

Civil Rights Slashed In House Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, in its first major actions on the civil rights bill, killed two proposals by President Eisenhower yesterday.

Knocked out on points of order raised by Southerners were:

'K' to Visit France Despite Flu Attack

PARIS (AP)—The French and Soviet governments set new dates—March 23 - April 3—for a shortened visit to France by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The announcement followed reassuring reports from Soviet Ambassador Serge Vinogradov of progress by the 65-year-old Khrushchev in his bout with influenza.

It cut short vague speculation that Khrushchev might be sicker than admitted, or suffering a diplomatic illness. French officials discounted from the start that he was using a dodge to call off the trip or force any drastic revision of plans.

Khrushchev originally had planned to arrive in Paris today for a 14-day swing around the country and talks with President Charles de Gaulle before the East-West summit in May. The new schedule cuts two days off the visit.

● A proposed amendment to set up a 15-member presidential commission with the aim of assuring Negroes employment rights on jobs under government contracts.

● Another amendment that would have authorized federal grants and technical assistance to communities or states trying to desegregate their schools.

In the Senate, the administration took a setback on a vote of 85-1 to make the bombing penalties in the civil rights bill apply to every type of bombing or arson.

The lonely, losing senator was Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, who argued for confining the section to bombings of schools and churches.

With the change, senators made plain, bombings in labor disputes would be included.

The first House decisions were not clear — cut divisions on civil rights legislation itself.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), offered the government jobs amendment and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), immediately objected that it was alien to the bill

18 Va. Miners Still Missing

LOGAN, W. Va., (AP) — Rescue workers reached an underground room yesterday where it was believed 18 men entombed in a coal mine might have taken refuge. There was no one there.

Only a couple of dinner buckets, some tools and machinery were found, State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson, who has directed the rescue effort, announced.

The empty area was the one rescuers had been driving toward for six days in their around-the-clock attempt to reach the coal miners trapped last Tuesday by a slate fall and fire in the mine.

The rescue team was pulled back immediately to a fresh-air base for food and rest.

Wilson expressed disappointment that the 18 men were not found in the 300-by-500-foot area but he said he felt better about their safety.

"That would be a bad place," he told newsmen. "I'd never have chosen it if I were in there."

The stocky, silver-haired mines chief said they would now move toward a second place where the men might be—1200 more feet on into the depths of Island Creek Coal Co.'s No. 22 Mine at nearby Holden.

Savage Fighting Rages in Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP) — Three days of savage battling by two rival political factions have killed 13 Congolese and injured more than 100 others, officials said yesterday.

The combatants fought with machetes, club and fists.

The riotous brawls and house burnings centered in and around this capital of Katanga province, in the southeast part of the Belgian Congo. The Congo is preparing for independence June 30 and stakes and tempers are high.

Talk on Asian Problems

BAGUIO, Philippines (AP) — America's top diplomats in Asia opened a 4-day secret meeting on Asian problems yesterday.

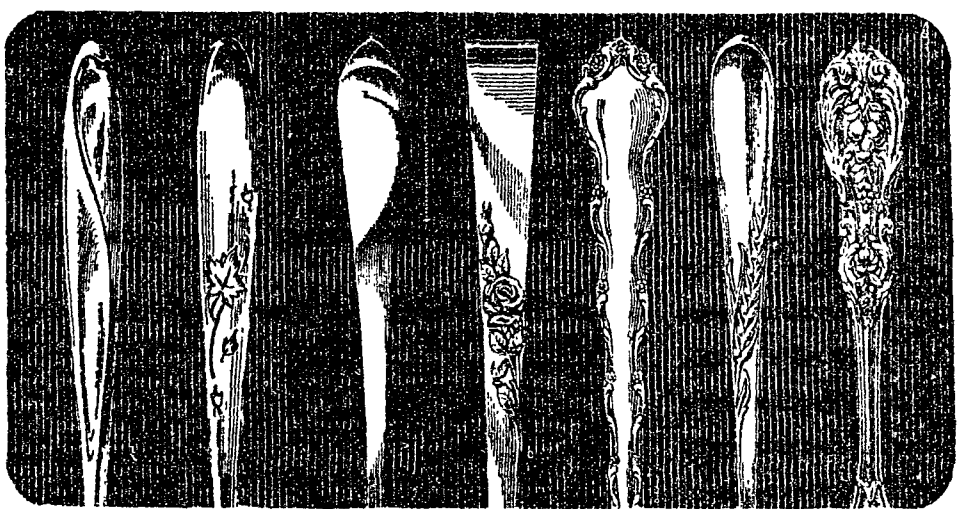

Fourteen U.S. ambassadors stationed around the rim of Red China, from Tokyo to New Delhi, India, and two consuls general met in this mountain resort north of Manila.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. The pledges were down in the catacombs; the actives were sacked out upstairs, not doing much of anything. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the housemother; Evelyn Zinsmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algehea McKeesport was writing a letter to Fabian in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls.

"Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Marlboro cigarettes to everybody, for if there ever was a smoke to start you thinking, it is mild and flavorful Marlboro! Things come clear when you puff that good, clean smoke through that fine filter—knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Marlboro! Oh, soft pack! Oh, flip-top box! Oh, get some already!

"I have brown eyes and I weigh 3200 pounds"

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain cells revived by a good Marlboro, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!"

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Blue-gown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, tugging her forelock, "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a curtsy.

"One, two, three," said Dolores.

Alice promptly went into a trance.

"Go back," said Dolores, "back into your childhood. Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation... Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"I don't know," said Alice. "She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and I weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafos.

We, the makers of Marlboro, have our doubts about this story. About cigarettes, however, we hold these truths to be self-evident: Marlboro for filter smokers, Philip Morris for non-filter smokers. Try some.
