

Ramey Will Start Against W. Virginia

En Route to Morgantown with the Lions, Dec. 12 — The Littlest Lion, Mel Ramey, will be in the starting lineup to-night when Penn State (0-2) takes on mighty West Virginia (4-0) in Morgantown.

Ramey, a senior, stands only 5-9 but is one of the fastest men on the Lion squad and he'll be in the lineup tonight to add more speed to the Lion fast-break.

"Mel's hustled for four years and he deserves a chance to play. I think he'll be a real asset for us against West Virginia," said Lion coach John Egli.

"I also know he's awfully small but he's a hustler too. With him in there we're able to have the smallest college team in the country."

This will be Ramey's first appearance this season and he'll be joined by 5-10 Mark DuMars, 6-1 Wally Colender, Paul Sweetland and Jake Trueblood.

Egli will go with three men outside and two men up front tonight because of the lineup change.

DuMars is Penn State's leading scorer with 45 points in two games. He tallied 22 in the Lions' 65-53 loss to North Carolina State and then ripped the cords for 23 more against Purdue.

Colender had 13 in the opener but slipped to four in the Purdue game last week. "That was one of the things that hurt us against Purdue," said Egli.

Sweetland and Trueblood, two 6-5 performers who have yet to hit their stride this year round out the starting five.

In reserve, Egli will have Fred Eisele, Gene Harris, Frank Shea, Dick Dibert, and John Phillips.

The Lions lost guard Don Wilson indefinitely this week when he broke his left hand in a practice session.

Wilson, a letterman, was being counted on to see plenty of action this year and Egli calls his loss a real tough one.

West Virginia, runner-up for National honors last year, has won four straight this season over Tennessee, The Citadel, Furman, and Richmond.

West, the best all-around player in the country, spearheads the West Virginia attack.

West is the Mounties' scoring, rebounding, and assist leader. But Jim Ritchie, a substitute last year, has the top field goal percentage. He's been hitting on 68 per cent of his shots for a 12-point average.

The rest of West Virginia's team lines up with Lee Patrone out front along with Jim Warren, and two-year vet Willie Akers is the center.

The Lions make their first home appearance Tuesday night in Rec Hall when they play Syracuse at 8 p.m.

Nittany Grapplers Will Meet Colgate in Season's 2nd Test

With an impressive season-opening victory over Army already under their belts, the Nittany Lion grapplers meet the Red Raiders of Colgate University tonight in Hamilton, N.Y., in their second test of the young campaign.

Coach Charlie Speidel listed two changes in the lineup that swamped Army, 31-0, last Saturday. Senior Guy Guccione at 137 and junior John Trojan at 191 earned starting assignments during the week. The rest of the lineup will be the same.

Guccione, a two-year letterman who was a little late rounding into shape this year, will replace sophomore Art Ravitz in the 137-pound class.

Guccione will face Paul Venier, Maroon junior who dropped a 6-0 decision to the Lions' Dan Johnson last year.

Trojan gained his berth in the 191-pound category by beating junior Joe Haines 6-2 in an elimination bout Wednesday night. Phil Myer who wrestled in this class against Army has been bothered by an aggravated knee all week.

Tony Scordo, a classy sophomore who made good in his varsity debut at West Point is the Lion representative at 123. For the second straight week the little rookie will be meeting the opponent's team captain. Last week he polished off the Cadets' captain Tom Andrews by a 6-3 count. Tonight he faces Charlie Bieber, chief of the Red Raiders.

Gordie Danks, a 6-1 victor at West Point, still holds the Lions' 130-pound slot and will tangle with Pete Venier, the other half of the Maroon grappling twins.

Jerry Seckler pinned challenger Paul Stenger in a time trial this week to maintain his top position in the 157-pound class for the Nittanians. His probable opponent tonight is Colgate letterman, Dave Daley.

Ron Pifer, the highly-touted soph from Bellefonte who won his first varsity outing with a second period fall over Army's Dick Kriesel, decisioned Ed Polacek, 9-1, to get the starting nod at 167.

Captain Sam Minor, 147. Hank

Speidel

Barone, 177, and Johnston Oberly, heavyweight, round out the Penn State lineup.

Oberly will be out to avenge last year's loss to Colgate's Jim Hancock when the two meet again tonight. Oberly injured his knee in the second period last year and had to default his match to Hancock.

Colgate will be after its first win over the Lion grapplers who have emerged victorious in all four previous meetings between the two clubs. Penn State won last year on the home mats, 19-10, in its season opener.

The Nittany matmen will open their home card next Thursday with the Wolverines from Michigan providing the opposition.

After that they take a three-week break from intercollegiate competition, before meeting Lehigh University at Bethlehem on Jan. 9.

Purdue Scout Caught 'Spying'

CHICAGO (AP) — A football spy-in-the-tree violation stole the spotlight at the Big Ten's winter conclave yesterday.

Conference Commissioner K. L. Wilson reported that a part-time Purdue athletic staff member was fired after a cloak-and-dagger episode before last fall's Purdue-Iowa football game.

Virtually yanked from a tree near an Iowa football session, Walter Cudzik, an assistant grid freshman coach at Purdue, was charged with illegal scouting before the Oct. 24 Iowa at Purdue contest. Purdue won the game, 14-7.

Wilson also reported yesterday that Purdue's head football coach, Jack Mollenkopf, was "publicly reprimanded" for failure to properly advise his staff on the do's and don't's of the conference code.

Who said
it first?
A column of incidental intelligence
by Jockey brand

"THE WORM TURNS"
Shakespeare said it this way:
"The smallest worm will turn, being trodden on."
But Miguel de Cervantes
beat him to it in "Don Quixote", Part II, Book 3:
"Even a worm when trod
upon, will turn again."

"MUSIC HAS CHARMS"
The 17th Century playwright, William Congreve, was the first to set down this classic metaphor concerning the powers of sound and rhythm.
You'll find the whole quote in "The Mourning Bride", Act I, Sc. 1:
"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast,
To soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak."

"RHYME OR REASON"
Edmund Spenser, 16th Century poet, expected a pension. He didn't get it. So he wrote this rhyme:
"I was promised on a time/To have reason for my rhyme;/From that time unto this season,
I received not rhyme nor reason."
