

Library Exhibit To Honor Pugh

By KARYL DUCHACEK

An old blacksmith shop door engraved with "Evan Pugh" in youthfully irregular lettering is a prized feature in the exhibit which will continue through December in the foyer of the Pattee Library.

The exhibit, arranged by the staff of the Penn State Room, contains highlights in the life of Evan Pugh, who became the first president of the University just 100 years ago.

Despite international recognition and the opportunity to continue work in chemistry in England, late in 1859 at the age of 31, Evan Pugh assumed his duties as president.

He was actually a one-man administrative staff, his own secretary, and a regularly-teaching professor of agricultural chemistry, chemistry, geology and mineralogy. He paid $500 annually from his $1500 salary to help maintain chemistry laboratories. Various displays in the exhibit describe Evan Pugh's life as a Quaker boy in Chester County, university student in Europe, as a pioneer in education, a teacher, administrator and a key figure in the promotion of the Land Grant Act.

A physical and mental giant, during his five years at the University, he persuaded the legislature to complete Old Main and to designate the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania as the state's single beneficiary of the Land Grant Act, which he helped frame and get through both Congress and the State Legislature. Graduate study was begun here in 1862 because of his reputation.

Included in the exhibit is a letter to Hugh N. McAllister, one of the original trustees. In it Pugh mentions that he had planned to walk to Bellefonte to consult with him on rules for the school, but had been prevented by poor weather.

Pugh's attention to every detail is indicated in a letter concerning the design of the dome for Old Main, in which he suggests an arrow rather than a Ceres atop the dome.

Also displayed is a chart of the report presented by Evan Pugh to the Royal Society of London in 1860. It was this report that brought him international recognition, leading to the offer to become the first president of the University, and offers from Washington to become chief chemist of the new U.S. Department of Agriculture.

1 Against 23 in Chess Tourney

Despite a rainy Saturday night, nearly 100 persons turned out to watch a simultaneous chess tournament.

The Penn State Chess Club pitted 23 of its best players, including its sponsor, Dr. Orin Frink, against Dr. Elot Hearst.

Hearst, a 27-year-old psychology major, placed fourth in the 1959 U.S. Open Chess Tournament and is considered one of the country's top chess masters.

Moving from player to player, Hearst defeated all but three of the opposition. After three hours and forty minutes he had obtained draw games against Bill Bragg and Jerry Eckman.

Ralph Eilberg was the only player to win against Hearst.

Among Dr. Hearst's many titles are 1950 New York Chess Champion, and current Washington, D.C. Champion.

DIARY OF A COED

MONDAY: Prof. Pomfritt sprang quiz in English lit this morning. If Shakespeare didn't write Conterbury Tales I'm a dead duck... Lunch at the house—turkey hash. Question: how can we have turkey hash when we never had turkey?...

TUESDAY: Faculty tea at the house. Spilled pot of oolong on Dean of Women. She very surly. Offered her a Marlboro. Still surly. Offered skin graft. No help... Dinner at Kozy Kampus Kafe—24 hamburgers. But no dessert. Have to watch waistline... And so to bed.

WEDNESDAY: Got our marks in English lit quiz. Lucky for me Shakespeare wrote Conterbury Tales!... Afternoon date with Ralph Feldspar. Purely platonic. Ralph wanted to consult me about love trouble he's having with his girl Nymphet Calloway. I assured him things would get better. Ralph said he certainly hopes so because last four times he called on Nymphet, she dumped vacuum cleaner bag on him... Smoked several Marlboros. Wonderful cigarette. No confusion about which end to light. Saves loads of time... Dinner at house—bread. That's all; just bread... And so to bed.

THURSDAY: Three packages from home—laundry, cookies, records. So hungry I ate all three... Quiz in American history. If Millard Fillmore didn't invent cotton gin, I'm in big trouble... Dinner at house. Big excitement—Nymphet Calloway announced her engagement to Ralph Feldspar. While sorors flocked around to congratulate Nymphet, I ate everybody's side meat... Then smoked Marlboro. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro!... And so to bed.

FRIDAY: Got our marks in American history quiz. Was shattered to learn that Millard Fillmore did not invent cotton gin. He wrote Conterbury Tales... How very odd!... Lunch at the house—bread hash... Marlboro after lunch. Great smoke. Must send valentine to manufacturers... Spent entire afternoon getting dressed for date tonight with Norman Twonkey. Norman is dall, dark, loaded—a perfect doll! Only thing wrong is he never tells a girl where he's going to take her. So I put on a bathing suit, on top of that an evening gown, and on top of that a snowsuit. Thus I was ready for a splash party, a dance, or a toboggan slide... So what do you think happened? He entered me in a steeplechase, that's what!... Would have taken first prize easily if I hadn't pulled up lame in the last furlong... And so to bed.

Yes, the college life is a busy one and you may be having trouble choosing the cigarette that's right for you. Here's a handy guide: For filter plus flavor—Marlboro. For flavor without filter—Philip Morris. For filter plus flavor plus coolness—Alpine... All made by the sponsors of this column.

Application Date Reset By Jr. IFC

Richard Moyer, Junior Interfraternity Council president, announced last night that the application deadline for membership on Jr. IFC committees has been extended until noon tomorrow.

According to Moyer out of 400 application cards issued, only 20 have been returned.

The Christmas Tree Committee will supply the fraternities with trees through the Department of Forestry. Members of the committee will secure orders from fraternities and deliver the trees.

A Scholarship Committee has been organized to improve the academic standards of the pledge classes. Moyer said that the committee may be able to sponsor a "pledge of the month" contest later in the semester.

The Publicity Committee will publicize all Jr. IFC functions and may work with the Interfraternity Council on pushing smokers.

The Pledge Banquet Committee will make all arrangements for the annual dinner and will work on a program of interfraternity pledge mixers later in the year. This committee will also elect the outstanding pledge of the year.

The Greek Week work committee will arrange projects for the pledges and assign work groups.

Following the business meeting a special panel program on "social graces applied to fraternities" was presented.

Mrs. Cecile P. Sinden, assistant professor of housing and home community relations, was the guest speaker and chairman of a panel composed of five housemothers.
