

9 to Participate In Intercollegiate Reading Festival

Nine students will participate in the 12th annual Intercollegiate Reading festival which will be held today and tomorrow in the HUB reading room.

Poetry readings will be held at 2 p.m. today and the evening reading hour will be held at 8 p.m. Short stories will be presented at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow, and readings of drama will be held at 1:15 p.m.

The chairmen are William Bonham, senior in arts from Forty Fort; Richard Horner, junior in arts and letters from Littlestown; Margaret McPherson, junior in arts and letters from New Park; and Emily Bradley, junior in arts and letters from Washington, D.C. University students who will present readings at the festival are Philip Webber, Kathren Kavanaugh and Patricia Kampmeier.

Mary Pappas, junior in arts and letters from Villanova, will serve as mistress of ceremonies at a banquet which will be held at 5:45 tonight at the HUB.

An open house will be held tonight in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel

—William Makepeace Thackeray, author of "Esmond," "Vanity Fair," and other noted novels, was also an artist. He illustrated many of his own writings.
