

Weather Forecast:
Cloudy, Cold,
Occasional Rain

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Closed Doors—
Why?
See Page 4

VOL. 60, No. 49

STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 21, 1959

FIVE CENTS

RALPH MCCOMB
101 LIBRARY

Walker Expected To Accept Bowl Bid In Next 36 Hours

Special to the Collegian

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 20 — Dr. Eric A. Walker, University President, is expected to make an official announcement accepting the Liberty Bowl bid upon his return to University Park within the next 36 hours.

Dr. Walker is expected to arrive here later tonight and be on hand for the Penn State-Pittsburgh game tomorrow in Pitt Stadium.

Meanwhile, Athletic Director Ernest B. McCoy said that he doesn't think any action will be taken until after the game.

In Philadelphia, Bud Dudley, co-promoter of the nation's newest major bowl to be staged in 100,000-seat Municipal Stadium, said that currently the most likely opponent for the Lions, if they accept, appears to be Texas Christian University.

The Horned Frogs, currently the No. 3 team in the South West Conference behind Texas and Arkansas, had previously been listed along with the Air Force Academy and LSU as a top prospect to fill the role of visiting team at the Dec. 19 clash.

The latest team to be added to the prospective list is the University of Oregon. The Webfoots currently trail Washington in the Pacific Coast rankings but could still draw the host assignment in the Rose Bowl should they beat Oregon State and Washington loss to Washington State this weekend.

The Associated Press earlier in the week reported that University officials had indicated a preference for TCU or the Air Force Academy.

It is understood that TCU is anxious to come to the northern bowl, but Col. George Simler, Director of Athletics at the Air Force Academy, said that the Falcons would consider only an invitation to a New Year's bowl because the Dec. 19 date would conflict with the Cadets' examination schedules.

IFC Completes Action In Two Probation Cases

No further action will be taken against Phi Kappa Sigma and Sigma Tau Gamma who were placed on social probation by the Interfraternity Council Board of Control Wednesday, Wilmer Wise, assistant to the dean of men for fraternity affairs, said yesterday. The cases will not be heard by the Senate subcommittee on group discipline.

U.N. Asks French To Ban Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—The United Nations yesterday asked France to call off its A-bomb test in the Sahara Desert.

The action by the 82-nation General Assembly was a stinging defeat to the French, who had declared previously they would ignore any UN appeal and go ahead with the test perhaps as early as next spring.

France was taken by surprise by the decision of the Assembly, where it had the support of the United States and Britain.

By a 51-16 vote, with 15 abstentions, the Assembly approved a watered-down resolution expressing grave concern over the French intention to conduct nuclear tests, and asking President Charles de Gaulle's government to "refrain from such tests."

A resolution containing those words had been approved in the UN Political Committee last week but not by a sufficient margin to assure the two-thirds majority required.

Check Cashing Agency To Close for Weekend

The Student Check Cashing Agency has run out of money—at least temporarily.

Chairman Marcus Katzen said yesterday the SCCA will not be open today or tomorrow because it is unable to get enough cash for it to operate over the weekend.

Business will resume as normal Monday afternoon, Katzen said.

He requested students not to make out checks for "cash" but to the SCCA.

Lions Battle Pitt In Traditional Clash

By SANDY PADWE
Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 20 — With bowl bids for a background, Pitt and Penn State square off against each other for the 59th time Saturday in Pitt Stadium at 1:30.

A crowd of nearly 50,000 is expected to watch the battle between the two arch rivals who stop at nothing to knock each other off.

Liberty Bowl bound Penn State carries a 8-1 record and a high national ranking into the traditional season-ending tilt with Johnny Michelosen's Panthers who stand at 5-4.

Penn State's only loss has been to Syracuse, 20-18, at University Park two weeks ago.

The Lions have upended Missouri, V.M.I., Colgate, Army, Boston University, Illinois, West Virginia and Holy Cross.

The Panthers hold wins over Marquette, U.C.L.A., Duke, Boston College, and Notre Dame.

They've lost to Syracuse, West Virginia, Southern California and Texas Christian.

Today's game shapes up as a typical Pitt-Penn State battle where anything goes.

And the Panthers will have a little extra incentive to beat the Lions. It was almost a year ago Occasional rain is likely in Pittsburgh this afternoon and the football game could turn into a rather sloppy affair. However, the rainfall is expected to be light.

Temperatures will be rather chilly with a 40-degree reading expected.

that Pitt was headed for a bowl. Then they met up with Al Jackson and Co. in Pitt Stadium.

The Lions came roaring from behind to win 25-21 last Thanksgiving and squash Pitt's post-season aspirations.

This year things are different. Penn State is bowl bound and has the Liberty Bowl sewed up. But a Pitt win today would hurt the Lions' fifth national ranking and boost Pitt prestige considerably.

A duel between two of the finest quarterbacks in the country also is in the offing. Both Penn State's Richie Lucas and Pitt's Ivan Tomic love to throw the pigskin as their records indicate.

Lucas, a prime candidate for All-American honors, is sixth in the nation in total offense. He has recorded 868 yards in

(Continued on page six)

Light Snow Will Develop Into Showers

Some light snow is likely early this morning, but it should change to rain as warmer air moves into the area later in the morning.

The storm system responsible for this precipitation is quite weak and little snow accumulation is expected. However, if the storm intensifies as it crosses the Appalachians, up to one inch of snow could fall before changing to rain.

The temperatures will remain rather cold today with the mercury rising slowly to an afternoon high of 38 degrees.

The light rain is likely to continue intermittently this afternoon and early tonight. Clearing and cool weather is expected late tonight. The overnight low will be 33 degrees.

Warmer temperatures and partly cloudy skies will bring an end to the cold snap tomorrow. The high should be about 48 degrees.

Special Collegian

The Daily Collegian will publish Monday morning the last issue before Thanksgiving vacation.

The Monday issue will include stories on the Pitt game and any late developments on the post-season bowl situation.

Curtin Road Regulations Announced

Parking and traffic on Curtin Rd. will be restricted from Monday until the middle of January while steelwork is moved from Beaver Field to the new stadium site.

Albert E. Diem, vice president for business administration, said he hoped the moving job could be completed in 45 days.

Traffic will be restricted for only short periods of time, two or three times a day, while steelwork is being moved along Curtin Rd., Diem said.

The restriction are necessary because of the huge size of the equipment which will haul the steel, he said.

The three parking areas affected are 61, 62, and the space on Curtin Rd. in front of the creamery, which is normally restricted to short-time parking for creamery visitors.

Parking lot 61 is the area in front of Recreation Hall and the entrance to Beaver Field. Sixty-two is the area on Curtin Rd. in front of the tennis courts at the south end of Beaver Field.

According to Lucien Bolduc, chief of the Campus Patrol, no parking will be permitted in these lots at all.

Traffic will be normal on Curtin Rd. at most times during the day, however, the road will be closed when equipment is being moved, he said.

Analysis

Election Results Show Lack of Issue

By JEFF POLLACK

Absence of an issue considered vital by the student body appears to be the reason for the divided results in the SGA elections which ended Thursday.

Only in the sophomore class was either party able to put its entire slate into office. All six Campus Party candidates, including presidential candidate Duane Alexander, won posts.

University Party failed to accomplish the same thing in the freshman class by only one candidate.

The two classes virtually balanced themselves and the election would up with both parties taking 12 positions. Only 22 per cent of the eligible students voted.

Perhaps the most significant factor in the election is that both victorious presidential candidates polled less votes than candidates running for the Assembly.

In the freshman class three candidates outpolled Robert Carson (U), the new freshman president, while in the sophomore class there were two ahead of Duane Alexander (C).

Neither defeated presidential candidate managed to poll as many votes as any of the other candidates from their class.

Campaign posters may also have been a factor in the elections. Of the 22 Assembly seats contested exactly half went to women.

However, men had a better chance of being elected to the Assembly as 11 of the 13 nominated received posts. There were 20 women up for election.

Robert Umstead, Elections Committee co-chairman, attributed the low voting percentage to the newness of voting in the fall for juniors and seniors.

Under the old system both classes cast votes only in the spring election. The junior class had a voting percentage of only 16 per cent, the seniors 9 per cent.

He said the percentage should go up in future elections as students get used to voting twice a year.

Frank Pearson, University Party chairman, called the election "a moral victory." He said it "is a good thing for both parties."

Pearson's statement was backed by John Brandt, Campus Party treasurer, who said the "results assure continuance of the two-party system which is essential to good student government."

—Collegian Photo by Rick Bower

STOP? GO? WHOA!—Something seems to be wrong with the placing of the road signs at the intersection of North Park and North Atherton streets. The stop sign has been placed at the wrong end of a one way street. Maybe the State College street department enjoys trying to trick people.