

Players' Cast Announced; Daniels to Play 'Prince' Brandt Hits 1960 U.S. Census Statement Costs $118 Million

Joel Daniels, senior in art from Buffalo, N.Y., has gone from a hoodlum to a prince in one short month.

Daniels, who played the part of Charlie the "Cat burglar" in Players' "Detective Story," will play the part of the Prince Regent in the Players' production of "The Sleeping Prince."

Agenda Set For BusAd Conference

Eight more speakers have been scheduled for the curricula counseling conferences to be sponsored by the Business Administration Student Council from 7-9 p.m. today and tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The speakers who will discuss their respective fields today are Dr. Fred Kniffin, associate professor of marketing; Dr. Joseph F. Bradley, professor of finance; Dr. R. Hadley Waters, professor of transportation, and Dr. Robert D. Pashek, acting assistant dean of the College of Business Administration, who will speak on Trade and Transportation.

Thursday's speakers are Dr. Max D. Richards, associate professor of management, and Dr. Monroe Newman, head of the Department of Economics. Also Dr. Arthur L. Williams, instructor in commerce and Dr. Charles E. Woodring, assistant professor of real estate, who will both discuss the insurance and real estate curriculums.

Moderators for tonight's meeting are David Trager and Richard Kitzinger Lawrence Abram, president of the council, will moderate the session tomorrow night.

The purpose of the meetings is to acquaint third and fourth semester business administration students, who as yet have not chosen a major, with the various curricula in the College of Business Administration.

Circa Staff Meeting Tonight

The circulation staff of Circa will hold a meeting for former members and candidates at 7 tonight in 301 Boucke.

In a statement made to The Daily Collegian last night, John Brandt, Campus Party candidate for SGA Vice President, answered an earlier statement made by Dick Haber, University candidate for SGA President.

Haber's statement appeared in yesterday's Collegian and concerned a handbill written and distributed by Alan Elms, editor of Froth magazine.

"Mr. Haber, in yesterday's Collegian, made several charges against Campus Party. We shall not return these charges. We do find it extraordinary that the honest opinion of the Froth editor or the honest proposal of solid campaign planks can be called by the names Mr. Haber used," Brandt said.

Haber had referred to the comments made in Elms' circular as "partisan mudslinging." Brandt continued, "The Froth editor, Mr. Elms, has made it clear that the opinions stated in the editorial were his own; however, we have not heard any honest or specific denial of his statement. The same is true of the planks of Campus party."

"They are honestly proposed, they are clearly stated and, as last Friday's Collegian editorial made clear, the planks are, on the whole, feasible and worth fighting for. We request only that

The part of the young King Nicholas will be played by Charles McCardell, senior in arts and letters from West Chester, and Caroline Myers, freshman in home economics from Alexandria, Va., who was also in "Detective Story," will play the part of the King's young cousin, Louise.

The role of Peter, a very proper "gentleman's gentleman" to the Regent, will be played by James Anderson senior in business administration from DuBois.

The Grand Duchess, who is the wife of the Regent, will be played by Clarnell Cowan, graduate student in speech from Oklahoma City, Okla., and the Arch Duchess, the mother of Louise, will be played by Anne Cypher, sophomore in counseling from Pittsburgh.

The Baroness and the Countess ladies-in-waiting to the Grand Duchess will be played by Patricia Berry, sophomore in secondary education from Acme, and Lila Smyser, junior in arts and letters from Waynesboro, respectively.

Others in the cast are Marvin Katz as the Major Domo, Arthur Schubert as the butler, and Carl Castore and Stephen Lenhardt as the footmen.

The Friendliest
Clip Joint in Town

At the start of each decade the federal government takes a count of every man, woman and child in the United States for the purpose of reapportioning representatives to Congress.

During the next few weeks about 160,000 nose-counters will take the giant count at a total cost to the taxpayers of $118 million. The final result of the poll which was started April 1, will be a statistical portrait of the nation that will fill about 100,000 pages in more than 100 bound volumes.

Sixty-six enumerators will do the counting in Centre County. They will be responsible for getting the names and ages of every County occupant, whether permanent or not.

J. S. Cobb, borough census crew leader, said that the thousands of students living in the borough will complicate the count, but he pointed out that every student must be counted here since he will not be included in his home town census.

All students who live in rooms or apartments in private homes should give the date of their birth to the landlord if they aren't going to be at home when the census-takers call.

Enumerators work on their own time Mondays through Fridays and earn approximately $13 daily.

Every fourth householder will be asked to fill out a questionnaire with about 50 questions. Some typical questions are the extent of the family's education, means of transportation used in going to and from work, annual income, size of utility bills, number of television sets in the home and type of heating fuel used.

AIM May Alter Election Date

The Association of Independent Men may postpone their elections for officers, Harald Sandstrom, AIM president, said yesterday.

The elections were originally scheduled for tonight. The AIM Board of Governors will decide on the postponement at 7 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

Sandstrom said he would like to postpone elections because few independents who are not on the AIM Board of Governors know about them.

He also said that candidates who lose in SGA elections might want to run for AIM offices. Since SGA elections end today, candidates would not know whether or not they would be able to run for AIM offices.

Sandstrom did not give a definite date for the elections.
