

Ike Bids Hawaii 'Aloha' At End of Far-East Trip

HONOLULU (P) — A weary President Eisenhower arrived in balmy Hawaii yesterday after a 5200-mile flight from Korea to a rousing, warm welcome from residents of the 50th state.

Ending his eight-day Far Eastern tour, Eisenhower found 3000 shirt-sleeved men and women in gay Hawaiian dress to greet him.

Tens of thousands lined his motorcade route into downtown Honolulu to cheer Eisenhower, still smiling despite the rigors of his travels.

His vacation home in this semi-tropical Pacific island resort will be the secluded Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station, where he plans to rest several days.

Japanese-Americans turned out at the airport and along the route to hail Eisenhower.

"Aloha Ike," "Welcome Ike," said banners held aloft by young Japanese boys and girls, proclaiming "The United Japan Society."

Eisenhower canceled a visit to Japan, the scheduled high point of his 23,000-mile Asian swing, because of anti-American riots by fanatic leftwing Tokyo student.

Eisenhower came to sun-drenched Hawaii after a 10-hour flight from Seoul, where hundreds of thousands of applauding, flag-waving Koreans gave him an enthusiastic farewell as he wound up his 24 hour goodwill stay.

Eisenhower was welcomed by Gov. William F. Quinn and a corps of leading state and military dignitaries.

Mrs. Quinn placed a plump, bright red carnation lei around the President's shoulders. But she omitted the traditional kiss of welcome that usually goes along with the lei.

The President and the governor reviewed an honor guard of the armed services while thousands screamed Aloha.

Eisenhower told the airport crowd after mounting a red-topped platform:

"It is a signal privilege that I was to land here on this beautiful island. For me, it is the first time since it became a state.

"This has been in the making a long time."

The President gave his "warmest and affectionate greetings to Hawaii, where we have a true sample of men living together."

He said "men of every race, color and creed live here together in mutual satisfaction." He mentioned the establishment of the East-West Cultural Center in Hawaii, aimed at bringing together the people of Asia and the West.

Quinn told the President Hawaii is deeply honored that he chose to come to Hawaii.

"We owe you a great amount of gratitude for the support of our aspirations for statehood," he said.

President Finds Favor In Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (P) — President Eisenhower left South Korea for Honolulu last night, completing a Far Eastern tour on which he was cheered by millions of Asians but forced to bypass Japan because of left-wing rioting there.

Eisenhower left with a pledge from South Korea's reform government to guard against wasting the hundreds of millions of dollars in aid the United States pours in each year.

"I pledge that we will do everything possible to insure that American aid funds are wisely, efficiently and honestly used for the benefit of all the Korean people," Prime Minister Huh Chung declared in his parting words to Eisenhower at Seoul International Airport.

Wildly cheered by one million Koreans who blocked his motorcade Sunday and by hundreds of thousands more on Monday, Eisenhower on departure said it was a "memorable experience" to see "so many Korean people along the route of travel I have followed."

In all, nearly three million Filipinos, Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, Okinawans and Koreans welcomed the first American president to tour the Orient while in office.

The only anti-American demonstration Eisenhower actually saw was on Okinawa, where 1,500 pro-Japanese chanted "go home" and snake-danced.

Food Surpluses For UN -- Nixon

MINOT, N.D. (P) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said yesterday the free world should turn its food surpluses over to the United Nations to feed the one billion persons who go to bed hungry each night.

This was part of a five-point program offered by Nixon in a speech here. It was his first farm speech since the congressional campaign of 1958.

He shied away from the controversial price support program because he said it wouldn't be proper for him to comment on an administration bill which is still before Congress.

Nixon said he hadn't planned to present a complete farm program but that he had passed these ideas on to the Republican platform committee.

Some Air Pilots Return to Work

NEW YORK (P) — Eastern Air Lines pilots returned to work at some points yesterday, but operations still were limited. Pan American World Airways had trouble manning its flights.

For Eastern, a 10-day stoppage of pilots appeared to be tapering off.

The airline said previously idle crews had checked in for duty at Boston, New Orleans, Atlanta and Chicago. However, flight schedules still were crippled in New York and Miami.

Pan Am was hit by a related problem, with 115 of its pilots calling in sick. The company said it was uncertain how many of its regular flights would take off on schedule.

A third airline, National, faced the threat of a strike today at midnight in a dispute with the Air Line Pilots Assn. over wages and working conditions.

Telephone, Travel Tax Gets Vote

WASHINGTON (P) — The Senate voted yesterday to keep alive 762 million dollars a year in telephone-telegraph and travel taxes, and to close what critics called tax loopholes worth almost another billion dollars in revenue.

This tax writing on the Senate floor was spearheaded by a group of Senators who argued world conditions make it unwise to cut levies now.

Democratic Senators — anxious to avoid being tagged as fiscal irresponsibles — took the stand that recent spending increases approved by the Senate should be met in part at least by increased revenue.

The action came as the Senate considered a bill to extend until July 1, 1961, four billion dollars worth of corporation income and excise levies. The measure also would raise the national debt ceiling eight billion dollars — to 293 billion — for the coming year.

In extending the telephone-telegraph and travel taxes, the Senate upheld President Eisenhower's wishes and overruled its own finance committee which had recommended these levies be allowed to expire at the end of this month. The House already has voted to extend these taxes.

Father of Princess Grace Dies of Intestinal Cancer

PHILADELPHIA (P) — John B. Kelly Sr., famed athlete of another day and father of Monaco's Princess Grace, died at home yesterday at the age of 70.

His doctor said death was caused by intestinal cancer. Kelly recently underwent abdominal surgery. He had also been operated on a year ago.

The famous daughter, a movie queen before her marriage to Prince Rainier of the little Mediterranean principality, came home to be with her father in a critical time. She returned to Monaco only last week, her father having been discharged from the hospital.

Kelly was a colorful member of a family often called fabulous and his life story is a study in success, American style. From time-keeper and bricklayer, he rose to preeminence in business, sports and as a patron of the arts.

Not the least of his achievements, according to his lights, was what he considered a vindication before all the world of the right of a man who had worked with his hands to compete equally with the most aristocratic.

A lifelong resident of Philadelphia, Kelly was born Oct. 4, 1889, one of 10 children.

At one time or another, he held the amateur championship in every branch of sculling. He was the only man ever to win the singles and doubles in the same Olympic Games.
