

Staff to Be Briefed on New Rules

Many details remain to be completed before the new women's rules go into effect March 14.

They include setting up form cards to record late minutes, reorganizing the sign-out system and explaining the new procedures to the residence hall staff.

Miss Lois McColloch, assistant to the dean of women, has devised a system for marking down late minutes each semester but as yet nothing definite has been decided.

Members of the Women's Student Government Association Senate suggested at their meeting last Wednesday that a better sign-out system be devised to avoid the jam-up that now occurs at the sign-out desk. Adding young graduate students to the residence hall staff was also discussed.

All residence staff members will have the new rules and the mechanics enforcing them fully explained before March 14.

Members of WSGA judicial also will make their comments on the rules at a meeting today and their suggestions will be voted on at the next WSGA Senate meeting.

During this time he may rush other fraternities or may join the one to which he was assigned. If at the end of the three weeks he decides not to join a fraternity, he will move into a residence hall. However, he must live in either a fraternity or a residence hall during his first year here.

Ronald Novak, Greek Week chairman, explained that because various other activities have reserved Schwab Auditorium, the IFC has been unable to obtain it for IFC sing preliminaries. He said they will be held in 121 Sparks.

The finals will be held in Schwab on April 5 beginning at 8 p.m. and not at 6:30 p.m. as was originally planned. The exchange dinners will be held on April 6.

Bissey Leads Dual Life As University Employee

By MARGIE ZELKO
A man on campus with a double job — Coordinator of Veterans' Affairs and University Fee Assessor — is Cyrus V. D. Bissey, a University employee since 1924. This combination of jobs makes 3-B Old Main a hectic office all year round.

Many veterans have asked, "Don't you ever get papers mixed up?" as they gaze around the office which is piled high with forms and schedules.

Mrs. Faye Beeghly, secretary to Bissey as Coordinator of Veterans' Affairs, said, "Oh, we never lose anything in this office. It's an efficient place."

"Things may be buried, but they're not lost," Bissey tells the bewildered veterans.

In his capacity as Veteran's Coordinator, Bissey aids all veterans who study at the University. He explained, "Uncle Sam sends certain students here. We see that they're taking the right number of credits, and are in the right field. When they're O.K.'d, we enroll them. We also process marriage and birth certificates."

"The boys come in once a month to sign up for pay. Between paychecks, little problems and new babies we are always on the go."

Bissey as Fee Assessor sees that all student fees are correct, in addition to handling University housing rents and other charges and credits.

"Each fee must be checked thoroughly even though we assume that the students are intelligent enough to figure out their fees," Bissey said.

His assistant, Miss Betty Kresovich, added that machines cut down on most alphabetizing and sorting, although all room rents have to be alphabetized by hand.

"Everyone in our office has to keep trim, too," Mrs. Beeghly remarked. "We have so many file cabinets that there are just (continued on page eight)
