

CLOSET SPACE is at a premium in the Nittany Residence halls. Crowded in the open closets are about half of the belongings of two students . . .

. . . THE OTHER HALF of their belongings hang on a pipe and drape in front of the windows and over part of the dresser. The pipe is one of the infamous noisy heat pipes.

SEVERAL TIMES A week these garbage bags adorn the front of the Nittany halls. Collections are made regularly but the bags wait outside.

WHY DO Nittany men walk in the street?? Because they have no sidewalks.

Nittany Men Protest

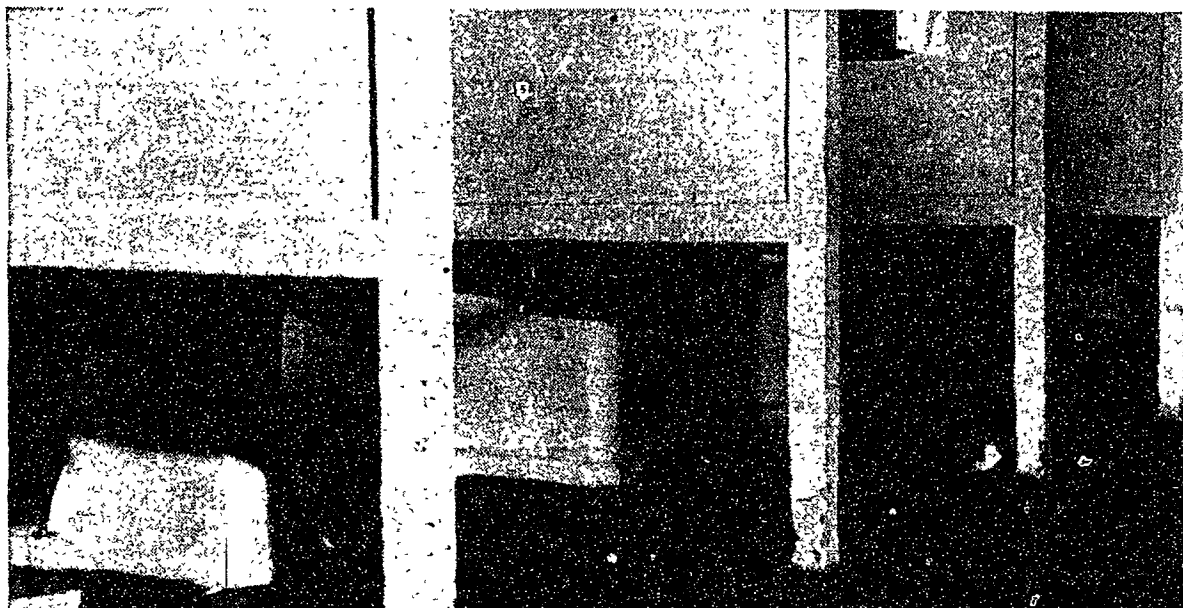

Many complaints are voiced by the men who live in the Nittany Residence Hall Area. They are not just chronic complainers as you can see in this set of pictures. Crowded closets, inadequate privacy, uncomfortable beds and general poor living conditions prevail.

The University, after many years, is now starting to take notice of the complaints and finally has announced plans to make improvements.

—Collegian Photo Feature by Marty Scherr

THE DOUBLE DECK bunk beds may scare the "uninitiated", but these men are used to the 6 to 8 inch sag in the top beds. This is not a trick of perspective, but was taken level with the bed.

PRIVACY IS the word in the lavatories. The stalls have no doors, but curtains have been promised for the near future.

THESE TWO MEN, both average size, have trouble walking down the hall side by side.