

Pa. Legislators Tour Campus

Pennsylvania's Senate and House Committee on Education is touring the campus today. The committee, consisting of eight members of the House and twenty from the Senate, will sit in on regular TV classes, language labs, and possibly a chemistry demonstration.

Yesterday the committee visited the University's Altoona

600 Tickets Available For 'Series'

About 600 student tickets are still available for the University Artists' Series' first performance by the noted presentation of the year, a American poet, Marianne Moore.

Approximately 200 non-student tickets will go on sale at 9 a.m. today at the Hetzel Union desk.

Miss Moore will appear at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab.

Miss Moore was the recipient of the 1952 Pulitzer Prize and many other awards.

In 1955 Miss Moore was elected to membership in the American Academy of Arts and Letters. She became the first poet to receive the M. Carey Thomas Memorial Award, given by Bryn Mawr College to American women in recognition of eminent achievement. Miss Moore is a member of the Bryn Mawr class of 1909.

She has also been recognized with honorary degrees from eight outstanding colleges and universities.

Miss Moore's principal works include "Poems," "Observations," "Selected Poems," "The Pangolin and Other Verse," "What Are Years," "Nevertheless," "Collected Poems," "The Fables of LaFontaine" and "Predilections."

Alpha Lambda Delta To Activate Transfers

Sophomore transfer women who have been initiated as members of Alpha Lambda Delta, national freshman women's scholarship honorary society, may contact Mrs. Ronald Mountain in 129 Grange Hall if they wish to become active in the University chapter.

More than 200 members of the new freshman class are the sons or daughters of University alumni.

Dean Lipp Announces New Staff

The average student, upon walking into the dean of women's office, would be inclined to wonder if she had "hit the right spot", because of the many new faces there.

Mrs. Hugh M. Davison, Mrs. Richard Vanderpool and Annette Wynia are the three new assistants to the dean of women.

Mrs. Davison, a graduate of Syracuse University, will be working with the residence community program. She received her master of education degree from Harvard and is currently working for a doctorate in educational administration at the University.

Mrs. Vanderpool, who will be working with the Panhellenic program, received her bachelor of arts degree in English from the University of Oregon and a master of arts degree in student personnel administration at Syracuse University. She was also a member of the dean of women's staff at Syracuse.

Miss Wynia will be working with the counseling program. She holds a bachelor of science degree in psychology from Ursinus College and is studying for a master of science degree in psychology at the University.

Mrs. Ronald Mountain will continue on the staff as assistant dean of women and will coordinate the freshman orientation program and serve as adviser to various women's honorary societies.

She is a graduate of the University with a bachelor of science degree in education and a master of education in guidance.

Prayer Time Changes

A shortened form of evening prayer, according to Episcopal usage, will be read at 4:20 p.m. each Wednesday at the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Meditation Chapel. The time was formerly announced as 6:30 p.m. This service will be open to all students.

Campus and was shown a special evening preview of the new large-screen Eidophor television system in Schwab.

The legislators viewed a special program hosted by Lawrence E. Dennis, vice president for Academic Affairs. The operations of the University's TV system were explained, and as a highlight of the evening, the group viewed the Kennedy-Nixon debate on the 10 by 14 foot screen.

Rep. Robert K. Hamilton (Beaver County) said that he was very impressed by the use of television on this campus, and that he envisions an even more extensive use of it in the near future.

At the Eidophor preview for the Harrisburg legislators, Director of the Division of Academic Research and Services Dr. Clarence R. Carpenter announced that as long as Schwab is not reserved, the University will televise for the student body the Kennedy-Nixon debates over the Swedish invention's large screen.

Sen. Harry E. Seylor (York County), the chairman of the York Adult Education Committee, went even further than Rep. Hamilton in his praise of using television for education. Sen. Seylor said, "I believe that a system similar to the one being used here at Penn State would be an extremely useful way for teaching small isolated groups. The presentation given us has been very rewarding."

President Eric A. Walker and his staff, the deans of colleges, and University department heads were also present at the preview.

Washington in Retrospect

Other Acts Contain Loyalty Statement

By KAY MILLS

(Miss Mills worked this summer in the Washington bureau of United Press International.)

The National Defense Education act is not alone in containing a non-Communist affidavit for loan applicants.

The National Science Foundation act requires a similar affidavit. The foundation has recommended repeal of this affidavit, according to a letter from the Budget Bureau to Lister Hill (D.-Ala.), chairman of the Senate Committee of Labor and Public Welfare.

"The Bureau of the Budget concurs with the National Science Foundation in this regard," the letter continued.

A proposal to repeal the disclaimer statement in the NDEA passed the Senate June 15 but died in a House committee.

Both acts are due for general legislative overhauling next year, according to an aide of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.). Many congressmen indicated a preference to incorporate repeal with these changes rather than eliminate it separately.

The aide, Frederick Holborn, told a Collegian reporter that a non-Communist affidavit used to apply to labor under the Taft-Hartley Act. The affidavit now covers labor and management equally by 1959 revisions.

Where the NDEA involves a "middleman" — the university — in the transfer of funds from government to student, the science funds go directly from the government to the student. Holborn said it is "conceivable" that the government's requiring an oath from a student under this procedure might be ruled unconstitutional. He said it has not yet been tested in court.

The non-Communist provision in the Taft-Hartley Act was upheld by the courts in 1959 before its revision two years ago.
