

Paterno Impressed By Alabama Game Movies

By SANDY PADWE

Joe Paterno took his glasses off, rubbed his eyes, and gave out with a big sigh: "Well there isn't going to be any picnic in Philadelphia, Dec. 19."

The Lion backfield coach had just finished watching Alabama's Crimson Tide roll over Memphis State and mighty Auburn.

"Outside of Syracuse this is the soundest team we've seen all year. They wait for the breaks and play what we call field position football," Paterno said.

"What I mean is this: They play a tight defensive game and try to get you deep in your own territory. If they succeed they get possession of the ball that much closer to your goal."

"Then they try to move into the four down area. That's the area inside the 35-yard line, and from there they can utilize all four plays to get a first down."

"If they don't get the first down your back is still up against the goal," said Paterno.

Their strategy must have worked on a good many teams this year because Alabama finished with a 7-1-2 record. They lost only to Georgia and knocked off powerful Georgia Tech and Auburn.

"Another advantage to a field

JOE PATERNO ... worried

position team," Paterno said, "is they're able to go for the field goal on fourth down plays. And Alabama's got some good kickers. That's the way they beat Houston and Georgia Tech."

"They run from the T-formation, but they use a lot of variations. In the Auburn and Memphis State games they used a lot of flankers and slotbacks as well as the spread-T.

"They're not afraid to try something different and have an outstanding running game and a good passing game."

The Crimson Tide is made up mostly of home-grown talent. They carry a 64-man squad and 52 of them are from Alabama. The rest come from Texas, Pennsylvania, Mississippi and Florida.

The last time Alabama played up North was in 1946. They lost to Boston College, 13-7.

However, Coach Bear Bryant and his Crimson Tide aren't too worried about cold weather. The Auburn game was played in 22-degree temperature and they've had chill winds during practice sessions this week.

Bryant said he has no idea what the weather will be like in Philadelphia, so his team will prepare for the Liberty Bowl the same as any other game.

Said Bryant, "If it does get real cold, then we'll just put on our long drawers and go out there and give them a scuffle."

Lucas Receives 3 AA Honors

Penn State quarterback Richie Lucas added All-American honors six, seven and eight yesterday.

Look Magazine, the Football News, and Moviezone News were the latest to name the Lion star to their dream teams.

Lucas, however, missed a clean sweep of the major All-Americans when the Associated Press named him to its second team.

Four other Lions received honorable mention honors on the AP team. Those named were fullback Pat Botula, end Norm Neff, tackle Andy Stynchula and halfback Jimmy Kerr.

Look Magazine's All-American is picked by the Football Writers Association.

Lucas already has made All-American teams picked by United Press International, U.S. Coaches Association, Central Press, NEA, and the Sporting News.

Pittsburgh Omits Lions On All-Opponent Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Cannon, top professional draft choice and 1959 Heisman Trophy winner, yesterday was named for the second straight year to the Associated Press All-American football team.

The Louisiana State halfback is joined by amazing one-eyed quarterback Bob Schloredt, who directed Washington to its first Rose Bowl appearance in 16 years; rugged Mississippi fullback Charley Flowers and Arkansas' Jim Mooty, who wasn't even supposed to play this season.

In front of this talented quartet is a mobile line averaging 213 pounds, led by guard Roger Davis and end Fred Mautino of mighty Syracuse.

Bill Burrell of Illinois is the other guard while Marlin McKeever of Southern California holds down the other flank. Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech is the center, with Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Dan Lannphear of Wisconsin at the tackles.

The Associated Press All-American is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account all games through Nov. 28.

Mautino, McKeever and Schloredt are juniors. The rest are seniors.

Schloredt lost the sight of his left eye in a childhood fire-cracker accident.

The rugged lad from Gresham, Ore., who time after time ran for needed yardage on vital third and fourth down situations, passed for 733 yards and five tds, ran for 255, scored 54 points, punted for a 40-yard average and played superbly at defensive halfback.

Mooty carried 93 times for 519 yards, caught four passes, intercepted one, punted for a 31-yard average, hauled back kicks for 171, scored five times and was an outstanding defender.

New Weight Class Forces Mat Changes

By JOHNNY BLACK

(Second of a series. Today's story covers the heavyweights from 157 to Hwt.)

Many changes will be evident this winter in the heavier classifications on the Penn State wrestling team, which are not as deeply manned as are the lighter weights.

First of all, a new weight class — 191 — has been added by the ECAC. This will force Coach Charlie Speidel to split up his heavyweight category which is already the most undermanned weight class in the lineup.

With Johnston Oberly and Bob Gilmour, the only two heavyweights with varsity experience, both above the 191-pound limit, Speidel is faced with the problem of developing a "green" grappler for the new class, which is expected to be a haven for out-of-season football players, keeping in shape.

Juniors Clem Newbold and John Trojan are working out at 191 and Speidel looks for some gridders to report after the Liberty Bowl game.

Another change will come at 167, where last year's captain, George Gray, has graduated. Sophomore Ron Piefer, a former 2-time high school state champion, moves up to the varsity after an undefeated freshman season, and holds the inside track on the starting job.

Bill Polacek, also up from the freshmen, and junior Bill Russ provide the chief competition for Piefer.

At 157 junior letterman Jerry Seckler is backed up by Bob Faris, also a junior, and Paul Stegner, a sophomore.

A former prep school star, Seckler was undefeated as a freshman and won the Eastern frosh crown at 157. Last year he posted a 1-1 varsity slate.

Home-grown Hank Barone, a State College senior, compiled an impressive 5-2-1 dual meet record last year and returns to lay claim to the 177-pound berth.

Barone notched wins in three weight classes last year—157, 167 and 177—and one of his losses was to Pitt's former NCAA champ Tom Alberts.

Sophomore Phil Myers, who grappled for the Lion Cubs last winter, and junior Joe Haines, who has wrestled a couple varsity matches, add depth to the lineup.

Oberly, a highly-touted sophomore last year, missed a couple of meets because of an injured knee and had a 2-3-1 record in dual meets. But the quick-moving 250-pounder reached the semifinals of the NCAA tournament before losing to Ted Ellis of Oklahoma State.

The other heavy-weight Bob Gilmour, a tackle on the Nittany grid eleven, won one and lost one in varsity competition last year, but won't join the squad till after the bowl game.
