Nittany Protests

A SUDDEN ORDER TO EVACUATE brought action from residents of Nittany 27 on Sunday. Twenty-four hours earlier they had been ordered by Housing to move their belongings from the unit. Damage resulting from the protest was estimated as "very little."

Move Calls Order To Evacuate Unexpected

By KAREN HYNCKEAL and JOANNE MARK

Residents of Nittany 27 protested on Sunday afternoon the Department of Housing's unexpected order that the unit be evacuated.

Furniture and newspapers were scattered throughout the rooms during the protest which occurred 24 hours after the order.

Last night in a residence hall meeting the men in Nittany 23 were notified that they would have to move by Wednesday afternoon.

The decision to move Nittany 23 was made yesterday afternoon by Jerry Whalen, Nittany coordinator. Whalen said that the boys were not notified until last night to avoid the confusion that occurred after the residents of Nittany 27 were notified individually.

Sunday night at a meeting of the Nittany Council, Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the president for student affairs, said the evacuation was necessary so that the Physical Plant could begin improvement work immediately. The plant had been working on Nittany 41 and learned that they would not have the men or the equipment to repair all 24 dorms during the 12 weeks of summer, he said. According to Bernreuter, only two residence units would have to be split up completely. The rest will be moved together.

The main protest against the evacuation was that the residents had not been notified prior to Saturday.

Bernreuter, who attended the meeting with Frank J. Simes, dean of men, told the council: "The administration has been a real gem."

Showers to End Early Today; Good Travel Conditions Seen

Showers may throw a dampener on the travel plans of a few home-bound students this morning, but sunny skies and warm spring-like weather will provide excellent travel conditions for most of the student body this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow.

The showers will end in the State College area during the morning hours and in the extreme eastern sections of the state late in the afternoon.

Windy and warmer weather will follow in the wake of the rain and temperatures may rise to the highest readings of the season during the afternoon.

All roads in Central Pennsylvania are in "very good shape" according to the State Police. There are no detours on any main highways between here and Altoona or Lewisport.

All main roads are free of ice and snow. In fact the only places reporting any snow on the ground are the higher elevations of the northwestern quarter of the state.

Windy and warm weather is expected in all sections of Pennsylvania this afternoon with temperatures ranging from the low 50's in the northeastern portions of the state to the middle 60's in the southwest.

Partly cloudy, breezy and mild weather will prevail tonight with the mercury ranging from the middle and upper 30's in the northwestern quarter of the state to the upper 40's in the Philadelphia area.

Sunny and warm weather is due tomorrow with afternoon readings in the 50's in the northern counties and in the 60's in the south.

The Easter vacation officially begins at 11:50 tomorrow morning and ends at 1:10 p.m. next Wednesday.

Most University offices will remain open through Friday and they will re-open next Monday.

The Fred Pattee Library will be open during the following hours: 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., tomorrow; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday and Friday; 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday.

The residence halls will close at 4 p.m. tomorrow and they will re-open on Tuesday. The last meal will be lunch tomorrow and the first meal next week will be lunch on Wednesday.

The Hetzel Union Building will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day, but the Lion's Den will be closed. However, the Terrace Room will serve lunch and dinner every day at the regular times.

The program center of the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel will be closed Thursday through Sunday, but both chapels will remain open.

This is the last issue of The Daily Collegian until next Thursday morning.

Cuban Arm Demand Called Excessive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States said yesterday that demands from the Caribbean area for armaments go far beyond the needs of self-defense.

That is why, it told Cuba, the U.S. ban on shipping arms to the area has been broadened.

It also disclosed that the Castro government has turned down a U.S. appeal to return the two American fliers caught in a flight to Cuba March 21.

The Havana regime said the two Americans, William J. Schergales, 34, of West Hollywood, Fla., and Howard Rundquist, 33, of Miami, Fla., are subject to Cuban courts for a crime committed against Cuba.

The United States wanted the men returned for investigation and possible prosecution under U.S. laws. Havana's turnaround heightened Washington suspicions that Castro officials themselves had engineered the flight in a plot to embarrass the United States.

The broadened arms control policy was outlined in one of three notes made public by the State Department which rejected Cuban protests delivered March 25. The U.S. notes were handed to the Cuban foreign ministry by U.S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal in Havana yesterday.

The Castro regime had complained against a U.S. decision to revoke licenses for export of helicopters to Cuba.

Pickets to Investigate Housing Lists

The anti-segregationist group which has been picketing Bunn's Barber Shop, decided Sunday to investigate discriminatory specifications in the listing of approved housing published by the dean of men's office.

This listing states the racial and nationality preference of the landlord. The group will attempt to have only landlords who do not specify such preferences approved for the list.

"It is hoped that non-discriminatory practices can be instituted in this area of University policy and also that people not connected with the movement will see that its aims are moral in nature," Aaron Konstam, a leader of the group said.

Picketing of Bunn's, at 110 S. Allen St., will be temporarily halted tomorrow for the duration of the spring recess.

The non-violent, anti-segregation group, which has been picketing the shop to demonstrate their sympathy with Southern students attempting to end segregated facilities, will resume their picket line on April 21, from 2 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Officials of local Junior and Senior High Schools will be contacted by the public relations committee in an effort to send speakers from the group to state the facts and purposes of picketing to the high school students.

This move was prompted after two secondary school students from the area attended the Sunday meeting and stated that the principles for which the group was organized were not clear to many of their classmates.

A drive to raise money for students needing legal and financial assistance after their participation in anti-segregation demonstrations will begin May 1, and continue for three days, Mrs. Peter Day announced.

Booths will be set up on the Mall and at the Hetzel Union Building to collect funds from students. The committee is contacting the local Chamber of Commerce to find out if they may solicit in the downtown area.
