RICHIE LUCAS rolls around right end for seven yards and a first down. Pitt tackle Ken Montanari (79) and end Mike Ditka (89), Panther defensive stalwarts, give chase. The Panthers upset the Lions 22-7

 State 35. Here on a first down play, Clemens took a pitchout from Tonic, broke through right tackle, got good blocks from Regis Coustillac and Cunningham and raced to paydirt.
 Again Cox kicked the extra point and the Panthers took a 16-0 lead with them to the dressing room at halftime.
 Pitt wrapped things up at the beginning of the third quarter when Cox went 86 yards on the first play from scrimmage after the second half kickoff.
 The ball was on the 14 when Cox broke over left tackle, picked up blocks from Cunningham and Larry Vignelli and dashed down the sideline for the touchdown.

 Midway in the quarter the Lions looked like they might still have a chance when Dick Pae, the little halfback who does everything right, took a pitchout from Galen Hall, cut back over right tackle and went nine yards for a TD. Stellatella converted and the Lions were behind 22-7.
But after that the Pitt defenses stiffened and held Penn State and Lucas and it was all over for the Blue and White.
 "Pitt today would have given Syracuse trouble," said Engle, a picture of dejection after the game. "They ran harder, blocked harder and tackled harder than we did."

 Engle, too, felt that Cox's 100 yard run was the turning point out of the game. "It took us right out of the game," he said, and we never recovered."
 So ended another season for Engle, one of the winningest coaches in college football. The Lions still might have another game this year, if the University decides to take the Liberty Bowl invitation offered last week.
 The Lion players already have voted to play in the bowl if the University accepts.

Graduation Hurts N.C. State Cagers

For the first time in many years, the pre-season basketball outlook at North Carolina State isn't too bright.
 Coach Everett Case has lost four of his five starters from last year's Atlantic Coast Conference championship club and will start the 1959 campaign against Penn State at Raleigh, Dec. 1 with one regular, a batch of reserves and some talented sophomores.

The big problem is to fill the gaps left by the twin All-Americans—Big John Richter and little Lou Pucillo—who have graduated.

Richter, now playing with the Boston Celtics, was the center last year while Pucillo was an outstanding playmaker who ran the Wolfpack offense.

Case will depend on 6'6" Bob DiStefano to handle the center post. DiStefano earned a letter last season while averaging a meager 2.5 points per game.

Up front the Wolfpack is pretty well set with Don Gallagher and 6'6" Bruce Hoadley, a Raleigh boy. Both are lettermen who didn't score much a year ago, but Case is expecting big things out of them this season.

Guard seems to be the strongest department for the Wolfpack. Two more lettermen, Dan Englehardt and Bob McCann, a pair of six-footers, will start.

Englehardt was a starter last year and ran on the outside with Pucillo. He averaged 6.3 points per game and is a speedster who loves the fast break. McCann, from Philadelphia, is another fast breaker who lettered last year.

Lettermen Stan Niewierowski, a forward from Brooklyn, N.Y., and Ken Clark give North Carolina State some veteran reserve performers.

Sophs expected to help out are 6'6" Russ Marvel and 6'8" John Key, and guard Anton Neuhauser.

Despite their graduation losses, Penn State coach John Egli isn't taking the Wolfpack lightly. "Case turns out big strong clubs with good reserve power every year, and I expect a tough game this year," he said.

Last year, Egli and the Lions lost the opener to the Wolfpack, 70-54. In that game Mark DuMars and Pucillo put on a playmaking duel that had the crowd of 7000 going wild.

DuMars is back this year and Egli will be depending on him as well as captain Wally Colender, and sophs Gene Harris, Jake Trueblood, Joe Bradshaw and Frank Shea to carry the load in the opener.

Battle For NCAA's To Prove Close

Michigan State will have a tough time defending its NCAA cross country championship today in East Lansing, Mich., because there are four teams just waiting for the chance to beat the Spartans.

Heading the list is the country's number two team, Western Michigan. Last year, in the nationals they placed a close second to the Spartans and this year they have three lettermen returning.

Jerry Ashmore stacks up as the man who will give defending champ Fordy Kennedy of Michigan State the most trouble. Ashmore took second place in the collegiate championships last year. This season, in the dual meet with the Spartans, which the Broncos won 27-30, Ashmore beat Kennedy by 20 yards.

Houston, Kansas and Southern California also should give the Spartans trouble. Houston never was a national cross country power. However, since the addition of Polish star Jon Macv, they have been in contention for NCAA honors.

Kansas ranks with the Spartans and Penn State as one of the three top teams on the cross country scene. In last season's championships, the Jayhawks took third place, knocking off such teams as the Lions and Southern Cal.

Southern Cal., too, is an important team in the cross country picture. The Trojans are the top college team in U.S. track. Their distance runners usually run cross country and thus they have good harrier squads.

Layne Engineers Steelers' 21-20 Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran Bobby Layne calmly engineered an 83-yard, six-play scoring march in the last two minutes yesterday for a 21-20 Pittsburgh Steeler victory that knocked the Cleveland Browns out of a first-place tie in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

Layne, in his 12th year in the loop, passed 17 yards to Gern Naeher for the touchdown which deadlocked the score with 40 seconds to play and then kicked his third straight conversion to wrap it up.

Layne's closing pyrotechnics nullified a great passing performance by Cleveland's Milt Plum who tossed to Ray Renfro for touchdowns covering 30, 27 and 70 yards.

Liberty Bowl--

 the Liberty Bowl. The Air Force Academy was knocked out of the picture when it lost to New Mexico, Saturday.

Mississippi and LSU, two other possibilities, are expected to meet in the Sugar Bowl.

Clemson, the other possibility, won the Atlantic Coast Conference title Saturday, beating Wake Forest, 33-31.

Lion players have already voted to go to the Liberty Bowl which will be played in Philadelphia.

Bears Beat Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Chicago Bears fighting to stay alive in the Western Division title chase, dealt the jittery Detroit Lions a 24-14 National Football League setback yesterday.

Overcoming a shaky start, the Bears spurred to life under quarterback Ed Brown's guidance and riddled the hapless Lions with an eager-beaver defense and offense that thrived on enemy mistakes.
