

Old SGA Assembly to Finish Action On Alternates, Off-Campus Tribunal

The old SGA Assembly will hold a special meeting at 7 o'clock tonight to complete action on two constitutional amendments—one concerning the alternate system, the other, the Off-Campus Tribunal.

New assemblymen and new SGA officers will be installed during the regular meeting at 8 p.m. Both meetings will be held in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

Since a constitutional amendment requires reading and passage at three consecutive meetings it was felt that the same body should consider it at all three, hence the special meeting of the old Assembly.

The suggestions on the alternate system were proposed by the SGA Reorganization and Reevaluation Committee. At the first two readings of the proposed amendment Assembly approved deleting from the constitution all references to alternates. However, it also voted down the committee's suggestions which changed the alternate system, but did not eliminate it.

As the bill now stands there is no provision in the constitution allowing for alternates or prohibiting them.

The committee had suggested that alternates be permitted for Assemblymen who are student teaching or those who have lost the required 2.4 All-University average.

The new Assembly will consider a bill proposed by James Kridel (C.-Soph.) which would re-establish the deleted part allowing alternates for Assemblymen who must be off the campus to meet academic requirements. The SGA Cabinet Monday night opposed this bill.

The proposed amendment concerning the Off-Campus Tribunal would change the composition of the tribunal screening board. It would seat the out-going and newly elected tribunal chairman and three others appointed by them on the screening board.

At present the board is composed of the presidents of the Interfraternity Council and the Association of Independent Men (or their representatives) and the new and old chairman of tribunal.

Cabinet Monday approved in a straw vote a compromise proposal which would seat both the presidents of IFC and AIM, the new and old tribunal chairman and three others appointed by them.

Singer Will Edit Biz Ad Bulletin

The Business Administration Student Council appointed Stanley Singer, junior from Erdenheim, as editor of the 'Biz Ad Bulletin' for 1960-61.

In other business the council rejected a proposal for a Business Administration Career Day on the grounds that the preparation and expense are too great to warrant the program at this time.

The Council also decided to prepare a handbook for freshman which will describe the various activities which would be of interest to business administration majors. Jacqueline Hatters, freshman from Pittsburgh, was appointed editor of the booklet.

MILFORD ROBERTSON . . . AIM president in business administration from Teaneck, N.J., as treasurer. All these offices were unopposed.

In other business, the board voted to ask Food Service to open the Lion's Den until 11 p.m. on weekdays for a 2-week trial period. No definite time was requested for the trial period to take place.

Robert C. Proffitt, director of Food Service, told the board that opening the Lion's Den for an extra hour probably would not be feasible, since Food Service probably would lose money. He said the cost of the extended operation would have to be assumed by the students.

But when asked about a trial run, Proffitt said, "I guess we could do it."

He said the Lion's Den is now "very close to operating in the red." Employees working the extra hour would have to be paid time-and-a-half for overtime, he said. The problem of adjusting employees' shifts would be complicated, he said, by an agreement with their union that they work straight 8-hour shifts for a 30-hour week.

One member of the board suggested that the Lion's Den be open for take-out service only during the extra hour. Proffitt said that arrangement would be cheaper since it would require less employees.

The board also decided not to schedule any events on Mother's Day which would conflict with any events scheduled by the area councils.
