

Discoverer VIII Achieves Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The satellite Discoverer VIII rocketed into polar orbit yesterday for a fifth try at a vital goal—ejecting a capsule so it can be recovered from space.

Recovery, of prime importance in America's man-in-space program, will be attempted today by plucking the capsule from the sky if possible, from the sea as second choice.

The Air Force said signals from the 1700-pound satellite were picked up by tracking stations in Alaska at approximately 1 p.m. as it completed its first circuit of the earth.

The satellite is whirling around the earth's poles once every 103 minutes.

Five of the seven previous Discoverers have orbited. There have been four recovery tries, all failures.

The Air Force says it plans to continue the Discoverer program until a recovery is made.

"Capsule recovery," said one officer, "is a crisis point in our man-in-space program. Recovery from orbit has never been accomplished, by us or Russia. Until we can establish the technique we will never send a man into orbit because we have to be sure we can get him back."

The 78-foot Discoverer VIII, powered by a first-stage Thor IRBM, soared beautifully into a clear sky at 11:26 a.m.

This afternoon, 26 hours after launch on its 17th orbital pass, plans call for it to eject a 300-pound instrument capsule — the same type that later is expected to carry animals and men into orbit.

A group of Hawaii-based C119 Flying Boxcars will try to snag its parachute with trapeze-like devices as it floats down. If they miss, boats will try to find it.

The major lipstick makers contend the colors the government proposes to ban have been used in hundreds of millions of lipsticks for more than 35 years without any evidence of causing harm.

Their demands for a public hearing, filed with FDA, have the effect of delaying the ban originally set for Jan. 6, 1960. Any final order now will await the conclusion of public hearings.

Under the law, the government must ban the use of any coal-tar color that proves harmful when used in significant amounts in the diet of test animals, even though its use in smaller amounts would be safe.

ICC Approves Increase In Parcel Post Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department got authority yesterday to increase parcel post rates by about $88 million a year. But there appears to be no likelihood the higher charges will fall on this year's Christmas mailing rush.

The increases, approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will average 17 1/2 per cent.

BERKS COUNTY STUDENTS
PENN STATE DANCE

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27th

10 to 2 at the Wyomissing Club

Subscription $6.00 per Couple

Make Reservations by Writing
Box 298 Reading, Pa. or call Nuebling's FR 4-8253

Dress Optional

Serving from 12-8 on Thanksgiving Day

Make Reservations for Thanksgiving Turkey Dinner

AD 8-0082

Following Thanksgiving we are pleased to announce

Christmas Shoppers' Interlude

Dinners priced from $1.25 for your dining and shopping convenience

Algerian Peace Talk Offer Rejected

PARIS (AP) — The Algerian rebels yesterday named five of their French-imprisoned leaders to talk peace. President Charles de Gaulle quickly rejected the bid.

Recalling his standing offer to receive rebel leaders for cease-fire talks and guarantee them a safe return from Paris, De Gaulle said in a speech at Colmar: "I am speaking of course of those who fight. I am not speaking of those who are out of the combat." He thus deflated suddenly

Benson Hits At Cranberry Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said yesterday it is "entirely possible" Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming could have protected the public from tainted cranberries without a general warning that throttled practically all sales.

Benson refused either to defend or criticize his fellow Cabinet officer's methods, saying he was not in a position to judge.

TONIGHT!

See Players'

ON BORROWED TIME

8 p.m.

at CENTER STAGE
TICKETS at HUB

FOLK SINGING

sutton place

(2 - 4 p.m.)

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

(where the western auto store meets the sidewalk)

Irks care the crop full bird?
Frets doubt the maw-crammed beast?
... Robert Browning. Rabbi Ben Ezra

THE TAVERN RESTAURANT

raised hopes for an end to the costly five-year Nationalist rebellion that has pinned down half a million French soldiers in Algeria.

The exile rebel government in Tunisia announced in a communique that it was naming as its five emissaries: Mohammed Ben Bella, Mohammed Khider, Mohammed Boudiaf, Hussein Ait Ahmed and Rabah Bitat.

The first four were captured en route from Morocco to Tunis in 1956 when their French-operated airliner was ordered by French radio to land in Algeria. Bitat was arrested in Algeria in 1956 and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Ben Bella, who ordered the guerrilla uprising on Nov. 1, 1954, is charged with treason and would be subject to death on the guillotine if tried and convicted.

All five delegates were made members of the exile rebel government when it was proclaimed in Cairo in September 1958, despite the fact they were in jail. Since De Gaulle had promised any emissaries "full liberty" if they came to treat with him, he would have been obligated to free the prisoners had he accepted the rebel delegation.

The nationalist offer was loaded with two other conditions that made it difficult for him to accept. The Algerians said they were ready to talk about "the conditions and guarantees of the applications of self-determination."

After these questions were settled, they said they were willing to talk about a cease-fire.

De Gaulle promised Sept. 16 that Algeria's nine million Moslems could choose their future in a free vote four years after fighting has ended. He offered independence, home rule under French guardianship, or integration with France.

CATHAUM

Now: 12:05, 2:24, 4:43, 7:02, 9:31

Every place you go you'll be hearing about a Summer Place

FROM WARNER BROS. TECHNICOLOR
EGAN-McGURRE-DEE-KENNEDY-DOWDHE

NITTANY

Today: 1:30, 3:28, 5:26, 7:24, 9:30

"TASK FORCE"

GARY COOPER
WALTER BRENNAN

BEGINS 2 P.M. SUNDAY
Trapped in Tangled Terror

VAN JOHNSON · VERA MILES · EMMETT WILLIAMS

WEB OF EVIDENCE

STATE NOW

"THE HOUSE OF THE SEVEN HAWKS"

STARRING
ROBERT TAYLOR

Feat.: 1:58, 3:52, 5:46, 7:40, 9:34

STARTS SUNDAY

FOR THOSE WHO THINK THEY'VE SEEN EVERYTHING!
SEE "ROOM 43"

Feat.: 2:00, 4:01, 5:52, 7:43, 9:34

WMAJ Morning Show

With GLENN SHEFFER

6:30 - 11 A.M.

Monday thru Saturday

on WMAJ -- 1450