By SUE LINKROUM

A Leonides Conference will be held April 24 at the Nittany Lion Inn to discuss problems of independent women, Beverly Cades announced last night at Leonides Council.

The conference will be broken down into three discussion groups: community living, individuality of the Penn State woman and what kind of organization would exist if Leonides did not.

A buffet breakfast, lunch and coffee break will be served.

Carol Frank, past president of Leonides, announced that the Women's Career Week, to be sponsored by Women's Student Government Association, would be held sometime in May. Fashion shows and panel discussions will be among the events held that week.

It was also announced that a course in leadership training will be offered this semester for all interested men and women. It will be held Monday nights in 214 Boucke. Students may register for the course today through Monday at the Hetzel Union desk.

Installation of the new Leonides Council officers was held. They are: Roberta Hill, president; Mary Kay Stoker, vice president; Patricia Shockey, recording secretary; and Patricia Hagan, treasurer.

Cabinet Favors 2 Bills On ROTC, Alternates

By CAROL BLAKESLEE

The SGA Cabinet last night favored the principles behind two bills which will be presented to the Assembly Thursday.

One dealt with the problem of Assembly alternates, the other asked that state legislators be polled on their opinions of compulsory ROTC.

The Assembly alternate bill was worked out by the Rules Committee and the SGA Reorganization Committee.

It recommends that Assemblymen have no alternates, with the exceptions of those who are student teaching or who have lost the required 2.4 All-University average needed to sit on Assembly.

At present each Assemblyman has an official alternate.

The bill recommends that Assemblymen be allowed no more than three absences during a semester, or two within an eight-week period.

Assemblymen who are student teaching or who have lost their required average may appoint an alternate subject to the approval of the Rules Committee and the Assembly.

Rules Committee Chairman Jay Hawley explained that there had been disagreement within the group itself. Several members feel that the whole alternate system should be abandoned.

The bill on questioning State legislators about compulsory ROTC was approved by Cabinet with the exclusion of three clauses.

The main objection was centered around a statement which

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
BUY, SELL, TRADE, TELL

Miss Julia Heit

This weekend is unusual in one respect, namely that six sororities are going to have formals this Saturday Night. Except for one, all are being photographed in color. By far, well worth the small difference.

Those of you that have fulfilled your college ambition, namely finding a husband might do well in arranging for your bridal portrait now if you're planning a June wedding. Those already scheduled are indicative of a big June.

If your new pledge class would like copies of your latest sorority composite even though they're not on it, get together and clue us in on how many additional copies are needed.

It appears that we'll be finishing our last sorority composite next week, which means we'll be ready for fraternities. Ten will be all we can handle at this time, so first come first served.

Preference will be given to houses we did last spring. Those photographed early will receive their composites in six weeks. Others will receive theirs in September or early October. Those desiring fall delivery can have their new pledge class photographed in early October and not hold up delivery of composite.
