

Spartan-Miami Clash Kicks Off Weekend

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan State of the Big Ten plays Miami's stirred-up Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl Friday night, a likely regular season setting for the kickoff of a college football weekend crammed with bowl possibilities.

Michigan State still has a chance to represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day and Miami has moved into contention for the Jan. 1 festivities right at home in the Orange Bowl.

Whether the Spartans are to be considered or not depends on two Big Ten duels Saturday—Wisconsin at Minnesota and Northwestern at Illinois, the former the TV game of the day (NBC, 2:15 p.m., EST).

Wisconsin and Northwestern currently share the conference lead with Michigan State at 4-2. Michigan State has completed its league season and must root for a tie or a loss from both shareholders to stay in bowl consideration.

Miami, now 5-3 after a slow start, is among four or five teams reported under surveillance for the berth opposite, the Big Eight representative in the Orange Bowl. The others include Penn State, which may prefer the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia Dec. 19, Clemson, Arkansas and Texas Christian from the Southwest Conference, and Georgia, the Southeastern League champ not committed to the Sugar Bowl.

Saturday, Penn State plays improving Pitt, Georgia meets Georgia Tech, Arkansas plays Texas Tech, Texas Christian faces Rice, and Clemson goes against Wake Forest trying to nail its second straight Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

New Grid Loop Gives Franchise To Boston Club

BOSTON (AP)—Boston became the eighth and final member of the infant American Football League yesterday in an 11th hour, mystery-shrouded franchise award.

William H. Sullivan Jr., a local businessman and spokesman for the new owners, made the announcement.

The franchise actually was granted Wednesday night by Lamar Hunt, member of the AFL expansion committee, after he received a guarantee check.

Sullivan said the announcement was postponed in order to permit Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia baseball team, to state he would not seek a franchise.

Boston joins New York, Los Angeles, Dallas, Houston, Buffalo, Denver and Minneapolis - St. Paul as members in the league which is scheduled to begin competition next September.

Sullivan told a press conference there are 10 owners back of the Boston club each holding an equal share but that they agreed not to identify themselves until next month.

The other mysteries include no coach, no general manager, no name and most important — no place to play.

Sullivan said he will serve as president pro tem until the group is organized.

Carpenter's statement earlier yesterday said he was withdrawing his group from consideration because he did not want to compete with the Philadelphia Eagles of the established National Football League in the same city.

Grimschass Picks Collegian Pros by 114

By JOHNNY BLACK

While the betting polls have installed the Daily Collegian Pros as a heavy 118-point favorite in tomorrow's Blood Bowl clash, noted Dissociated Press pigskin prophet Will Grimschass was a bit more conservative in his crystal ball gazing yesterday, predicting the score: Pros 117, Pitt News 3.

"I just cannot see the Pros scoring more than 117 points against the stout Pitt News defense," retorted the swami of the gridiron, "as their coach Ben Chasswelder has said, 'You've heard about Syracuse's Sizeable Seven, well we're the Scared Six'."

"They've got a forward wall averaging 43½ pounds that makes opposing teams crumple in fear. —Gino Marchassi, 'Big Daddy' Lipscochass, Andy Robustellchass, Chuck Chassnarik, Mike McKeevchass, and Elmo Sigafoss.

"And while the Pros may stop the ground and aerial game of the Pitt Kittens, they can't hold them scoreless as long as they have their great field goal kicker Sam Stellachass. The amazing thing about this kind is that he kicks 'em barefoot, but why shouldn't he, he has webbed feet." Collegian authorities have lodged a protest against such indecent attire on the gridiron to Commissioner A. Igaf Capone. Commissioner Igaf, reached at his Frothingale headquarters, refused to comment. His precise words were "No comment."

Word from the Pittsburgh promoters late last night reported that Forbes Field has definitely been obtained as the site of the sanguinary battle which begins at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

In a drastic last minute shake-up, "Mauler" Malick was fired as head coach because he was discovered in the vicinity of the Lion Shrine with blue paint on his hands.

But before leaving, he announced the Pros probable starting lineup:

 C—"Buffalo Bill" Jaffe
 RC—"Boomin' Brad" Davis
 LH—"Dandy Denny" Malick
 QB—"Jarrin' Johnny" Black

The year-old Brownlee power dam on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon, built by the local independent electric company, the Idaho Power Company. The project embraces the Oxbow dam and the Hells Canyon dam down river from Brownlee.

How to save taxpayers a half-billion dollars

Brownlee dam is saving money for you and other U. S. taxpayers, because it was built by an independent power company instead of by the federal government.

But this power project almost cost U. S. taxpayers a half-billion dollars because of the pressure groups that constantly promote federal government electricity. They tried for eight years to make the government build this project with $500,000,000 of taxpayers' money.

This time, every taxpayer in the country got a break because the independent company built the dam. But sometimes the pressure groups win, and you and everybody else pay hidden taxes for their victory.

Remember this difference the next time you hear somebody beating the drums for more federal government power systems. When they win—you lose.
