Hall's Pass Wins For Nittanies

By SANDY PADWE

It should be a peaceful off season for Rip Engle because Galen Hall seems to have solved the Ripper's biggest problem—finding someone to fill Richie Lucas' shoes.

The 19-year-old Hall was forced into Mr. Lucas' size 11's in the second quarter of the inaugural Liberty Bowl game in Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 19 and how he filled them is now history.

The 5-9 signalcaller, who looks more like a choir boy than a football player, thrilled a crowd of 36,211 when he threw an 18-yard touchdown pass to halfback Roger Kochman on a fake field goal play to give the Lions a 7-0 win over Alabama.

The win more than atoned for the 22-7 loss suffered in the season's finale at Pittsburgh and gave the Lions a final record of 9-2.

It was also a milestone for Engle, for the Lion mentor joined one of collegiate football's select circles by winning his 100th game.

And quite a win it was for all concerned. The 7-0 score simply doesn't reflect the difference between the two teams but statistics do.

The Lions completely dominated the play, racking up 18 first downs and 278 yards rushing to Alabama's eight first downs and 104 yards rushing.

Alabama coach Bear Bryant was the first to admit that the Lions were the superior team. "I think we were very fortunate that we weren't beaten by four or five touchdowns," he said. "State just gave us a good sound thrashing. They compare to any of the Southeastern Conference clubs we faced all year including Georgia."

The big play of the day turned out to be the fake field goal seconds before the end of the first half.

State had the ball second down and six to go on the 'Bama 18 when Hall knelt down to hold for Sam Stelatella who had missed a field goal from the 12 earlier in the game.

Dick Wilson snapped the ball and Hall jumped up, spotted Roger Kochman in the left flat, and hit him with a bullet.

A protective wedge sprung up around Kochman and escorted him goalward.

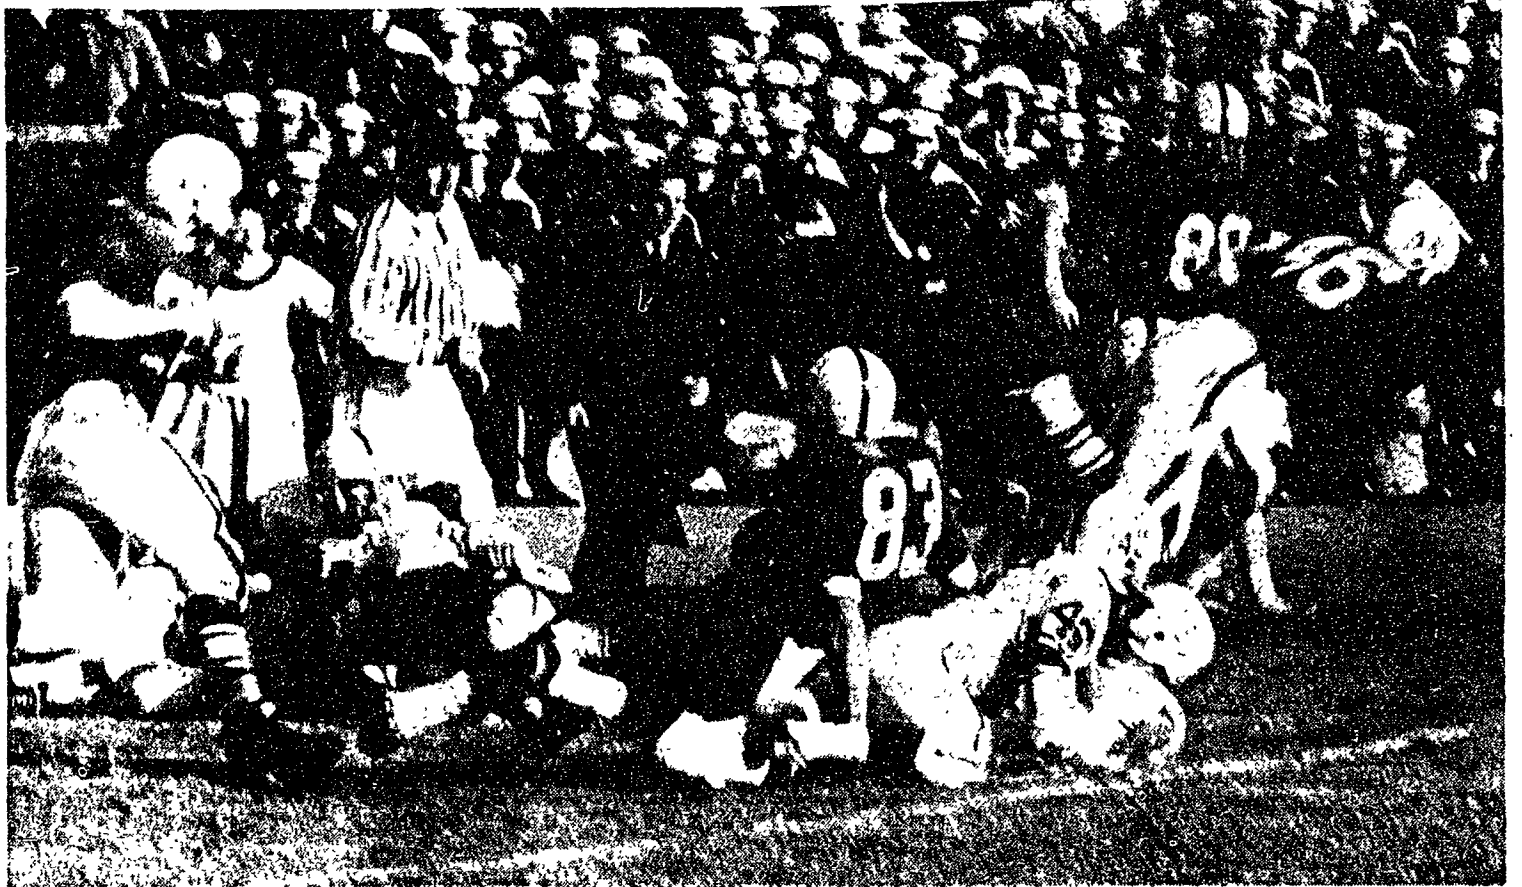

White uniformed players began falling like duck pins as Henry Opperman, Norm Neff, Sam Sobczak and Stew Barber threw key blocks.

Stelatella booted the extra point and the Nittanies took a 7-0 lead which they never lost.

The Lions had several other opportunities to score. Once they fumbled on the 11 and another time the Crimson Tide defense held Penn State on the one.

When the clock ran out Penn State was on the Alabama ten and driving.

THE LUNGE THAT SPELLED VICTORY—Fleet Nittany sophomore halfback Roger Kochman (46) lunges the last yard and a half into the end zone after galloping 18 yards with a screen pass on a fake field goal attempt to tally the lone touchdown in the first Liberty Bowl game. Sophomore quarterback Galen Hall tossed the pass that gave Penn State a 7-0 victory and possession of the Liberty Bell Trophy.

game—defense," said Engle after the game. "That's right," echoed assistant coach Paterno, "that's the way we planned it. We set up our defenses to meet theirs."

Another sophomore, center Jay Huffman, was the big man on the line for Penn State, winning the most valuable player award for his performance both on offense and defense.

Huffman's great linebacking was one of the main reasons the Crimson Tide spent most of the day with their backs to their own goal line.

Pat Trammel, 'Bama's quarterback who was second in total offense in the SEC, was completely shackled as was Marlin Dyess their chief running threat.

Eventhough he left the game in the middle of the second quarter with a hip injury, Lucas was the offense leader for the afternoon. He ran for 54 yards in nine carries and completed one pass for 23 yards.

Williams May Quit

BOSTON (AP)—Two Boston newspapers said yesterday Red Sox slugger Ted Williams may be through as an active ball player.

The Boston American said Williams was offered a job as radio and TV broadcaster of Red Sox games over station WHDH at the same salary he received last year as a ball player.

The Boston Traveler said Williams is suffering from leg trouble and may be unable to play next season.

The Red Sox management and WHDH officials said they knew nothing of Williams being offered the broadcaster's job.

Woodruff to Play in Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Back Cowboy Woodruff, one of Mississippi's stars in the 21-0 Sugar Bowl victory over Louisiana State, was added to the South squad yesterday for the 11th annual Senior Bowl game here Saturday.
