Art Exhibit Features Abstract Woodcuts

By JOHN BLACK

Under constant surveillance by East German security agents, a middle-aged German artist, who has several times refused commissions from the communist government to do propaganda work, quietly continues to make his modern woodcuts.

The artist is Herbert Seidel, a 52-year-old resident of

Walker Named As Eng Fellow

President Eric A. Walker is among 76 leading radio engineers and scientists from the United States and other countries who have been named Fellows of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

His election was announced today following action by the Board of Directors of the Institute.

The grade of Fellow, it is explained, is the highest membership offered by the Institute and is bestowed only by invitation "on those who have made outstanding contributions to radio engineering or allied fields."

Walker was selected for the honor "for services as an engineering teacher and administrator."

Varsity 'S' Club to Meet

The Varsity "S" Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening at Phi Kappa Psi. It was announced yesterday by club president Blaine O'Connor.

East Berlin, who produces contemporary abstract art through woodcutting, a process of expression that has existed for 10 centuries.

Several prints of his work are now featured in an exhibit in the chapel of the Lutheran Student Center, 412 W. College Ave. The exhibit is co-sponsored by the LSA and the University Christian Association.

The exhibit, which will be open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. till Dec. 20, includes religious and secular prints of abstract design. His religious works all depict a parable or teaching of the Bible through modern symbolism. The secular prints are existential interpretations, describing the "reality of life today, the loneliness of man and his forlorn condition."

Seidel's figures never have a definite face, for he feels a face becomes an idol and interferes with true interpretation of the symbol.

Seidel continues to produce his woodcut in defiance of East German authorities, although they have made his existence precarious.

Collegian Pix Now Offered To Students

If you danced at Mil Ball, competed in the Indie Talent Show, looked at the last Hetzel Union art exhibit or played on the football team this year—The Daily Collegian has your picture.

And starting today, anyone who would like the original print of any picture which has appeared in the paper this year may have it by stopping at the Collegian office.

The lens of a Collegian camera may also have caught you when you weren't aware of it. If you were a sleepy pledge waiting in line for Army game tickets, ate in the Hetzel Union Lion's Den, bought pencils at the BX, have a registration number between 8200 and 8239, or helped end Fresh Customs—we have your picture, too!

Any picture may be picked up from Lolli Neubarth or Marty Scherr after 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for the rest of the year. Often two prints will be available and there is no charge for pictures. The Collegian office is located in the basement of Carnegie.

Lancaster Panhel Offers Scholarship

A $100 scholarship will be given to a Lancaster county girl enrolled in any Pennsylvania college which has a national Panhellenic organization, according to Mrs. Norma Mountan, panhel adviser.

The scholarship is being offered by the Lancaster City Panhellenic Association. Any University coed interested should write to Mrs. Agnes A. Brown, Scholarship Chairman for the Lancaster City Panhellenic Association, 919 Valley Road, Lancaster, Pa. and ask for application forms.

Applications must be returned to Mrs. Brown by Jan. 25 in order to insure consideration.

Science Foundation To Give Fellowships

Seniors and graduate students may now apply for 1100 1960-61 National Science Foundation Fellowships to be awarded for graduate study.

Applicants will be judged on their academic records, recommendations and scores gained in examinations designed to test scientific aptitudes and achievement. The application deadline is Jan. 1.

Three types of fellowships are being awarded. First Year Fellowships will be given to those entering or in graduate school with less than one year of study completed at the present. The annual stipend for this award is $1800.

Intermediate Fellowships are awarded to students who have or will have completed as of the beginning of their fellowship one year of graduate work. This fellow will receive an annual $2000 stipend.

Terminal Year Fellows will be expected to complete their doctoral degree requirements within one year upon entering the tenure of their fellowship. The stipend will be $2200 annually.

Further information on fellowships may be obtained at the Graduate School Office in Wil-

Photogs Wanted Report on Tuesday

The Daily Collegian needs photographers!

There will be a meeting of all interested prospects at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Collegian office. The photo staff requires about one evening per week of time. Prospective applicants need not have previous experience.

Collegian has its own equipment, a Speed Graphic, a Rolleiflex, and a Mamiya with interchangeable lenses. The flash guns are easy to carry, being transistorized and all in one piece.

Students can get an opportunity to work with this equipment and to cover major University events through this staff.

All the fellowships will be given in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological, and engineering sciences, including anthropology, psychology (excluding clinical psychology) and the fol-clinical psychology) and many social sciences.
