Food Service Plans For 6600 Students

By ELAINE MIELE
First of Series

How much food does it take to serve 4 million meals a year?

This is only one of the problems of the Department of Food Service which serves meals to 6600 students in residence halls and about 1500 customers a day in the Hetzel Union Terrace Room.

Men to Debate In Tournament

This weekend both the regular and new members of the Men's Debate Squad will argue the pros and cons of the national debate topic, Resolved: that Congress should be given the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court.

Participating in the Allegheny Debate Tournament at Allegheny College, Meadville, will be David Goodhart, sophomore in business administration from Rutherford, N.J.; Vernon Barger, senior in engineering science from Curllsville; William Stout, sophomore in engineering science from Pittsburgh, and Peter Galie, junior in labor-management relations from Pittsburgh.

Pearson Resigns From University Party Post

Frank Pearson, University Party chairman, has resigned from the post.

James Nelligan, junior in labor-management relations from Kensington, Md., has been temporarily appointed by Pearson as chairman. Election of a new chairman will be held at an open meeting for all party members at 7 p.m. Dec. 13 in 121 Sparks.

The staff must be equipped to plan menus, develop recipes, buy supplies and prepare and serve meals. The process does not end here either.

Food Service has its own cost accounting staff which provides up-to-the-minute information about the cost of supplies and the preparation of food.

According to Robert C. Proffitt, director of food service, who has been with the department for 11 years, the accounting staff can tell the exact location of food which has been ordered or purchased. The cost department handles reports about daily food costs, dining hall production and other financial operations.

The dining hall and Terrace Room service are separate. The difference in the two operations is that the Terrace Room makes a profit and the dining halls do not, he said.

The food service in the dining halls is a self-supporting, auxiliary enterprise of the University. It receives income from students' boarding fees. With this money it provides for the building and maintenance of dining halls, equipment, food and labor costs and operating expenses.

When new dining halls are being built, food service plans their arrangement, furnishings and decorations, Proffitt said.

The department personnel work closely together within the framework of a semi-centralized type of system. The Food Stores Building located south of the University golf course is the center of operations. Here, both food and equipment supplies are received and stored.

The experimental kitchen where research and development of new recipes is carried on is located in this building.
