18 Groups Will Enter Derby Day

If you've been hit by a coded stunt-rider on a bicycle lately, she was probably practicing for The Daily Collegian's first Bicycle Derby Day scheduled for May 21.

A total of 18 groups—three independent and 15 sorority—have signed up to participate thus far. Applications are still being accepted at the Collegian office in the basement of Carnegie Building.

Eight new novelty races have been added to the list of events, and several more are now in the planning stage. In addition to the pinee race, a suitcase race, whistle "Dixie" race, balance race, an obstacle race, bicycle joust, wild west race, muffin man race and a newspaperman's race will pit woman against woman in the contest for a glorious prize.

Contestants will be supplied with "spears" and shields for the bicycle joust and will test their skill at piercing balloons set up on posts.

Candles will be set up for the wild west race, and riders will be supplied with water pistols to douse the flames.

Symbols of the various obstacles which hinder Collegian reporters in their search for stories will be set up for the newspaperman's obstacle race. Contestants must find a way to get around or through them, get to a typewriter and write 30 "the end" in journalistic lingo.

Wet Soil Delays Work On New Beaver Stadium

The unusually wet soil due to the spring rains has prevented the early start planned for readying the new Beaver Field for the forthcoming football season.

Walter W. Trainer, head of the landscape planning division, said that landscapers are expected to move in before the end of April to get the soil ready for the sod that will be planted on the football field itself.

During the summer, workers will build walls and a stone fence and will prepare automobile parking locations. More areas will also be seeded.

According to Trainer, sod will be planted on only two-thirds of the field before commencement exercises which will be held in the new stadium. In the northern third, where the platform and chairs are to be placed, rye grass will be planted.

The long range job of preparing the track will begin after commencement, Trainer explained.

"We want to get out to the stadium as soon as the soil permits and get the job underway," he said. The crews hope for a somewhat dry April.

At present plans include a parking area with a capacity of 10,000 automobiles which will be ready for the 1960 football season. Stone aggregate lanes would be built to facilitate access to, and exit from, the parking areas, he added, but leveling and reseeding would be necessary.

Largest tributary of the Ohio River is the Tennessee River. The river is 652 miles long.

Choral Group Will Present Spring Concert

Spring will receive its official welcome tomorrow from the Penn State Women's Chorus when it presents its annual spring concert.

The program will open with favorite classical melodies including Brahms' "Greetings" and Bach's "Sheep and Lambs May Safely Graze."

Moving to a lighter mood, the chorus will sing such folk songs as "Bendemeer's Stream" and the Scottish "Bonnie Doon."

John Slamp, senior in musical education from State College, will be guest soloist and will sing "Poor Wayfaring Stranger."

A special arrangement of the traditional Penn State songs will also be featured.

The program will include two musical salutes to spring in "Now is the Month of Maying" and "Go, Song of Mine."

Scheduled for 3 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium, the concert will be open to the public. No tickets will be necessary.

E. WILLIAM MUEHL

Chapel Speaker

But Suffer God to Guide Thee" as the choral introit and Hovhanness' "Psalm 28" as the morning anthem.

William Mastrocola, sophomore in education from Clifton Heights, will be the organist for the service. He will play Bach's "O Mensch, Bewein' Dein' Sunde Gross" as prelude, "Christus, Der Uns Selig Macht" as offertory and "Little Fugue in G minor" as postlude.

Muehl holds undergraduate degrees and a law degree from the University of Michigan and an honorary master of arts degree from Yale. Although a lawyer by training, he is considered an authority in homiletics, the art of preaching.

He is a member of the Michigan Bar Association and the American Arbitration Association and has served as arbitrator in numerous labor management disputes in New England.

Books by Muehl include "Politics for Christians" and "Mixing Religion and Politics."

Hershey Awarded $400 By Electrical Institute

Charles Hershey, senior in architecture from York, was granted a $400 award Thursday night at the Nittany Lion Inn for a home design entered in a contest sponsored by the Edison Electrical Institute.

The University was also given $200 by the Institute.
