

Thousands Greet Ike On Summit Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, who as war hero and president is used to tumultuous tributes, came home yesterday from the failure at the summit to receive one of the warmest welcomes of his life.

More than 2000 persons, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon and leaders of both political parties, were at the airport to greet him.

'K' Discussed By Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons yesterday it is too early to say if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's rupture of the summit talks in Paris is an isolated episode or a deliberate change in Soviet policy.

He made plain his feeling that Khrushchev was to blame for the breakdown and gave Parliament his version of the dramatic and fantastic events in Paris beginning last Sunday.

Macmillan's review was the first inside story given by any of the three Western participants—President Charles de Gaulle of France, President Eisenhower and himself. Deputies listened intently and diplomats crowded the visitors' galleries.

The Prime Minister's account suggested that the incident of the downed American U2 reconnaissance plane became the make-or-break issue of the summit conference sometime between May 9 and May 15. The talks were to have opened May 16.

U.S. Extends Atlas Range To 9000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force fired an Atlas missile more than a third of the way around the world yesterday in a spectacular demonstration of the range, power and accuracy of this big U.S. military rocket.

The epochal 52½-minute flight carried the Atlas 9000 miles to a preselected target in the Indian Ocean southwest of the tip of South Africa. It was the longest surface-to-surface missile flight on record, exceeding the 7750 miles claimed by the Soviet Union for a rocket it launched into the Central Pacific last January.

The longest distance covered previously by the Atlas was 6325 miles.

Extension of the Atlas range to 9000 miles would bring more targets within reach and permit U.S. missile bases to be located farther from any potential enemy.

For example, the 6325-mile Atlases now stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., could reach only the northern two-thirds of the Soviet Union. The added range would cover all of the Soviet Union.

Nixon to Accept Democrat Challenge On Administration's Summit Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is ready to accept the challenge if Democrats make the Eisenhower administration's handling of the summit a presidential campaign issue.

Announcing this yesterday, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, interpreted as "a split in the Democratic party" criticisms directed by Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, at President Eisenhower's summit conference policies.

"I was shocked to find him — Stevenson — critical of the President when other Democratic leaders, including Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, are talking in terms of national unity," Klein told a news conference.

Stevenson said in Chicago Thursday night that while national unity is to be desired, too much is at stake for Americans in the collapse of the summit conference to "sweep this whole sorry mess under the rug in the name of national unity."

Police Chief Robert Murray said Eisenhower was greeted by well over 200,000 people.

Standing bareheaded in the sun, the President said simply: "It truly means a lot to me."

Those who were close to him reported that at times Eisenhower seemed to be blinking back tears.

Certainly there were sober moments.

In his brief speech at the airport, Eisenhower said that only 30 minutes earlier he had learned that a slow, unarmed C47, with no military significance, was missing in Europe.

Because of bad weather, Eisenhower said, it may have strayed over the border into Communist East Germany.

Nearly two hours later came word from East German police that the plane had landed there, and that those aboard had been arrested.
