

'Return' Rule Altered For Christmas

WSGA has made a change in the usual rules governing women's return to campus following Christmas vacation, Jessie Janijigian, president, said last night.

"All coeds are expected to be in the dormitories by 1 a.m. January 4, 1960. However, any girl who, on her way back to school, discovers that she will be unavoidably late and who is unable to phone her hostess will not be penalized," she said.

All hostesses will wait until 2 a.m. for the return of any coed who is not back by 1 a.m. The hostess will then phone the coed's home to try to locate her.

"WSGA hopes that this policy will be respected in the manner in which it was given. We also hope that we can make this a permanent policy for Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations when driving is likely to be hazardous," she added.

Miss Janijigian stressed that this change affects only this year's Christmas vacation.

Christmas Sing--

of students involved in the German courses.

Besides German carols the program will also include numbers by a string ensemble and vocalists.

Sonja Brown, sophomore in arts from Philadelphia, will sing a contralto solo accompanied by a string ensemble.

Ensemble members will be Hans Neiberger, head of the Department of Meteorology, and Mrs. Jane Ralls, violinists; Lenore Babione and Howard Palmer, head of the Department of Fuel Technology, violists; Barbara Kautz, research assistant at the Ordnance Research Laboratory, cellist and Marie Aquilina, pianist.

William Reeves, senior in arts and letters from Bluebell, will sing a Brahms number accompanied by Edwin W. Gamble, instructor of music, at the piano.

S. Frederick Will, assistant professor of classical languages will talk on "A Son is Born."

George E. Ceiga will play the organ.

Jackson Granted Leave To Work on Textbooks

Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the College of Agriculture, has been granted a leave of absence, effective Jan. 1 to June 30.

During his leave, he plans to work on some text books in the field of animal husbandry and agronomy. He will also visit other agricultural colleges, particularly in the south-eastern part of the country.

Griess Gets Editorship Of Geography Journal

Phyllis R. Griess, associate professor of geography, has been appointed to a 3-year term as national editor of "The Professional Geographer," the official journal of the Association of American Geographers.

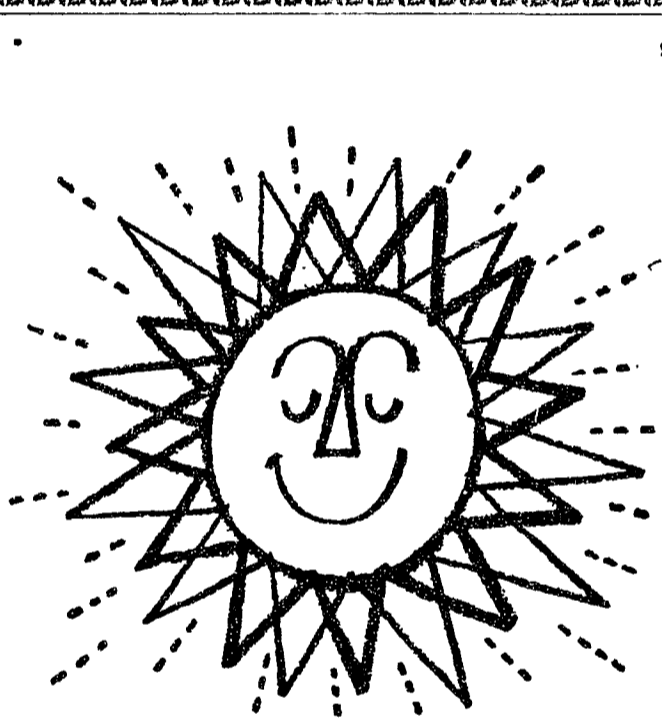

The periodical is issued bi-monthly and includes articles as well as announcements and reports on the profession.

DECK THE HALLS

When you think of Christmas gifts you naturally think of Marlboro cigarettes, leading seller in flip-top box in all fifty states—and if we annex Wales, in all fifty-one—and if we annex Lapland, in all fifty-two. (This talk about annexing Wales and Lapland is, incidentally, not just idle speculation. Great Britain wants to trade Wales to the United States for a desert. Great Britain needs a desert desperately on account of the tourist trade. Tourists are always coming up to the Prime Minister or the Lord Privy Seal, or the Thane of Glamis, or like that and saying, "I'm not knocking your country, mind you. It's very quaint and picturesque, etc., what with Buckingham Palace and Bovril and Scotland Yard, etc., but where's your desert?")

"...but where's your desert?"

Before I forget, let me point out that Scotland Yard, Britain's plain-clothes police branch, was named after Wally Scotland and Fred Yard who invented plain clothes. The American plain-clothes force is called the F.B.I. after Frank B. Incheliff, who invented fingerprints. Before Mr. Incheliff's invention, everybody's fingers were absolutely glassy smooth. This, as you may imagine, played hob with the identification of newborn babies in hospitals. From 1791 until 1904 no American parent ever brought home the right baby from the hospital. This later became known as the Black Tom Explosion.

(But I digress. England, I was saying, wants to trade Wales for a desert. Sweden wants to trade Lapland for Frank B. Incheliff. The reason is that Swedes to this day still don't have fingerprints. As a result, identification of babies in Swedish hospitals is so haphazard that Swedes flatly refuse to bring their babies home. There are, at present, nearly a half-billion unclaimed babies in Swedish hospitals—some of them well over eighty years old.)

But I digress. Marlboro is, of course, an ideal Christmas gift for your friends and loved ones who enjoy filter cigarettes. If, on the other hand, your friends and loved ones like mildness but don't like filters, then you can't go wrong with a carton of Philip Morris. If your friends and loved ones like a subtly mentholated cigarette that combines refreshing taste with high filtration, then buy a carton of Alpines. (Alpines, incidentally, are named after the late Albert G. Pine. Al Pine worked all his life to invent a cigarette that would combine light menthol and high filtration, but alas he never succeeded. As by-products of his research he did manage to invent the atom, the goose-neck lamp and the cocker spaniel, but the lightly mentholated high filtration cigarette, alas, never. Now this dream is realized, and what could be more fitting than to pay tribute to this gallant man by calling this cigarette Alpine?)

We, the makers of Marlboro, Philip Morris and Alpine are now enjoying our sixth year with Max Shulman. Obviously, we think he is a funny fellow. We think you'll think so too, if you look at his television series "THE MANY LOVES OF DOBIE GILLIS"—and read his latest book, "I WAS A TEEN-AGE DWARF."
