

Pep Rallies Spark Spirit For Games

Leading songs and cheers at varsity sports events, especially football, is the job of the 16 members of the University Cheerleading Squad. This spirited group also leads the pep rallies, held before each game in front of the Hetzel Union building or Old Main.

The pep rallies are highlighted by parades around campus, poster contests and bonfires. Last year, after winning the Army game, students staged an impromptu car parade through State College and the campus.

Freshmen will get a chance to meet the cheerleaders at the frosh song and cheer practice on Thursday night at Beaver Stadium. Also in attendance will be the Nittany Lion, esteemed object of much joking and jesting at football contests.

The Block 'S' Club, newly formed last year, will work with the cheerleaders in sponsoring the pep rallies. They will also sponsor the University's first flash-card section.

Phys Ed Prof to Speak

Dr. Arthur L. Harnett, professor of physical education at the University, will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Heart Association today at Bedford Springs. He will speak on "School Health and the Heart Associations."

HAIL TO THE LION—Pep rallies lend to the spirit of the football season. This one took place before the Syracuse game last year. Freshmen will get a chance to try out their cheering on Thursday evening.

Police to Try Out New Traffic Plan

A new traffic pattern to be used exclusively for directing traffic to and from home football games will get its first test Sept. 17 when the Nittany Lions open the 1960 football season.

The traffic pattern was designed by University officials in cooperation with Borough and Pennsylvania State police for the purpose of eliminating confusion.

The plan is based on a color code which designates specific parking areas as red, blue, yellow, green, and black. Ticket buyers have been given the opportunity to rent parking spaces close to the stadium, for the season or for an individual game. Unreserved spaces further from the field will be available on the day of the game for a smaller fee.

Those who reserved a space for the season have been provided with large stickers with two-inch high letters "red". Those having a space for an individual game only have stickers lettered "green", while press and official guests have "yellow" stickers. The blue areas will not be used this year and the black is the unreserved area.

Signs posted at strategic intersections will refer to these colors in providing traffic information. Borough and State police will also make use of the color code in directing traffic.

All roads, with one exception, will continue as two-way, if they are normally two-way. The exception will be the section of Curtin Road Extension (3-Mile Rd.) at the Stadium. From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. this section will be one-way going east and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. one-way going west. The purpose of this restriction is to permit pedestrians to reach the stadium with a maximum of safety. With this restriction there should be little traffic on this section of Curtin Rd.

University Dr. will not be open from the new cloverleaf up to the Poultry Plant for the first game and perhaps not for the entire season, but the remainder of the new road will be in use. Cars approaching red, green, and unreserved parking areas from Park Ave. will make use of the drive.

'J. B.' to Highlight 'Series' Program

"J.B.," the Archibald McLeish play which for two seasons has been playing to capacity Broadway audiences, will be one of the highlights of this year's Artist Series of 15 presentations.

Appearances by Marcel Marceau, Errol Garner and the Robert Shaw Chorale have also been scheduled for the series.

The Artist Series -- pre-paid through student fees -- provides entertainment and culture for students by presenting a wide representation of the work being done by artists in all fields both in this country and abroad.

Two performances of "J.B." have been scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 30. Marcel Marceau will appear on Sunday, Nov. 20. The noted French pantomimist will perform in Recreation Hall.

Errol Garner will appear with brass and percussion accompaniment to give a rendition of his jazz and blues piano style. His performance is scheduled for Sunday, March 19, in Recreation Hall. The Robert Shaw Chorale will appear on Sunday, Jan. 8, also in Rec Hall.

The rest of this year's schedule is as follows: Sunday, Oct. 9, National Symphony Orchestra with Jaime Laredo, violinist; Wednesday, Oct. 19, Leon Fleisher, pianist.

Thursday, Nov. 10, Fischer-Dieskau, baritone; Thursday, Dec. 1, the Societa Corelli; Sunday, Feb. 12, the Pittsburgh Orchestra.

Saturday, Feb. 18, Merce Cunningham and Dance Co. with David Tudor and John Cage; Friday, March 24, Victoria de los Angeles, soprano; Sunday, April 9, the National Ballet of Canada.

Andres Segovia will appear on Thursday, April 20, and Friday, April 21. The series will close with Ronald Roseman, oboist, who will appear on Tuesday, May 2, with the University Orchestra.

Tickets for these programs are distributed free to students upon presentation of matriculation cards at the HUB desk. A limited number of tickets are also put on sale to the public.

The Artist Series was born three years ago and has featured such artists as Dave Brubeck, Rise Stevens, the Danish National Orchestra, the Ballet Espanol and the Canadian Players.

Robert Frost, the Chicago Ballet, the Pittsburgh Symphony and Hal Holbrook were included in last year's program.

De Lissovoy Gets Home Ec Position

Dr. Vladimir de Lissovoy has been named associate professor of child development in the College of Home Economics, effective Sept. 1. He assumed the position held by Della J. Avery who retired on June 30.

Since 1949, Dr. de Lissovoy has served as professor of child development in the State University of New York College of Education at Oswego and Oneonta.

Both his bachelor of art and master of art degrees were earned at the University of Colorado. A doctor of philosophy degree in child development and family relations was conferred by Cornell University in 1959.
