SPE Suffers Loss Of Social Privileges

By KAREN HYNCKEAL

The failure of two members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity to take full responsibility for a Delta Upsilon pledge who had become intoxicated at an SPE party is the reason that the Interfraternity Board of Control has recommended that the fraternity lose its social privileges for five weeks.

In other action, the Board recommended that Alpha Phi Delta fraternity be placed on

Council Favors Cabinet Seats

The Chemistry-Physics student council went on record last night as favoring a representative on Cabinet for each student council.

The council passed Walton Davis' proposal for seating council representatives on Cabinet after he had expressed his opinion on the ineffectiveness of the present setup.

Davis, president of the council, said that the Cabinet has lost status as a group. The attendance is poor, he said, and it isn't living up to its potentialities as an advisory board.

Steven Brown, junior in chemical engineering from Indiana, was elected new president of the council.

Robert Harrison, sophomore in chemical engineering from Shammokin, was elected vice president while Ellen Mills, junior in chemistry from Arlington, Va., is the new secretary-treasurer.

social probation for three weeks beginning midnight last Tuesday. The reason for this, Robert Parsky, chairman of the board, said, was that the fraternity had been guilty of improper door duty March 11.

Parsky explained last night that the incident concerning SPE was a direct violation of an IFC rule which states, "A fraternity is held responsible for any improper conduct of members and guests both inside and outside of the fraternity house if such conduct results from being present at any fraternity function or gathering."

At approximately 2 a.m. Sunday, March 6, Robert Alman, sophomore in forestry from Rochester, N.Y. and a DU pledge, was driven back to his fraternity house by two members of SPE. They left Alman, who was intoxicated, in his (Alman's) car in the DU parking lot but did not notify DU, Parsky said.

Alman left his car and went into town where he broke into the Locust Lane Apartments. He was arrested by the State College police, charged with disorderly conduct and fined.

Later Alman appeared before Off-Campus Tribunal which recommended that he be placed on disciplinary probation. The recommendation was approved by the dean of men's office.

According to Parsky, the members of SPE who took Alman back to his house were negligent when they left him in that condition and did not notify his fraternity.

On Tuesday night, therefore, the board recommended that SPE lose its social privileges until midnight April 24. This means that the fraternity may not entertain women until this time.

The board also recommended that the fraternity be placed on social probation for the remainder of the semester; that is, that it be under stricter surveillance by the IFC board.

The board's recommendations must be approved by the Senate subcommittee on group discipline. (Continued on page eight)

Assembly To Hear Petition

By CAROL BLAKESLEE

A petition demanding an open investigation of the campus political situation will be presented to the SGA Assembly when it meets at 7:30 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union.

Desmond MacRae, freshman in history from State College, who will present the petition, said last night he could give no estimate of the number of students who had signed, but that "there was no problem at all" of it being over the 3 per cent required by the SGA Constitution.

MacRae began circulating the petition last Sunday night at a meeting of Campus party.

It asks for an investigation of the "recent scandals in student government" in lieu of the fact that "certain student leaders have misused their public trust."

Assembly will also discuss a bill which asks that state legislators be polled on their opinions of compulsory ROTC and a bill which recommends a solution to Assembly alternates.

The SGA Cabinet meeting Monday took issue with a clause in the ROTC bill which states that the American Legion lobby is "one of the major stumbling blocks" to eliminating compulsory ROTC. Cabinet, however, favored the principle behind the bill.

The bill on Assembly alternates recommends that only those who are student teaching or who have lost the scholastic average required for Assembly be permitted to send alternates.

At present an Assemblyman who is absent from a meeting for any reason is required to send an alternate.

Forster to Talk Tonight

Elysee Palace, where De Gaulle was host to the Soviet Premier and representatives of French overseas communities.

Khrushchev arrived in Paris yesterday morning for a 12-day visit. During the day he delivered an appeal for disarmament and a warning to France to beware of West Germany.

Germany was still uppermost in the mind of the Soviet leader last night.

The question of a peace treaty with Germany is a tough East-West issue. Khrushchev demands as his price recognition of Communist East Germany as an independent nation and turning West Berlin into an open city largely free of control by the Western Allies.

He called also for an end of NATO and the Western European Union, both of which include Germany as military member.

Khrushchev's firm words met with a polite, formal reply from De Gaulle.

The French leader said that if Khrushchev was seeking a lessening of tension and "perhaps an understanding of the policy you proclaim and the great country you lead, then be sure you will have the ear of France."

But no merely polite words came from Khrushchev as he spoke at the banquet.

His whole approach to the visit, as indicated in the first day, is just what the French had expected. They knew he would try to break down their relationship with the West and more particularly with West Germany, and that was just what his speeches seemed intended for.
