

Ed Prof Accepts Post in Washington

Dr. Charles M. Long has received a professorship of education and head of the Department of Elementary Education to accept a post as specialist in elementary education in the Education Division of the International Cooperation Administration in Washington, D.C.

He will begin his new duties Friday.

Long came to the University in 1950 as professor and head of the Department of Education, and was named head of the new Department of Elementary Education in 1959. He studied at Taikio College in Taikio, Mo., and the University of Colorado, and taught in public schools for 15 years.

Weinberger Publishes Paper

Dr. Martin Weinberger, visiting professor of the history of art and architecture, has published a paper in the March issue of the Gazette des Beaux Arts, published in Paris and New York.

The Penn State Chapter of the American Society for Metals has announced that Manley B. Brooks, consultant and foundry engineer of the Magnesium Department of Dow Chemical Company, has been selected to receive the 1960 David Ford McFarland Award for Achievement in Metallurgy.

Brooks' selection was based on his service to metallurgical technology, his earned eminence in the profession and his respected record as a citizen.
