

Lions End Spring Drills With Blue-White Game

BY SANDY PADWE

Dick Hoak will be the center of attraction this afternoon on Beaver Field when Penn State's Liberty Bowl champions wind up spring football practice with the annual Blue-White game.

The football game will immediately follow the track meet between Penn State and the Quantico Marines.

Hoak, who could be the answer to Penn State's quarterback problems, will lead the Whites against the Blues headed by Galen Hall and Lion captain Henry Opperman.

State coach Rip Engle is counting on Hoak, an ex-halfback, to give him the needed depth at quarterback now that All-American Richie Lucas is ready for graduation.

Hoak hasn't played there since his freshman days, but from his spring performances you'd never know it.

If he keeps up his fine work and Hall plays as well as he did last year, observers feel that the loss of Lucas won't hurt as much as expected.

A former Jeannette, Pa. star, Hoak has all the qualifications to become a standout. He is a good passer and improves daily. As a runner, Lion fans are well aware of his ability which was good enough to make him a starter at halfback the past two years.

Hoak will direct a backfield that finds Eddie Caye and Dick Pae at halfbacks and freshman star Dave Hayes at fullback.

Backfield coach Frank Patrick says Caye has been looking good in spring drills after battling injuries for the last two years.

Caye was one of the surprises of the 1957 team, but a knee injury sidelined him in 1958 and he missed the whole campaign. He aggravated the injury last fall and didn't see much action, but right now he's healthy and has hopes of a good year.

The White line will be made up of John Bozick and either Cliff Davis or Ray Rakowski at ends, Jim Smith and Stu Barber at tackles, Frank Waresak and

Eddie Caye

Wayne Berfield at guards and Bill Saul at center.

Saul was forced back to the pivot position after playing guard all spring when Jay Huffman, the most valuable player in the Liberty Bowl, came up with a broken bone in his foot.

For the Blue it will be Hall at quarterback, Jim Kerr and Bud Torris at halfbacks and Sam Sobczak at fullback.

Opperman and Bob Mitinger will be the ends, Charlie Sieminski and Terry Monaghan will be at tackle with Joe Blasenstein and Bill Popp at guard. Dick Vogel-song will be the center.

Joe Paterno will coach the Blue Squad along with Jim O'Hara and Dan Radakovich.

Tor Toretto, J. T. White, Frank Patrick and Pappy Bruce will handle the Whites with Rip Engle a very interested spectator.

The Red Worrell Memorial Trophy will be awarded at halftime to the player who has shown the most improvement during spring drills. Frank Korbin was last year's winner.

Steelers Trade Lasse

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have traded linebacker Dick Lasse to the Washington Redskins for tackle Will Renfro and a high draft choice. Lasse played his college ball at Syracuse.

Stickmen Lose, 6-0; Play Orange Today

Special to The Collegian
GENEVA, New York, May 6—

The Penn State lacrosse team set a record here today. For the first time since Earnie Baer took over as head coach four years ago the Lions were shutout, 6-0, by Hobart.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Lions who play at Syracuse Saturday. State has been able to win only one game this year, over Loyola in the opener.

Today's play was typical of the past four games with the Nittanians unable to muster any resemblance of an attack. State managed only 11 shots, six of which never reached the Hobart goalie. Lou Meier took seven of Penn State's shots.

Hobart (6-2) is having one of its finest seasons in years, due mainly to the efforts of Larry Atkinson, the second leading scorer in the country. Atkinson is only a sophomore and is within four goals of breaking Hobart's scoring record.

The Hobart flash fired in three and singlehandedly whipped the Lions. He opened the Hobart attack at 8:40 of the first period by smashing in a score past Lion goalie John Castella.

Fifteen seconds later John Bracken gave the Statesmen a 2-0 lead with an unassisted shot that caught the corner of the net.

Then Atkinson took over, scoring twice in the second period. Both were unassisted.

Bob Herne and Ralph Bott closed the scoring for Hobart with goals at 4:59 and 19:58 of the final period.

Hobart's attack peppered the Lion goalies with 36 shots. However, it was the best game the Lion defense played all year. Goalie Castella had 16 saves with Jim Irwin stopping three. Castella was in the nets on five of the six Hobart goals.

After Saturday's game with Syracuse, the Lion stickmen have four games remaining. Next week they close out their home schedule with games against Lehigh Wednesday and a Saturday contest with Swarthmore.

Spend Mother's Day Weekend at LA GALLERIA

Where you you get a delicious steak dinner for $1.19. This is your chance to show the parents our notorious cellar, owned and operated by former students. Mom and Dad will rejoice in the splendor of the dimly lit restaurant which caused so much local consternation a month ago. It's a Penn State landmark which they shouldn't miss. Now they can see what they paid that $34 for.
