Science Grads Get Fellowships

Twenty Cooperative Graduate Fellowships for study have been awarded for 1960-61 by the National Science Foundation.

Dr. H. K. Schilling, dean of the Graduate School, said that the fellowships are in 11 fields of scientific study and that the recipients include 18 graduate students, one senior at the University and one senior who will be graduated by Smith College in June.

The fellowships provide stipends of $2200 per year and tuition is paid by the foundation.

Those chosen for the award applied to the Graduate School. Applications were screened and recommendations of the best applicants were forwarded to the National Science Foundation for final selection.

Those chosen are James Hoyland, Marcia Powidski, Smith College, William Nystrom, George Ripson, Gilbert Friedman, James Tietjen.

Richard Seyler, Walter D'Ardenne, Francis Carey, Paul Harrison, Manuel Ibanez, Franklin Prosser, Anthony Silvestri, Jerrold Pachman, Frederick Perry, Barry Kramer, Robert Petersen, Erasmus Strickland and Gerald Gibbs.

Outstanding Seniors

The 18 Outstanding Seniors elected Thursday and Friday will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in 217 HUB instead of Tuesday as was reported in last Tuesday's issue of The Daily Collegian.

Poetry Editor To Be Guest Of Workshop

John Ciardi, poet and poetry editor of the Saturday Review, will be the guest of the Poetry Workshop (English Composition 13) Thursday. A reception will be held for him in the Hetzel Union Building following the workshop session.

The reception for Ciardi, who is a professor of English at Rutgers University, will also be celebrating the 10th anniversary of Pivot, the annual poetry magazine which is published by members of the workshop.

Ciardi will also congratulate the winners of Pivot prizes who will be given their awards by Joseph L. Grucci, associate professor of English composition and director of the workshop.

Winner of the 10th Anniversary Prize is David Kipp, sophomore in arts and letters from Devon. James Desmond, junior in arts and letters from Lansdowne, is the winner of the Anthony James Grucci Memorial Award.

Thomas Hummel, junior in secondary education from York, and Alice Alan Hoyt, junior in arts and letters from Williamsport, are co-winners of the Samuel Barsky Memorial Award.

Outstanding Alums Will Be Honored

Small town U.S.A. produced the five alumni who will be tapped for the Distinguished Alumnus Awards during alumni reunion exercises on June 18.

President Eric A. Walker announced the names of the five alumni on behalf of the Board of Trustees. They are: James C. Gray '25, Samuel R. Hursh '16, Herbert E. Longenecker '33, C. Lee Rumberger '20, and J. Theodore Wolfe '30, all natives of Pennsylvania.

"They will be cited because their personal life, professional achievements, and community service best exemplify the objectives of Penn State," stated Walker.

Final Session of the Darwin Series:

Panel discussion on an Evangelical Lutheran View of Science

412 W. College Avenue

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood declares:

Graduation is all a matter of degree

Dear Dr. Frood: I'm working my way through college. I have delivered newspapers, worked as an usher in the local movie theater and rolled bandages for the school infirmary. What can my college life possibly prepare me for?

Beaver

Dear Beaver: Publishing, motion pictures, medicine.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am about to graduate top girl in my class. I have decided to take up a career, rather than squander my intellectual achievements on bawling babies, dreary housework and a sloppy husband. Don't you think I have made the right decision?

Smart Gal

Dear Smart: I do, and I feel safe in saying that I make that statement on behalf of every man in America.

Dear Dr. Frood: What a mess I have made out of college! I am flunking out because I have been so lazy. I can't get a job because I have made such a poor record. I have no friends because I have no college spirit. What is there left for me?

Chastened

Dear Chastened: You can always serve as a horrible example.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was outraged to learn that a rich, spoiled senior is planning to give sports cars as graduation presents to all the friends he has made in college. Is there any action I should take?

Dean

Dear Dean: Give him a big smile, put your arm around his shoulders and say, "How're things, pal?"

Dear Dr. Frood: In the past four years, I feel that I have become a wiser and better man. How much do I owe to my college for this?

Grateful

Dear Grateful: Shhh! Somebody must have forgotten to send you the bill.

Dear Dr. Frood: The older generation claims college life is too soft. Just a lark. Well, I am finishing four years, and look! The day I enrolled in college, the photograph at left was taken. At right is a recent photo. What does the older generation have to say about this?

Serious Student

Dear Serious: Just what we've said all along. Parties, parties, parties!

Dear Dr. Frood: Yesterday I visited my boy friend and I saw two Lucky Strikes burning in an ash tray. One had lipstick! Was I right in slapping him in the face and leaving the room?

Scorned

Dear Scorned: No. Why get jealous just because other girls smoke the same brand you do?

COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE MORE LUCKIES THAN ANY OTHER REGULAR!

When it comes to choosing their regular smoke, college students head right for fine tobacco. Result: Lucky Strike tops every other regular sold. Lucky's taste beats all the rest because L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.
