

Nittany Thinclads to Encounter Pitt, Navy in Triangular Meet Saturday

By JIM KARL

Penn State's indoor track team is likely to be in for a battle Saturday when the Nittany thinclads meet Navy and Pitt in a triangular affair at Annapolis.

Last year the Middies defeated a highly regarded State team 61½-38½ in a dual meet, and this year they are expected to be even better.

In fact, Navy may well have one of its best indoor track seasons in 1960, "but this doesn't mean we can't lose two or three meets," says Tommy Thomson, the veteran Navy mentor.

The Middies' biggest asset lies in their over-all balance. "All three jumps (high, broad and pole vault) are in good hands if we don't have the injuries which hit us last spring," Thomson said.

"Most of the runs should be pretty solid with George Van Houten, Rod Watterson, Paul Mankowich and John Prichard," he added.

The Middies have indoor heptagonal broad jump champion in Prichard and Lew Hilder owns the Academy high jump

DICK HAMBRIGHT
... runs fast 600

record. Other outstanding Navy performers are captain Randy McHenry in the hurdles, star baseballer Ken Vaughn in the 600, Billy Kiggins in the 1000, and Jim Hart in the shot put.

Although Pitt potentially does not compare with Navy, they do have two outstanding individual stars in sprinter Mel Barnwell and miler Ron Rush.

However, Barnwell has apparently not reached top form yet this year as he finished a disappointing third in the 600 and second in the 60-yard dash against Army earlier this season. Pitt lost the meet, 73½-35½.

Although this will be the Nittanians first regular meet of the season, they appear to be ready in their recent showing in practice

Don Davies recently ran a 1:12.7 on the boards at Rec Hall, the best time he has ever recorded. His best previous time was a 1:13.7 against Navy last year.

At the same time, Dick Hambright ran his best time for the 600 at Rec Hall with a 1:12.1.

Sprinter Bobby Brown also appears to be in top shape after competing in three invitationals this year. In the Washington Star Meet Brown nabbed two firsts and a second in the sprint series, in the Millrose Games he captured a third in the sprint and in the Boston A.A. Meet he won the 50-yard dash with a 5.3 clocking.

The mile and 2-mile relay teams captured third place honors at both the Star and Millrose Games and Saturday Dick Engelbrink ran a 4:12 mile to take third place in the Boston A.A. Meet.

Detroit Star Joins Toronto

DETROIT (AP) — Leonard Kelly, a star defenseman for the Detroit Red Wings for 13 seasons, last night became a member of the Toronto Maple Leafs in one of the most snarled-up trades in National Hockey League history.

Marc Reaume, a little used Maple Leaf defenseman, left Toronto to join Detroit.

It was an even-up swap. The trade was announced Tuesday night but it got snarled at Palm Beach, Fla., in rules and regulations of the NHL's board of governors.

Kelly, already in Toronto, was ordered by the board to report back to Detroit immediately or go on the league's retired list—from which he could never emerge if even one NHL club objected.

Kelly reported back by simply picking up a telephone and calling Detroit General Manager Jack Adams. NHL President Clarence Campbell said that was sufficient.

Campbell said he understood Kelly "will go where they, Detroit, send him." That was Toronto, Kelly's choice.

APPAREL OFT PROCLAIMS THE MAN

The hounds of spring are on winter's traces. Soon we will be shedding our mukluks and union suits and putting on our spring finery. And what does Dame Fashion decree for the coming season?

(Dame Fashion, incidentally, is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is greatly in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Becky Sharp—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the sagging morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

Don't be gullless,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cullass,
We ain't quittin'.

Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.

For Good Queen Bess,
Good sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.

You won't swill!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.

... In 1589 she invented the egg...

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her poet laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's services to queen and country. In 1589 she invented the egg. In 1590, alas, she was arrested for poaching and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day).

But I digress. Let us get back to spring fashions.

Certain to be popular again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this fertile Briton's imagination. He also invented the ball-peen hammer, the gerund, and the molar, without which chewing, as we know it today, would not be possible).

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good buddies, is ample reason for celebration. Do you think flavor went out when filters came in? If so, you've got another smoke coming. I mean Marlboros—all the rich, smooth flavor of prime tobaccos plus a filter that really filters. So slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobacconist for some good Marlboros. They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1960 Max Shulman

If you're a filter smoker, try Marlboros. If you're a non-filter smoker, try Philip Morris. If you're a television watcher try Max Shulman's "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis"—Tuesday nights, CBS.

Army Boasts Depth, Is Tough At Home

By LARRY ROTH

"They're extremely tough at home," said Penn State Coach Gene Wettstone. "I don't know of any team that does well up there. They'll have a capacity crowd made up mostly of Cadets, and it's always real hot and stuffy in there. Almost anything can happen and usually does."

Wettstone was referring to the upcoming gymnastic meet at Army Saturday, and something did happen two years ago in the Nittanians' last venture to the banks of the Hudson.

With Army leading by a mere three points in the next-to-last event on the program—the parallel bars—co-captains Lee Cunningham and Jay Werner, then sophomores, displayed their worst routines of the season.

When the pressure was on, they broke to give the Cadets an advantage they retained to win 50½-45½.

The Lion leaders would like nothing better than to beat the Cadets at Army, but they're not the only ones seeking revenge.

Last year Army's defending Eastern champions came to Rec Hall riding the crest of a 16 dual-meet winning skein.

The Lions, who had won nine straight since the loss at Army, upended the Cadets, 53½-42½, before a roaring capacity crowd of 6200 to grab the Eastern championship.

Saturday, the West Pointers will be out to give the visiting Lions, who have extended their win streak to 14, a dose of their own medicine.

The Eastern championship will again be hanging in the balance.

Army, which last won the Eastern championship in 1958, boasts proven stars like tumbler Dick "Red" Seaward and flying rings ace John Aaronsohn, but its main strength lies in its depth.

Unlike the Lions, Coach Tom Maloney calls on specialists in each event and doesn't use the same man more than once in a meet.

This gives the gymnast a chance to devote his full training time to one event and increase his chances of improvement.

The Cadets boast two sub 4-second rope climbers. In the remaining five events, 12 of the 15 performers have scored 225 or better this season—an indication of the Cadets' depth.

"It could very likely come down to the last event (the flying rings)," said Wettstone.

If it does, Aaronsohn, defending Eastern champ, and Werner, the national title-holder, would clash in what should be the feature event of the afternoon.

D'Amato Found Guilty By Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Cus D'Amato, manager of former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, yesterday was found guilty of disregarding a subpoena for questioning by the New York state attorney general last Nov. 18.

D'Amato faces up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine. His bail was continued pending investigation and sentencing was set for April 8.

The three Special Sessions justices sitting in the case took 20 minutes to reach a decision.

The misdemeanor complaint charged D'Amato with failing to appear Nov. 18 before Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, who was investigating the promotion of the heavyweight title bout last June between Patterson and Ingemar Johansson.

D'Amato testified he did not recall receiving the subpoena.

Julius November, D'Amato's attorney, said he would appeal to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

NOTICE...

KEELER'S
OPEN TODAY
8:45 until 5:30

What --- Biggest Jam Session of the Semester

Who --- THE ALL STARS

The acclaim-winning combo returns to State especially for this occasion.

When and Where ---

Friday, 9:00 P.M. at Phi Kappa Sigma
Saturday, 2:00 P.M. at Phi Delta Theta
Saturday, 9:00 P.M. at Alpha Sigma Phi

Fraternity Men and Second Semester
Freshmen Welcome

WINTER

While the weather is still cold, why not come out to Duffy's one of these evenings? You are welcome any time between five and nine. Don't get all dressed up — a sport coat or crew neck is fine. Your favorite beverages are served.

Duffy's

In Boalsburg, 4 miles east of State College on Route 322 (turn right at the Texaco Station)