

Lions At Full Strength SAE Steals IM Grid Show For Clash With Tigers As 1960 Tournament Opens

Penn State, hampered by injuries to key players during the early stages of the 1960 campaign, will be at full strength Saturday for the homecoming encounter with Missouri.

Returning for full duty are ends Henry Oppermann and Bob Mitinger, and guard Wayne Berfield.

Another end, John Bozick, also returns but he will be used sparingly.

Halfback Eddie Caye, who sprained his ankle just three days after leading Penn State to a 20-0 win over Boston University in the opener, has been declared fit and will be in the starting lineup Saturday.

Mitinger, a junior, has been running with the first unit in practice this week and will probably start against the Tigers.

Mitinger, Bozick, and Berfield were injured in pre-season drills and missed the opener.

Oppermann, recovering from summer knee surgery, was used only as a kicker against the Terriers.

Tackle Jim Smith, who injured his knee against B.U., is in good shape now, but he lost his starting job to Jerry Farkas.

With his lineup swelled by the return of such tested vets, Engle devoted considerable time to passing drills this week.

The Ripper is assuming that Missouri's line will be tough to handle and therefore he may look to his air attack more than he did in the opener.

"I doubt that we'll be able to grind out enough drives to stay ahead of what obviously is a wide open Missouri team," Engle said, "so we may have to balance things with some passing."

Engle seeks his fourth victory over a Big Eight Conference opponent Saturday when Penn State meets to Missouri.

In previous action against Big Eight teams, Engle-coached elevens own two triumphs over Nebraska and one over Missouri.

Engle has suffered two defeats by Big Eight teams, and both were administered by Nebraska. The Cornhuskers blanked the Lions, 19-0, in 1950. Engle's first season, and shocked them, 14-7, in the 1958 opener at Lincoln.

Allen, Prince to Team For Series Coverage

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick yesterday announced the names of the men who will handle the commentary on radio and television of the World Series, starting Oct. 5 at Pittsburgh.

Mel Allen, the New York Yankees' announcer, will team with Bob Prince, the Pittsburgh announcer, to handle the television work. Chuck Thompson of Washington and Jack Quinlan of the Chicago Cubs will do the radio broadcast.

A's Sued in Tax Case

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics were named defendants yesterday in a suit seeking to collect $9,828.75 in the Jackson County license taxes.

The Jackson County Court, an administrative body, filed the suit saying the American League club had failed to pay the tax of $125 a playing day.

Delta Upsilon, winner of last year's IM fraternity grid title, was forced out of the spotlight by a fiery Sigma Alpha Epsilon squad last night in the opening round of IM grid play.

While DU just managed to edge a hard-charging Alpha Gamma Rho team, 6-0, SAE scored an impressive 13-0 win over Alpha Chi Rho.

Last year DU shutout SAE, 13-0, in a playoff game to cop the fraternity title.

Vance Rae was the big gun for SAE. The slippery quarterback, who won the IM tennis singles title last year and then joined the varsity squad, fired touchdown passes of 20 and 40 yards to Johnny Gander and Charlie Stender.

Gander hauled in Rae's first heave with minutes to go in the first half and then set up the second score with a sensational catch on Alpha Chi Rho's 5-yard line. Rae hit Stender for the second TD as the final whistle blew.

Bob Polishook's punting was a major factor in the win, keeping Alpha Chi Rho in the hole throughout the game.

Meanwhile DU was having trouble with a tough AGR team headed by tailback Dick Campbell, a Nittany Lion track star who set a school record last year in the high jump (6-6).

The only score of the game came with 30 seconds left in the first half when DU's Jim Anderson intercepted a Campbell pass in the right flat and raced 20 yards to paydirt.

Two interceptions by Jack Stephens stopped AGR drives in the first half.

In another close battle Lambda Chi Alpha edged Phi Kappa Psi, 6-0. The only score of the game came on a 40-yard TD pass from quarterback Ed Knoepfle to Jack Wikert.

In a game marred by interceptions, Delta Theta Sigma defeated Phi Kappa Tau, 6-0. An 18-yard scoring pass from John Mayhew to Wendell Alcorn was the difference.

Rick Sacane moved Pi Kappa Phi to Alpha Chi Sigma's 4-yard line on two successive pass completions and then on fourth down flipped to Joe Bowers in the end zone to give his team a 7-0 win. Rick Eurine tacked on the extra point.

In the only other fraternity tilt of the evening, Beta Sigma Rho downed Theta Chi, 1-0, on first downs.

On the independent scene, Nittany 34 started its season on a winning note by shutting out Nittany 28, 7-0. The touchdown came on a 30-yard pass from John Walker to Jack McAdams. Walker split the uprights on the extra point try.

In other games Nittany 43 squeaked past Nittany 35, 2-0; Nittany 38 downed Nittany 33, 7-0; and Nittany 41, Nittany 29 and Nittany 25 won on first downs over Nittany 27, Nittany 23 and Nittany 39.

Panther Cagers Tell of Bribes By Ex-Teacher

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two University of Pittsburgh basketball players testified yesterday that a dentist offered them money and other lures to shave points in Pitt games.

John Fridley, 21, and Dick Falenski, also 21, testified at the non-jury trial of Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, 33, of suburban McKees Rocks, a former Pitt dental school instructor now on leave of absence.

Sebastian, charged with bribery, is accused of trying to talk Fridley and Falenski into shaving points so he could win bets.

Fridley, who averaged 12.25 points a game last season, told the court that Sebastian talked to him several times last December and finally offered him 50 per cent of the winnings on fixed games, a new car at half price, a $1,000 diamond ring for $400 and a guarantee that he would be admitted to dental school.

Fridley said Sebastian asked him to contact Falenski about the proposal and that the pair later informed Sebastian they were not interested in it.

Falenski said he and his father, told Basketball Coach Bob Timmons about the offer.

Timmons testified that he informed university officials who notified the district attorney's office.

Fridley said that in one of his first meetings with Sebastian they rode around Pittsburgh in the doctor's car.

"He talked about athletes getting extra money," Fridley said. "He didn't actually say, 'Will you shave points?' After talking all about it he said 'Do you think you could do it?' At that point I got leary. I knew what he was driving at. I just listened and didn't commit myself."

Sebastian is scheduled to testify today. Seven character witnesses testified in his behalf yesterday.

AP Picks Kilmer As 'Back-of-Week'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Head Coach Bill Barnes calls Bill Kilmer the best of a long line of outstanding tailbacks at UCLA.

Yesterday the 187-pound senior modestly accepted the accolade of Associated Press "back of the week," and put in a bid for 1960 All-America honors.

He merited the honor off his brilliant play against Purdue last Saturday at Lafayette, Ind. The score was 27-27 and back here they say "Purdue tied Kilmer."

The week before he was the big gun in the 8-7 UCLA victory over a favored Pitt.

Against Purdue, Kilmer threw three touchdown passes and scored one himself. Against Pitt, Kilmer plunged through tackle for the winning two-point conversion in the final 33 seconds.

Kilmer is a genuine triple-threat star.

Cold statistics: Kilmer has completed 19 of 34 passes for 364 yards, with only two interceptions, and has lugged the ball 65 yards net in 30 carries. And his 42.1 yards average leaves him just shy of the top 10 punters in the country.

The 21-year-old Kilmer won the "back of the week" poll over such prominent rivals as Dave Hoppman, Iowa; Dick Thornton, Northwestern; Ernie Davis, Syracuse; Bill McQuirt, Clemson; Ronnie Bull, Baylor; Tommy Mason, Tulane; and Ron Miller, Wisconsin.

Norton Denies Rumor Saying He Considered Pro Contract

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — U.S. Olympic sprinter Ray Norton emphatically denied yesterday that he had jumped the gun by considering a professional football contract before the 1960 Rome games.

Norton, contacted after a San Francisco 49ers football workout, said all he knew before the Olympics was that he had been drafted in 1959 while a San Jose State College student.

"I don't even know whether the 49ers wanted me," the 22-year-old athlete declared.

The issue of Norton's amateur-pro status came up yesterday when Joe Williams, sports columnist for the New York World-Telegram and Sun, reported that Norton, before going to Rome, was required to sign an affidavit that he had not agreed either orally or in writing to play for the 49ers.

"Certainly I signed the affidavit," Norton said. "I had nothing to worry about. There was nothing to it."

His Olympic performance was "just one of those mishaps," Norton added, "I wasn't ready at that particular time."

Williams said in his column yesterday:

"Information has reached this desk which may shed light on Ray Norton's wretched performance in the recent Olympics when he finished dead last in the 100- and 200-meter sprints and then committed a foul that expunged America's victory in the 400-meter relay

Arthur Lentz, assistant executive director of the U. S. Olympic Committee, confirmed that Norton had furnished the requested affidavit.
