

Dickson Expresses Hope For Statue Preservation

Dr. Harold E. Dickson, professor of art and architecture history, writing in the current issue of "The Art Quarterly," expressed the hope that measures will be taken to preserve the Barnard Statues at the State Capitol in Harrisburg.

Dickson has done extensive studies on the work of the Bellefonte-born sculptor, George Grey Barnard. He said that these statues which 50 years ago attracted the attention of the art world, are showing alarming deterioration from exposure to the weather.

The statues, Dickson said, have not remained popular in American art. Objections have been raised that the groups are crowded and confused and that their moralistic ideas are obvious and commonplace, he continued.

In the article entitled "Barnard Sculptures for the Pennsylvania Capitol," Dickson outlines the great difficulty under which Barnard executed the statues.

He said that Barnard started with the proposal that he complete 67 figures within three years for a proposed $700,000. Hampered by time, Dickson writes, Barnard only completed 30 statues for $100,000. Later, a special act of legislature provided him with an additional $80,000 to pay debts he had incurred.

Before Barnard had finished his work, Dickson pointed out, the scandal over expenditures for furnishing the Capitol building was in full swing. And after his work was unveiled, objections to the nudity of the figures developed.

Yuletide Music To be Aired Over WDFM

WDFM will present two evenings of special Christmas programming tonight and tomorrow.

At 7 tonight, the programming begins with "Season's Greetings," featuring popular Christmas music, including Stan Freberg's satire on the commercialization of Christmas, "Green Christmas."

Later this evening, a program of traditional Christmas music will be presented on "The Music of Christmas." At 10 p.m. the complete "Nutcracker Ballet" by Tchaikovsky will be played.

At 7 tomorrow evening, "The Stingiest Man in Town," a musical adaptation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," will be performed. This will be followed by "Christmas 'Round the World," an outdoor Christmas sing; and a German Christmas sing, "Christmas With Grandma (William Bonham) Higgins," and a reading of Roger Price's "Why Christmas Is Nice."

Sheila Cohen of the University Readers will read a Christmas selection and a play "Christmas Errand" will be played.

The special programming will end with the playing of Corelli's "A Christmas Concerto" and three Christmas cantatas by Bach.

Tomorrow evening will be the last evening of broadcasting for WDFM until after vacation.

Froth Satirizes Classes, Catalog

With the help of other colleges' humor magazines, Froth once again publicizes in a satirical vein some idiosyncrasies of campus life.

In the combined Christmas and Exchange issue, Froth pokes fun at TV classes and the course catalog via the help of Dickinson and Florida Colleges.

Occidental and Harvard University are also contributors to this issue which will include three Christmas stories by local writers.

Froth will be on sale at the Hetzel Union Building, the Corner, Waring and Warnock Halls and on the Mall.

Student Affairs--

(Continued from page one) few or no clubs and who did not participate in recreational activities gave lack of information and crowded facilities as reasons for their lack of participation.

When they were questioned concerning their willingness to contribute financially to a new program, about 58 per cent of the students indicated that they would be willing to pay a $1 fee each semester for a better recreational program. Nineteen per cent said they would be unwilling to pay and the remaining 23 per cent were undecided.

DOC Student Council To Hold Dinner Feb. 14

The Division of Counseling Student Council decided last night to hold a dinner for DOC Dean's List students on Feb. 14.

Neal Fahrer, senior in business administration from Philadelphia, was appointed chairman of the committee to arrange the dinner.

In other business, a new chairman was appointed for the suggestion box committee. Edward Rosenzweig, freshman in counseling from Apollo, said a suggestion box will be made and placed in the DOC office in Old Main.

Advisory Board Forms

Applications for Sophomore Class Advisory Board are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

All forms must be returned by Jan. 6.

WRA to Hold 2nd Coed Night

The Women's Recreation Association has set Jan. 16 as the date of their second annual Coed Recreation Nite.

Under the chairmanship of Sue Smithson, junior in liberal arts from Stamford, Conn., the program will feature volleyball, progressive games, square dancing and dancing to popular music.

Activities in the game room will include ping-pong, bowling and chess. Refreshments will be served to the students attending.

Action on the reorganization of the WRA structure was postponed by the executive board until the next meeting.

Ag Council--

(Continued from page two) Many members objected to the preliminary questionnaire being given out because it "encouraged cramming." "We all do enough of that as it is," one quipped.

The pros and cons of an oral examination were also discussed. One member argued that "an oral test will give the better speakers a definite advantage over those who are not."

Another said, "the test is not a test of your speaking ability but rather a test of your knowledge in your field. Every college student should be able to give his opinions in an intelligent manner."
