

Popp Wins Award; Blues Win, 32-22

Guard Bill Popp won the Red Worrell Memorial Trophy and the Blues beat the Whites, 32-22, Saturday as Penn State ended Spring football practice before 4000 on Beaver Field. Popp, a hard-nosed hitter from Steelton, became the second straight guard to win the coveted trophy. Frank Korbini won it last year.

The trophy, honoring the most improved player during spring drills, was established in memory of Red Worrell, a promising freshman fullback, who was accidentally electrocuted during the Christmas vacation in 1957.

Popp showed the huge Mother's Day crowd just why he won the award when he recovered a White fumble early in the game to set up the Blues' first score. With Galen Hall guiding a backfield composed of Jimmy Kerr and Al Gursky at halfbacks and Sam Sobczak at fullback, the Blues marched 50 yards for the TD with Gursky carrying over from the two. The try for the extra point failed.

The Blues made it 12-0 a few minutes later after a 40-yard drive with freshman quarterback Pete Liske scoring on a keeper play from the three. Again the PAT was no good.

The Blues didn't let up and scored again early in the second period on another 50-yard drive which was highlighted by a 47-yard pass-run play from Galen Hall to Bob Mitinger. Hall was stopped trying for the two pointer and it was 18-0 Blue.

The Whites broke into the scoring column midway in the second period when quarterback Dick Hoak pitched out to Lewistown's Junior Powell who

LaX Team Loses Fifth Straight, 16-5

Hampered again by the lack of an offensive attack, the Penn State lacrosse team went down to its fifth straight defeat at Syracuse, 16-5. The Lions' record now stands at 1-5.

Six different Syracuse players hit the scoring column, but Bob Hunter and Frank Kierman did the bulk of the Orange scoring, getting eight of the sixteen Syracuse goals.

Syracuse, now 5-3, jumped off to a 3-0 first quarter lead and then watched Penn State tighten the game with two second period scores. After that, though, it was all Syracuse as they quickly jumped on the State goalies for eight straight scores and a commanding 11-2 halftime lead.

In the second half State tightened their defense, holding the Orange to five goals but the damage had been done.

For the first time this year Gordon Bennett was not the Lions' leading scorer. Dick Bullock paced the Nittanians with two goals, both in the second quarter. They were State's first two scores.

Dick Hammond, Jim Kane and Meier were the other State scorers. Although Bennett was held scoreless, he did manage to get two assists.

scattered 35 yards to paydirt. Hoak passed to end Dave Truitt for the extra point and it was 18-0, Blue.

After Popp left the game with a separated shoulder early in the third quarter, the Whites took advantage and moved 70 yards to make it 18-14. Hoak, who scored the touchdown, kept for the extra point and the Whites were within two, 18-16.

Liske, impressive in his first taste of actual varsity action, set up the Blues' fourth tally when he passed 10 yards to Dave Alexander to up the score to 26-18.

But the Whites came right back and Bob Kline's one-yard plunge made it 26-22.

The left arm of Jon Lang sewed up the win for the Blue midway in the last quarter on a 45-yard pass play to Steve Popp and the game ended 32-22, Blue.

EUROPE MADE SIMPLE: No. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess I have never been to Europe myself, but I eat a lot of Scotch broth and French dressing, so I am not entirely without qualification.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Lichtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The capital of England is London—or Liverpool, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly, the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two

Another "must" while in London is a visit to Buckingham Palace. Frequently in the afternoons Her Majesty the Queen comes out on the balcony of the palace and waves to her loyal subjects below. The loyal subjects wave back at the Queen. However, they only continue to wave as long as Her Majesty is waving. This of course is the origin of wave lengths from which we have derived numerous benefits including radio, television and the A&P Gypsies.

Be sure also when you are in London to visit the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint but terribly dis-organized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Jo's Boys, taught all his life to simplify English spelling. He once asked a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?" The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw suggested, "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish. Gh as in enough, o as in woman, t as in motion."

It must be remembered, however, that Shaw was a vegetarian—which, all in all, was probably a good thing. As Di-raeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop-in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who knows flavor did not go out when filters came in. Be sure you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sightseeing, there is nothing so welcome as a fine, flavorful Marlboro and a foot bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens, Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall, Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

Well sir, now you know all you need to know about England. Next week we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

And you also know all you need to know about smoking: Marlboro, if you want the best of the filter cigarettes—Philip Morris if you want the best of the unfiltered cigarettes.
