SOME OF THE 'ELITE FEW' who voted yesterday cast their ballots here. Voting was low yesterday, but you still have your chance today. The polls are open until 8 tonight in the HUB.

Elections Have Slow Beginning

The SGA fall elections got off to a relatively slow start yesterday, according to Sharon Hoffman, Elections Committee co-chairman.

Miss Hoffman said the polling place outside the Hetzel Union cardroom had a continuous but slow stream of voters. She said there was never a real crowd although voting did pick up between classes.

The decentralized polling places, in Sackett, Sparks, Forestry and Boucke, did poorly, she said. The polls in Boucke were the busiest.

No figures are available on the number of voters or on any of the races. Students are electing a freshman and sophomore class president and assembly members from all four classes.

Miss Hoffman said she hoped the voting would pick up during the final day today. However, she was worried by the lesser number of classes scheduled today.

Voting will end at the four decentralized sites at 5 p.m. and at the HUB at 8 p.m.

Miss Hoffman said a meeting of the party leaders would be held immediately following the close of the HUB polls. At that time the parties may file charges against the other for infractions of the elections code. Ballots will be tabulated following the meeting.

WSGA to Sponsor Clothing Campaign

The Women Student Government Association is sponsoring a clothing drive until Dec. 6.

Clothing boxes are located in housemothers' offices in women's residence halls and near the mail boxes in men's residence halls.

The clothing will be given to the Friends Society and will be distributed to families to Centre County.

Sales to End Today For Mil Ball Tickets

Approximately 300 tickets remain for the annual Military Ball to be held Dec. 4 in Recreation Hall.

Today is the final day for obtaining the tickets which are $5 per couple.

Cadets and non-cadets may purchase tickets at the military detachments in Carnegie and the Armory.

The ball will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Iseman to Play Lead In Ibsen Production

By ZANDY SLOSSON

Cameron Iseman, instructor in theatre arts, will play the lead role in the Players' production, "John Gabriel Borkman," which will run weekends from Dec. 4 to Jan. 16 at Center Stage.

"John Gabriel Borkman" was written by Henrik Ibsen, who is also well known for "The Dolls House," and "The Wild Duck."

Other members in the cast include David Rahe, as Vilhelm Foldal, Borkman's only friend; Richard Mazza, as Erhart, Borkman's son; Patricia Thompson as Gunhild, Borkman's cold wife; and Janice Shiarella as Ella Renthum, Gunhild's twin sister whom Borkman loves.

Also in the cast are Clairnell Clemons as Mrs. Anna Wilton, a divorcee who loves Erhart and Mrs. Wilton abroad; and Rosemary Williams as the maid.

Borkman is virtually a dead man who once held the role of a Napoleon in business. However, after serving a 5-year prison term for embezzlement of shareholders' profits, he leads a self-imposed life of exile in a cold home that knows no love between man and wife.

Crew heads for the play, which will be directed by Warren Smith, professor of theatre arts, are: Michael Zeigler and Del Boarts, lights; Barbara Foster, properties; William Bennett, sound; Jane Trevaskis, advertising; Charlotte Sidewater and Jean Greenberg, house; Richard Mazza, stage-manager; Bonne Mckee and Carol Stone, make-up; and Ellie Voss and Helen Mitchell, costumes.

Team to Debate With 2 Schools

Duquesne University and the University of Rochester will be the destinations of several members of the Men's Debating Squad this weekend where the teams will compete in intercollegiate tournaments.

Traveling to Duquesne will be Robert Richey, senior in business administration from Curryville, and David Garland, freshman in arts and letters from Harrisburg, who will argue the affirmative side. Upholding the negative will be Robert Umstead, junior in secondary education from Birdsboro, and Robert Uetz, senior in arts and letters from Philadelphia.

Debating at Rochester will be Peter Galie, junior in labor-relations management relations from Conshohocken, and Arthur Ichter, senior in business administration from Ashley, who will take the affirmative side. William Stout, sophomore in engineering-science from Pittsburgh, and Alan Davidson, senior in arts and letters from Clearfield, will uphold the negative.
