

Spikers Will Meet Quantico Marines

By JIM KARL

With six men already having met the Olympic qualifying standard and a seventh, world record holder Al Cantello, waiting in the wings, the Quantico Marines will present a formidable challenge to Penn State today at 1 p.m. on Beaver Field.

Cantello, who captains the Virginia based Gyenes, will be appearing in his first meet of the year. He set the global record in the javelin meet last year at Compton, Calif. by getting off a toss of 282-3 1/2.

A back injury has prevented him from doing any throwing in competition this year, but if it holds up today he is a safe bet to top the qualifying standard of 251.

The Olympic qualifying standard is a new procedure instituted to determine entries in the Olympics this August. An international numerical standard has been set for each event. Olympic hopefuls have from November to Olympic tryout time in June to meet this standard.

The three top men in the tryouts who have met the standard will then represent their country in the Olympics. If no one has met the Olympic standard, the top man in the tryouts will be the only entry permitted.

Three other Quantico performers who have bettered the Olympic qualifying standard are pole vaulters Mel Schwarz, Dave Tork and John Uelses. Schwarz, who has cleared 15-3, and his two cohorts should have no trouble topping the meet record of 13-8, set in 1956.

In the sprints Walt Fillman, an ex-William and Mary dashman and Southern Conference sprint champ, has done 10.4 for 100 meters to meet the qualifying standards. Ed Collymore has also bettered the standard for 200 meters.

Collymore, former Villanova great and holder of the world record for the 60-yard dash, is also shooting for a qualifying time (47.6) in the 400.

Quantico's sixth Olympic qualifier is high jumper Bob Gardner. The ex-St. Johns' athlete once did 6-11 in an exhibition in Pittsburgh, but his best official jump is 6-10.

Gardner, recently home from a Near East tour sponsored by the State Department, trains with a flak jacket weighing in excess of 20 pounds. This resistance type workout conditions him to greater weight, making it that much easier when he jumps in competition. Coach Major Benjamin Moore's aggregation will provide the stiffest opposition the Lions have faced in a dual meet in quite a while.

Ed Collymore

... world record holder in the 60-yard dash

Moore said that if his stars perform up to par Quantico should have no trouble sweeping through a tough dual meet schedule which includes Manhattan, Villanova and Navy. With Lion Mentor Cihck Werner standing nearby he politely neglected to add Penn State to his list of probable victims.

The Lions, with Dick Engelbrink running far below his old form, are off to a disappointing start and appear headed for a sub-par year. And to add misery to woe, two of the Lions' most consistent performers are sidelined with injuries.

Quarter-miler Pat Cunningham pulled a muscle in his thigh at the Penn Relays, and miler Herm Weber sprained his ankle in practice yesterday. Cunningham definitely will not see action today while Weber's status will not be known until meet time.

State's best chances appear to be the 100 and 880. If Bill Schwab, a 1:50 half-miler last year, comes up with a good race the Lions could rack up a first in this event. Mike Miller ran a 1:51.5 at the Quantico Relays earlier this year and is also a threat.

Bob Brown will try to turn the tables on Fillman in the 100-yard dash. Brown played second fiddle to Fillman at the Quantico Relays, but the Lion junior feels he can win if he gets off to a fast start.

In an added attraction, Penn State grad student Ed Moran will be permitted to compete in the mile run along with the regular entries from Quantico and Penn State.

His stiffest competition is expected to come from Pete Close, a former IC4A mile champion. In the Quantico Relays the former Penn State great had no trouble defeating Close as he breezed home in 4:04.6. Moran will be shooting for a 4:02 today, which meets the Olympic standards.

Yankees Top A's

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil McDougald's two-out single scored Bobby Richardson in the eighth inning and gave the New York Yankees an 8-7 triumph over Kansas City in a 3-hour, 28-minute game yesterday.

The victory, third straight for the Yankees, kept them in first place.

The victory went to Duren, New York's fifth pitcher. The fireballing right-hander took over with one out and a runner on first in the eighth.

Bosox Edge Tigers

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Malzone's ninth inning single brought Boston a 3-2 victory over Detroit yesterday in a last-ditch rally against one-time Red Sox nemesis Jim Bunning.

The loss, ninth in a row for the Tigers, was pinned on Bunning who was only three putouts shy of a 2-0 shutout.

The winning hit was a high looping fly which fell in front of onrushing Al Kaline in short center with the bases full of Bostonians.

Linksmen Compete In Eastern Tourney

By JOHN MORRIS

More than 100 college golfers will tee off this morning as the 26th annual Eastern Intercollegiate championships get under way on Pitt's Wildwood course.

Yale has won the team championship six of the last seven years and the Elis are favored again. Penn State finished second last year and the Lions have high hopes of taking all the marbles in this year's tourney.

Other teams to watch are Penn and Navy. Penn has practically their whole team back from last year and Navy always plays well in the Easterns. It was Navy that interrupted Yale's domination of the tourney by taking the 1958 team title on their own course.

Each of the 15 participating teams will enter seven men and the five lowest scores on each team for 36 holes will count toward the team title.

The 16 men with the lowest scores today will move into match play tomorrow and Monday with the individual winner being decided after Monday afternoon's round.

State's captain Dick Burgoon is one of the men to watch for the individual title. Burgoon was medalist in last year's tourney.

Nittany coach Joe Boyle also expects a good showing from big Bob Devine, the Lions' number two man this year. Devine is a streaky player and if he's on his game he could surprise the experts.

Penn's Don Norbury won the 1959 match-play championship after beating Burgoon in a preliminary match.

Wildwood is only three years old and this is the first major tournament ever held there. The Lions defeated Pitt on the course earlier in the season, 5-2, and there doesn't seem to be too much chance of the Panthers cashing in on their home course advantage.

This year's entrants will also be shooting at the course record. Ex-Pitt great Ron Schwarzel has the present record—68—but the course is in better shape now than it was when the Panther star set the mark.

The Lions have suffered losses to Penn and Georgetown already this season but get a chance to even the score in the one that really counts today.
