Worker Dies After Accident At Turf Plots

A construction worker died Tuesday night at the Centre County Hospital as a result of injuries from a fall into an excavation on campus early Monday.

The victim, Andrew J. Levonick, 46 of Osceola Mills Rd. was an employe of the Virginia Construction Co. general contractors for the Turf Plots residence halls project along Three-Mile Rd.

No one saw him fall but it is thought that his foot slipped while he was loading materials. He fell about 10 feet. He was taken to the University Hospital at 10:50 a.m. Monday and didn't regain consciousness before his death at 7:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Levonick is survived by seven brothers and sisters. He was not married.

This was the third serious accident involving a University construction worker since fall and the second on this particular project within the last three months.

John Lynch, of Grassflat near Philipsburg, was buried up to his chest for an hour following a cave-in on Dec. 18.

William Baughman, 22, of Fleming, was killed when he fell seven stories from Building Four of the Pollock Circle residence halls on Oct. 30.

In September a worker fell 25 feet from the Hammond Engineering project but was only slightly injured.

A worker was blown 15 feet into the air by a dynamite blast last summer but was unharmed.

Parkinson To Discuss Bureaucracy

The law of bureaucracy, which states that the number of subordinates in any working group increases regardless of the amount of work to be done, will be explained by its originator, C. Northcote Parkinson at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets for the "Parkinson's Law" lecture, which is sponsored by the Lecture Series program, will be distributed to students beginning 1 p.m. Sunday, at the Hetzel Union desk. Non-student tickets will be sold for $1.25 beginning at 9 a.m. Monday. Distribution will continue until the supply of tickets is gone.

Parkinson, who is Raffles professor of history at the University of Malaya, is now on his first tour of this country. Last summer he lectured on "The History of the British Empire" at Harvard University.

The "Parkinson Law" first appeared as an anonymous article in the London Economist and has been widely reprinted in this country.

According to Parkinson, the idea for the "Law" came to him during World War II when he was a major in the British Army, and was able to observe executives making work for each other, "reading each other's minutes and criticizing each other's grammar."
