

Telephone Trainees Practice Here

Out of 48 seniors interviewed for jobs in telephone companies this week not one was hired, and as horrible as this statistic looks, the students are reported to be completely happy.

The group has just completed a successful experiment in the University Placement Service offices by participating as test interviewees for the training of six telephone company recruiters.

The prospective recruiters interviewed the students for approximately 20 minutes each, and then listened to a recording of the interview which was carefully analyzed by a trained coach. Practicing what was learned in the critique, the interviewer returned to his next interview, which was likewise recorded and studied.

Not only did the students receive a valuable preview of coming interviews, but they received a five dollar gratuity for each interview.

The program was organized last year by the Philadelphia office of Bell Telephone and five of the interviewers were from the Pennsylvania branch of that company. The sixth interviewer was from the Southern New England Co., New Haven, Conn.

J. Edward Murphy, general personnel supervisor of Bell's Philadelphia office, said, "The conditions under which the program is conducted at Penn State, with the cooperation of Placement director George N. P. Leetch and his staff, are ideal."

Officials of other telephone companies and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., who were here to observe the program this week, are reported to have been very impressed.

Education Too Big--

"I only recited twice in Professor Willis' class," Dr. Nixon said. "I'd rather have 400 for straight lectures" like that than any other teaching method. He added that 10-week terms are the "only way to do it—they'll get to it here."

Greek Open Houses--

(Continued from page one) J. Lipp suggested that Residence Community Coordinators be asked to aid in the holding of community council elections and the administration of these councils as they oversee the community as a whole.

Gage Peck, first vice president of the Senate, was appointed Over-All Elections Screening Chairman by Margaret McPherson, president of Senate. Miss Peck and her committee will begin action immediately to set up elections for the councils.

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH, DEAR FRIENDS

Today, if I am a little misty, who can blame me? For today I begin my seventh year of writing columns for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Seven years! Can it be possible? It seems only yesterday I walked into the Marlboro offices, my knickers freshly pressed, my cowlick wetted down, my oilcloth pencil box clutched in my tiny hand. "Sirs," I said to the makers of Marlboro—as handsome an aggregation of men as you will find in a month of Sundays, as agreeable as the cigarettes they make—mild yet hearty, robust yet gentle, flip-top yet soft pack—"Sirs," I said to this assemblage of honest tobaccoists, "I have come to write a column for Marlboro Cigarettes in college newspapers across the length and breadth of this great free land of America."

We shook hands then—silently, not trusting ourselves to speak—and one of the makers whipped out a harmonica and we sang sea chanties and bobbed for apples and played "Run, Sheep, Run," and smoked good Marlboro Cigarettes until the campfire had turned to embers.

"What will you write about in your column?" asked one of the makers whose name is Trueblood Strongheart.

"Should co-eds go out for football?"

"About the burning issues that occupy the lively minds of college America," I replied. "About such vital questions as: Should the Student Council have the power to levy taxes? Should proctors be armed? Should coeds go out for football?"

"And will you say a kind word from time to time about Marlboro Cigarettes," asked one of the makers whose name is Honor Bright.

"Why, bless you, sirs," I replied, chuckling silverly, "there is no other kind of word except a kind word to say about Marlboro Cigarettes—the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste—that happy combination of delicious tobacco and exclusive selectrate filter—that loyal companion in fair weather or foul—that joy of the purest ray serene."

There was another round of handshakes then and the makers squeezed my shoulders and I squeezed theirs and then we each squeezed our own. And then I hid me to my typewriter and began the first of seven years of columning for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes.

And today as I find myself once more at my typewriter, once more ready to begin a new series of columns, perhaps it would be well to explain my writing methods. I use the term "writing methods" advisedly because I am, above all things a methodical writer. I do not wait for the muse; I work every single day of the year, Sundays and holidays included. I set myself a daily quota and I don't let anything prevent me from achieving it. My quota, to be sure, is not terribly difficult to attain (it is, in fact, one word per day) but the important thing is that I do it every single day. This may seem to you a grueling schedule but you must remember that some days are relatively easy—for example, the days on which I write "the" or "a". On these days I can usually finish my work by noon and can devote the rest of the day to happy pursuits like bird-walking, monopoly, and smoking Marlboro Cigarettes.

© 1960 Max Shulman

The makers of Marlboro are happy to bring you another year of Max Shulman's free-wheeling, uncensored column—and are also happy to bring Marlboro Cigarettes, and for non-filter smokers—mild, flavorful Philip Morris.
