 21

Autumn Holiday
Nov. 14 9-12
Hillel Auditorium
Mike Raymond
and his combo

$1.25 Drag

75c Stag

Sponsored by Hillel Freshman Council

KOOL CROSSWORD

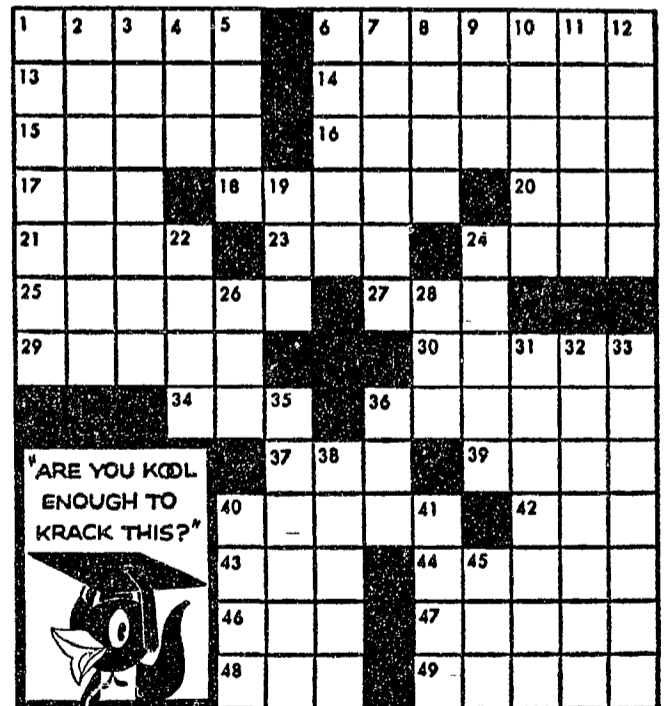

No. 9

ACROSS

- Struggles of some scope
- Mountain climbers dig this, on ice
- It holds a square that's called a ring
- Sad about the code?
- Not the opposite of yours
- Seems
- How to start English Lit.
- Initiates a fog?
- One way to get to first base
- Rake from Rouen
- Favorite subject of coeds
- They sound like last year's dresses
- With vitriol
- What 84 Across is usually for
- When it's super, it's real fast
- Truman's birthplace, not quite Hedy
- See 27 Across
- Marine (slang)
- _____ polloi
- Combining form for within
- How Kools always taste
- If you blow it, you're mad!
- 3 letters to a loan wolf
- Yellow pigment
- British fly-boys
- Rose's side-kick
- French ends
- _____ Marner

DOWN

- Subjects of snap courses?
- River in Venezuela
- Kool's mascot
- Compass point
- Kin of a cummerbund
- Mad fad
- What sinners do
- Little electrical units
- Little Morris
- Prague to the Czechs
- Character in Hamlet
- They're for the birds
- Bolger was once in love with her
- What the head guys on this paper do
- What good lookers do
- Naval ship
- Rita's ex
- Kool's kind of magic
- It's just between France and Spain
- What a hot spot does under new management
- Where you feel Kool's smoothness
- Army lads
- Eggs à la Bardot
- Ready, aim, _____!
- Certain cigarettes (slang)
- Sigma's last name

When your throat tells you it's time for a change, you need a real change...

YOU NEED THE

Menthol Magic
OF KOOL

