

WSGA to Sponsor Fireside Discussions

Russia, freewill, marriage and the necessity of an undemocratic educational process will be discussed at fireside chats at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday in the lounges of seven upperclasswomen's residence halls.

The chats are sponsored by the Fireside Committee of the

Leonides, AIM To Hear Views

Leonides and the Association of Independent Men will hold a joint meeting 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 119 Osmond for anyone interested in giving his opinion on the proposed AIM-Leonides merger.

Students who have followed the problem, faculty members and members of the administration will be given a chance to air their agreement or opposition to the proposal.

Both AIM and Leonides will discuss their present organization, and then the proposed organization plan will be presented and discussed.

Harald Sandstrom, president of AIM, said, however, that no final vote on the merger will take place at the meeting.

Student Injured In Sunday Crash

Erland P. Stevens Jr., junior in mining economics from Arlington, Va., was seriously injured late Sunday night when his car skid into a truck and an on-coming car near Huntingdon.

Stevens was admitted to the Huntingdon General Hospital and is reported in fair condition. He suffered facial cuts, which required 40 stitches, and a slight concussion. He is expected to be discharged late today.

Stevens, driving alone, slid on wet pavement into the rear of a tractor-trailer and then head-on into an on-coming car. He was returning to school when the accident occurred.

Bridge Club Adds Section

The Penn State Bridge Club will make an addition to its schedule this semester in order to include inexperienced students who wish to improve their bridge game.

Two sections of bridge games will be played during the club's regular meetings from 6.30 to 9.30 p.m. on Thursdays.

One section will be for experienced players who wish to play highly competitive bridge. The second section will be for inexperienced players who wish to improve their game while playing with others on the same level.

The first two-section game will be played Thursday in the main lounge of the Hetzel Union Building.

Membership in the club is $1 per year. Non-members may play if they pay a 25-cent fee each evening that they wish to play.

The University offered its first short course in general agriculture in 1891.

So What--

Be careful of rushing, but by all means, rush! We are informing you so that you can be more readily aware of the involvements; they could mean a lot to your future at Penn State and in later years.

Lack of Quorum Prevents Decisions

No decisions were made at the West Halls Council meeting last night, because a quorum was not present.

The members decided to postpone discussion of a date bureau for West Halls until the next meeting.

The West Halls and North Halls combined jam session will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday in Waring lounge.
