

Workshop to Emphasize Awards Highlight Honors Day Family Finance Plans

By PAT HALLER

A summer workshop in family finance will be offered for educators from June 13 to July 1.

Teachers enrolled in the course will engage in "laboratory" work to develop special materials or projects for their classrooms or school systems back home and upon successful completion of the course will receive credit toward a graduate degree.

The workshop will cover personal income, budgeting, banking, consumer credit, renting and buying a home, life insurance and other insurance, social security, pensions, savings and investments, personal taxes, wills and estates. Dr. James Gemmell, professor of education, and coordinator for the program, explained

The Penn State workshop, one of 15 such summer courses offered by universities throughout the United States, will draw its students from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and eastern Ohio.

"These workshops," Gemmell said, "are part of a long range program aimed at giving young people in the nation's schools and colleges accurate and useful instruction in the management of personal and family finances."

The teachers who will be enrolled in the workshop teach subjects such as home economics, business education, mathematics, social studies and family living and guidance in junior and senior high schools, junior colleges, liberal arts colleges, and teacher training institutions.

The Penn State workshop is sponsored jointly by the Colleges of Education, Business Administration, and Home Economics in cooperation with the National Committee for Education in fam-

Armed Forces Display--

(Continued from page seven)
Peace" program. Peaceful uses of radioisotopes in medicine, industry and agriculture are featured at this display.

The four methods of detection of the enemy, radar, surface and sub-surface sonar, lookouts and the magnetic air-borne detector are pictured at the Navy display. There is also a display of a Homing Torpedo Mark 43, a light-weight, acoustic homing torpedo used by anti-submarine planes and destroyers.

CUT TRAVEL COSTS

Sheraton Hotels STUDENT-FACULTY DISCOUNTS

Here's money-saving news for students, faculty and all other college personnel. During weekends and college vacations, Sheraton offers you special low rates — even lower rates when two or more occupy the same room. Special group rates are provided for athletic teams, clubs, other college organizations. You get these discounts at any of Sheraton's 54 hotels in the U.S.A., Hawaii and Canada by presenting a Sheraton Card. To get a Sheraton Student I.D. Card or Faculty Guest Card with credit privileges, write us. Please state where you are a full time faculty member or student.

Mr. Pat Green
College Relations Dept.
Sheraton Corporation
470 Atlantic Avenue
Boston 16, Mass.

Seven different groups presented awards at the annual Honors Day sponsored by the Honor Society Council yesterday in the Mineral Industries auditorium.

Dr. Corliss R. Kinney, president of the Honor Society Council, presided over the award ceremonies which honored students with outstanding scholastic records.

Thirty-one juniors and seniors were presented with the Evan Pugh Medals which are annually given to students ranking in the top 0.5 per cent of their class. The recipients are chosen by the Senate Committee on Scholarships and Awards and the medals are presented by the Honor Society Council.

The award winners are Barbara Bundy, Karl Tremba, Melanie Schlapak, Suzanne Shazer, David Perkins, Ruth Angelotti, Dorothy Price, Arthur Furman, Charles Gaston, Alfred Steinmetz, William Thompson, Sandra Kresge, Ronald Althouse, Darla Duross, Sandra Rimm, Charles Meck.

Dorothy Baker, Phyllis Breisch, Donald McCreary, Robert Vijuk, Murray Barbriek, Alan Elms, Elizabeth Downing, Elizabeth Floegel, Robin Brody, William

Ward, Margaret Orchard, James Fawcett, Bradlee Karan, Bernice Bongiorno, John Puhalla.

The first annual President's Book Awards were also presented at the honors ceremony by President Eric A. Walker. The recipients were all freshmen who had earned a 4.0 average in their first semester. Fifteen freshmen received this award. Seven of the recipients were from various centers throughout the state.

The President Sparks Award is annually given to the student who has made the most notable improvement in earning a 4.0 average. This year's award was presented to Carol Ann McKartney, junior in elementary education from Pittsburgh. She earned a 4.0 average and improved upon her past semester's average of a 2.06. This award was presented by Dr. Corliss Kinney.

Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary society, presented $50 scholarship awards to two outstanding freshmen on the basis of scholastic record. The awards were given to Barbara Lee Watchorn, freshman in political science from Pittsburgh and to Guy Everson, freshman in forestry at the Mount Alto forestry camp.

Four seniors received the John W. White Awards annually given to outstanding seniors. As highest ranking member of her class Lois DiJoseph, senior in elementary education from Jenkintown, won the John W. White Medal.

Three fellowships were also given as part of this award. They were received by Ronald Rienhard, Vernon Barger and James Fawcett. The fellowships are to be used for graduate study in any field at any college.

Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, presented financial grants to five junior women. The recipients were selected on the basis of academic excellence and financial need.

The winners are Ruth Angelotti, junior in secondary education from Erie; Dorothy Baker, junior in chemistry from Pottsville; Patricia Berg, junior in political science from State College; Carol Braidic, junior in home economics from McKees Rock; and Carolyn Cope, junior in secondary education from Schwenkville. The grants given by Mortar Board totaled $500.

THESIS
MULTILITHING
FAST - ECONOMICAL
COMMERCIAL PRINTING
132 E. COLLEGE AD 5-4754

Remember how great cigarettes used to taste?

Luckies still do.

When the class of '50 comes back for reunion this year—you'll see a lot of Lucky Strike smokers. Reason is, these graduates know how a cigarette is supposed to taste.

They still smoke Luckies.

They've seen a lot of changes in smoking since they left college. But they haven't found anything that beats fine tobacco—or anything that comes close to that Lucky Strike taste.

And funny thing! The Class of '60 seems to have made the same discovery about Lucky Strike. Today, Luckies are the best-selling regular cigarette in colleges throughout the country!

So, if you remember how great cigarettes used to taste, you'll find that Luckies still do.

Product of The American Tobacco Company — "Tobacco is our middle name!"