FIVE CENTS

Board of Control To Begin Reviewing Ghost Organizations

The newly-established Organizational Board of Control will soon begin reviewing charters of campus "ghost" organizations.

SGA President Leonard Julius said yesterday that an interim board of five people had been set up until the full membership of eight could be established.

Darwin Talk To Be Given By Coon

Dr. Carleton S. Coon, curator of ethnology and professor of anthropology at the University Museum, Philadelphia, will speak at 8 tonight in Schwab Auditorium on "The Origin and Development of Man's Culture." Coon's lecture will be the third of the Darwinian Series sponsored by the University Lecture Series and the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Tickets are available without charge for students at the Hetzel Union desk. Non-student tickets will be on sale at $1.25 each.

Coon, a graduate of Phillips Academy, received his bachelor of arts, master of arts, and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard.

From 1925 to 1934 he was engaged in field work in anthropology in North Africa, the Balkans, Ethiopia and Arabia, and in 1939, he was credited with the discovery of the remains of Neanderthal man in North Africa.

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs had announced last month that it would have to take over the duties of the board if students were not able to set it up.

At its meeting tomorrow night board members will be given a list of all organizations chartered by the Senate Committee. They will investigate the organizations to find out which are defunct and have no members.

They will also look into organizations which have not complied with the Associate Student Activities regulation to submit a charter, list of officers, financial statement and audit to ASA.

The board, under the SGA Constitution, may hear cases against a group which violates Senate regulations governing social conduct of organizations or which has irregularities in its financial matters.

It may make recommendations to the Senate sub-committee on organization control but it may not enforce its decisions itself.

There are still three positions open on the board. Any student who is a president of any organization chartered by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, except social fraternities and sororities, may apply.

A 2.4 All-University average is needed for membership. Applications are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

Members of the interim board and the groups of they head are Dorothy Tynan, Scrolls; Sara Phillips, Chimes; Philip Cox, Blue Key; Lawrence Epstein, Camera Club; and Mary Louise Becker, Women's Chorus.

VA Consultant to Be At Old Main Today

A contact representative of the Veterans Administration office will be on campus between 10 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. today in 3B Old Main.

The representative will assist veterans and their dependents in applying for any benefits currently being administered by the Veterans Administration.

Ike Relaxes at Sea After Greek Visit

WITH EISENHOWER AT SEA (P) — President Eisenhower relaxed at sea last night still warmed by the electrifying ovation his message of peace in freedom received from the Greek Parliament.

The wild shouts and applause that echoed through the 120-year-old Parliament Hall at Athens were led by Communist-line deputies.

It was the loudest and longest ovation the President has received from any body of legislators during his visits to seven nations.

The cheers capped a visit that was a triumph from start to finish. Some 750,000 Athenians hailed him like a returning Trojan war hero on his arrival Monday. Hundreds of thousands more cheered him as he left.

Athens was a riot of crowds, flags, balloons and banners up to the time the President boarded a helicopter in front of the Olympic Stadium and flew to the U.S. cruiser Des Moines in Phaleron Bay.

Even as he steamed away he was pursued by a foghorn symphony from scores of motor launches, fishing boats and other small craft.

Ten years ago, American aid was instrumental in defeating Greek Communists in a bloody civil war. Yesterday, 78 Communist-line deputies in Parliament, mostly from the United Democratic left (EDA), hailed the American President when he declared he wished to speak "on a cause close to my heart — the cause is peace and friendship in freedom."

But there was little else in his speech for the Communists to cheer about.

He said the free world intends to "win the sort of peace we want."

He said the free world must develop and preserve strength "militarily, economically but above all spiritually" to win that peace.

He spoke of a peace "creative, dynamic, fostering a world climate that will relieve men and their governments of the intolerable burden of armaments, liberate them from the haunting fear of global war and universal death."

And he spoke of a freedom in which "under the rule of law, every human will have the right and a fair chance to live his own life."

Rally, Movies To Help Start Bowl Activities

A new fad may be started on campus tonight! Instead of packing into phone booths, Penn Staters will see how many students can fit into the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The attraction will be a pep rally in honor of the "Liberty" team. The cheering is scheduled to start at 7:45 p.m.

Before the rally, movies of the 1948 Cotton Bowl and the Alabama-Vanderbilt game will be shown in 112 Buckhout. The movies will start at 6:30 p.m.

Penn State played SMU to a 13-13 tie in the 1948 Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, Texas. This year's Alabama-Vanderbilt game was a 7-7 tie.

The lineup at the pep rally includes the entire football team plus Coach Rip Engle, football manager Dave Williams and the University's two song-leading troubadours — Frank Gullo and Hummel Fishburn.

The senior members of the team will be introduced to the audience by Richard Haber, master of ceremonies.

A farewell pep rally will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Recreation Hall. Robert Higgins, 1918 All-American, will be the speaker.

Age Limit Raised For 6-Month Plan

Men 25 years of age will now be admitted to the U.S. Army's 6-month active training program. The previous age limit was 18½.

Men in this plan serve actively for six months and then in the Army Reserve for 5½ years, instead of the two years of active service.

Questions may be directed to Major H. A. Houston of the U.S. Army Reserve Center, N. Atherton St., Adams 8-6688.

Wilder To Give 'Carol' Performance

Just as the reading of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" has become a holiday tradition all over the country, the reading of the story by Jon Barry Wilder has become one of the University's Christmas traditions.

Wilder, now a graduate student, will read the story for the fifth season, at 8 tonight in 121 Sparks.

Wilder gave his first reading of "A Christmas Carol" four years ago, with the encouragement of his speech teacher, Mrs. Harriet Nesbitt.

Last year he read the story over 15 state radio stations and over WFBG-TV, Altoona.

The event is being sponsored by the University Readers.

Wilder has acted in many Players' productions and represented the University in the Pennsylvania and National Interpretive Reading festivals. He also directed the plays "The Emperor's New Clothes" and "Tovarich" for the State College Community Theatre.

The one-hour version of the story which Wilder will read will be a portion of the cutting used by Dickens himself when he read in public.

Dickens himself originated the oral reading of "A Christmas Carol" when he was at the height of his career as England's greatest novelist. He read the story in England, Scotland, Ireland, Paris and America.

Student Affairs Study

School Work Consumes Most Time

By BARB YUNK
Last of Series

A 1958 Student Affairs Research Study revealed that, contrary to many parents' belief, the greatest proportion of the students' weekly time is spent on school work.

The study was conducted by Louis M. Herman, graduate assistant in the research and evaluation section, under the direction of Dr. Martin L. Zeigler, director of Student Affairs Research.

The next largest proportion of the students' time, as stated in the report, is spent on social-recreational activities, most of which are unorganized social activity. The rest of the activities are divided about equally between time devoted to fraternities or sororities and time devoted to clubs.

A breakdown of the findings on the various student groups revealed that graduate students spend less hours than any other group on social-recreation while seniors spend the most time in this area.

The findings showed that freshmen and graduate students belong to significantly fewer clubs than any other group.

In the case of the freshmen, this may be attributed to the greater number of hours that they spend on school work.

Freshmen spend more time on this than any other group except juniors who spend only slightly less time.

Physical education students, as would be expected, spend a greater number of hours at physical recreation than any other curriculum group. Paradoxically, physical education students were second from the bottom in their knowledge of physical-recreational facilities. Engineering and architectural students, who spend the least amount of time on this activity, were second from the top in knowledge of the available facilities, the report showed.

Counseling students were found to devote the most time to social-recreation. Conversely, they knew the least about the clubs at the University.

It was found that students living in fraternities or sororities spend more hours on physical-recreation than students living in State College and more hours on general social-recreation than either State College or residence hall students.

Fraternity and sorority members belong to a greater number of clubs and know more about them than any other group, it said.

"DECK THE HALLS"—and many other Christmas carols were sung by a large group of students last night in the courtyard of the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel. The singing was lead by the Meditation Chapel Choirs, directed by James W. Beach.
