

DuMars, Kennedy Make AP All-State Cage Team

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Playmakers highlight the 1960 Associated Press All-Pennsylvania collegiate basketball team, announced yesterday.

Temple's Bill Kennedy, Mark DuMars of Penn State and Bobby McNeill of St. Joseph's, all basketball "quarterbacks" were voted to the first all-star five by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the state.

St. Francis' Wilbur Trosch and Lafayette's Charlie Ross, a pair of tall rebounders, completed the first team.

Voted to the second team were Hubie White of Villanova, Westminster's Chuck Davis, Penn's Bob Mlkvy, Dick Lloyd of Bloomsburg and Joe Aston of St. Francis.

Kennedy, a third team All-American polled the most votes for his outstanding performance in leading an unheralded Temple team into the National Invitation Tournament. One of four seniors on the first team, he scored 576 points.

DuMars, a junior, averaged 21.3 points a game for Penn State and compiled a 38 per cent shooting mark from the field.

"The Magician," who can do everything with a basketball, scored 468 points in 22 games.

McNeill was the star of a St. Joseph's team that won the Middle Atlantic Conference university division title and played in the NCAA regional tournament. He scored 450 points and handed out 135 assists, leading his team in both departments for the third straight year.

The 21-year-old Trosch is described by his coach, Skip Hughes, as a good pro prospect. Featuring a one hand jump shot, the 6-8, 238-pound Clairton, Pa., lad, scored 450 points in 23 games. He used his size to good advantage off the boards.

Ross, also a top rebounder,

Cage Trials Begin For 1960 Olympics

DENVER (AP) — America's top-drawer amateur basketball aces begin the battle tonight for the dribble-and-shoot game's most coveted award — a berth on the U.S. Olympic team.

As usual, the 1960 Olympic Trials will shape up as a "go for broke" struggle between the nation's finest college stars and the cream of the AAU ranks. For good measure, the greatest players the armed forces have to offer are also competing.

Eight teams are poised for the fireworks. Each has an outstanding coach.

Almost to the man, the coaches have sized up their respective collections of talent as the "kind of team a basketball coach lies awake nights dreaming about."

Fast Falls Pace IM Wrestling

By BOB DEAN
Four pins under one minute were recorded in IM wrestling last night at Rec Hall. Three independents, Gene Edwards, Ken Hollinger, and George Fischer picked up the quick pins along with Andy Stynchula of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Edwards scored the fastest fall in 0:26 over Jeff Hay, and Stynchula, an All-East tackle for the Lion football team, followed with a 33-second pin over Henry Marino of Alpha Phi Delta. Both matches were in the heavyweight class.

Hollinger, another heavy-weight, threw John Cover in 0:50, and Fischer, wrestling 176, pinned Bill Jones in 0:57.

In closer matches, Walt Kearney of Sigma Nu beat Ron Rose of Delta Theta Sigma, 3-2, in their 135-pound match, while Jack Dellastatious of Sigma Chi edged out footballer Dick Pae of Beta Theta Pi, 5-4.

Fred Crombie, Sigma Nu, and Pete Wanser, Phi Kappa Psi, surprised their men with catch pins after a reversal. Crombie, 150-pounder, broke the tie in his match with a quick reverse and then pinned Lew Brown, of Alpha Tau Omega, in 3:36. Wanser, trailing Tom Ogden of Phi Mu Delta 4-0, reversed and scored a pin in 4:50 in their 142-pound match.

Independent John Casey scored one of the best pins of the night in the 135-pound class. He used a reverse nelson and bar arm to throw Merl Waltz in 3:12.
