

Hodes to Give Jazz Concert

Art Hodes, jazz pianist, and his Dixieland band will present a concert of jazz music at 8 p.m. Sunday in Recreation Hall.

Student tickets for the program, which is the tenth in this year's Artists Series, will be distributed at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Hetzel Union desk. Sale of non-student tickets will start at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Senior Attends Youth Forum On Foreign Aid

A University student appeared on The New York Times Youth Forum Sunday and gave his views on United States foreign aid-emphasis and even the controversial birth control issue.

Harald Sandstrom, senior in political science from Bryn Athyn, appeared on the half-hour program over WCRA-TV in New York.

He was one of four college students who participated in the panel discussion with Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, Jr., chairman of the president's committee to study the U.S. military assistance program.

The four students were selected from more than 220 students from all over the country who attended the Student Conference on United States Affairs held Wednesday through Saturday at West Point.

Sandstrom said he favored aid to countries for birth control if such assistance was requested. The Draper committee took no definite stand on the matter. However, it said attention must be directed toward this problem in the future.

Rodger Klein, senior in economics from Bryn Athyn, also attended the 4-day conference and was chosen by his committee to give the group's report to the plenary session on Saturday afternoon. His committee studied economic and technical aid to underdeveloped countries.

Weinberger To Discuss Masterpiece

Dr. Martin Weinberger, visiting professor of art and architectural history, will discuss "The Unfinished Masterpiece—Michelangelo's Medici Chapel" at 8 tonight in 121 Sparks.

Weinberger's talk the third in the Liberal Arts Lecture Series, is co-sponsored by the Department of Art.

He is a professor emeritus of the New York University Institute of Fine Arts, and has taught at the University of Pennsylvania on a visiting lectureship and at the Courtauld Institute of the University of London.

Born in Nuremberg, Germany, Weinberger received his degrees from the University of Munich. He served as an apprentice in the Munich Museum and as a research assistant in the Museum of Arts of the Theatre, and spent several years at the Art History Institute of Florence, Italy.

Since coming to the United States in 1936, he has made several trips to Europe for research and study, once under a Guggenheim Fellowship.

Weinberger has written books and articles on 15th and 16th century German graphic arts, and a book on the 16th century artist Wolfgang Huber. He has also published a catalogue of a George Grey Barnard collection of medieval art.

Forestry Prof Gets New Post

Dr. Wallace E. White, professor of wood technology, has been named assistant director of the School of Forestry.

White will continue to teach and will assist with student counseling, scheduling, course and curriculum matters.

He received his bachelor of science and master of science degrees from the University of Vermont. His doctor of philosophy degree was conferred by Yale University.

White was appointed to the University faculty in 1929. While at the University, he has conducted research in wood preservation and has published several papers on preservative treatment of fence posts.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honor society; Xi Sigma Pi, forestry recognition society; and Phi Epsilon Phi, national botanical honor society.

McNew to Speak On Plant Pathology

Dr. George L. McNew, director of the Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research, of Yonkers, N.Y., will speak on "Botany and Plant Pathology as a Science," to members of the 1959-60 Academic Year Science Institute at 4 p.m. today in 100 Weaver.

He received his bachelor's degree from the New Mexico College and his master's and doctor's degrees from Iowa State College.

McNew's talk will deal with the great strides that botany has made by studying the basic physiology of plants. Some of the areas in which the knowledge of cell physiology has been put to use are to be found in plant growth regulation, plant pathology and development of new plant protectants.
