

Crowds Greet Ike in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Brazilians welcomed President Eisenhower with cheers and a blizzard of confetti and streamers yesterday. The crowds were described by police as the greatest for any visitor in Rio de Janeiro's four-century history.

Four Killed Five Hurt By Gunman

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A berserk mountaineer killed four persons—three of them women—and wounded at least five others before officers killed him in a blazing gun battle yesterday.

Dan Raymond, 42, a pipeline walker for a natural gas company, was shot dead after he dived from a second story window of the house where he had been holed up eight hours.

Two of the women were found outside Raymond's home at Chalk Hill—about eight miles east of Uniontown. They were identified as Mary Frances Sisler, 61, and Edna Maes, 53, both of Ohio.

State Police theorized Raymond shot the women as they drove past his house. One of the women apparently tried to run away from the car and was shot down in the road.

The other woman killed was May Maust, 20, of Farmington. She was found in an auto, along with her wounded husband, Carlus, and their two children, Mary 3, and Eddie, 18 months.

Shot to death earlier was William Burd, 49, a Farmington, a highways maintenance foreman.

It all began when Raymond flagged down the highway maintenance men and asked them to cinder his driveway. He returned to the house and seconds later opened fire.

One shot cracked the windshield of the truck and struck Burd in the chest. Richey, who already had begun to scatter the cinders, yelled: "Get the truck out of here."

Although mortally wounded, Burd started up the truck but a second shot hit him in the mouth. The truck crashed against a tree. Burd was dead on arrival at the Uniontown Hospital.

Mrs. Raymond, mother of three, told police she had fled with her children to a neighbor's home Tuesday night. She explained her husband had been suffering from a nervous disorder.

Dixie Senators To Fight Action With Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southerners, outnumbered in the Senate's civil rights battle, announced yesterday that they will fight back with all the obstructive tactics of a filibuster.

Beginning today Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said, the Southerners will not permit the Senate to transact any business that requires unanimous consent.

The unanimous-consent device is much used to speed along Senate work, and its absence could be a considerable handicap.

Russell said obstructive devices would be in order as retaliation to the call by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate leader, to begin around-the-clock Senate sessions Monday.

Continuous sessions could be expected to wear down physically the Southerners fighting off new federal rights legislation.

A foremost backer of rights legislation, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), said that day and night sessions are a necessity if the Senate is ever to pass on whether to help Southern Negroes vote.

Eisenhower, hailed as a champion of peace, said he was greatly impressed by the turnout. He smiled and waved as packed throngs of men, women, and children acclaimed him on a drive along the skyscraper-lined Avenida Rio Branco, the main business street, and the long palm-dotted drive fronting on Guanabara Bay. The drive took more than an hour.

Eisenhower took up the serious business of this four-nation South American tour in responding to an official welcome before the parade and in an address to Brazil's Congress afterward.

With the Communists evidently in mind, he sounded a hands-off warning to any ideology threatening to deny American nations the right to choose their own way of life.

He called for the banishment of war and diversion of armament money to global attacks on disease, ignorance and poverty.

He suggested a speed-up in studies for promotion of the Western Hemisphere's economic development.

But the big show was in the broad streets this bright but humid summer day. The temperature was about 80 degrees.

Samba bands were out in this city of three million, nestled between the mountains and the sea, long before Eisenhower's big jet roared in from Brasilia, the sprawling new capital-to-be 600 miles northwest of Rio.

Sunk German Cruiser Found by Chilean Navy

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile's navy says its frogmen have found the German cruiser Dresden, sunk by the British navy in World War I, near the Juan Fernandez Islands, 400 miles west of Valparaiso. The Dresden had been the only cruiser to survive the Battle of the Falkland Islands.

AF Missile Hits Target

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Titan missile successfully flew the intercontinental-range course for the first time yesterday. The 98-foot giant, being developed as this nation's most potent military rocket, hurled an operational type nose cone 5,007 miles to an intended target off the South Atlantic island of Ascension. The Air Force announced the test was successful.
