Kol Nidre Heralds Day of Atonement

Just as the long blast of the Shofar, or ram's horn, ushered in Rosh Hashanah (New Year), so the singing of the Kol Nidre marked the eve of Yom Kippur for Jewish people.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, is the holiest day of the Jewish calendar. According to the Bible, it is a day of total fasting and abstention for the purpose of scrutinizing one's deeds during the past year and aiming at moral improvement. Fasting began at sundown last night.

The Kol Nidre, which is Hebrew for "All Vows," is a petition for forgiveness of deeds of impetuosity and rashness. Jewish tradition holds that before God will pardon a transgression the guilty person must seek the forgiveness of the individual who was wronged.

Prayer services continue throughout the day until sunset and emphasize the Jewish belief in man's capacity for spiritual betterment.

Worship services for students will be conducted at the Hillel Foundation at the following times today: Shacharis (Morning Service), 8:30 a.m.; Yizkor (Memorial Service), 11 a.m.; Mussaf (Additional Service), 11:30 a.m.; Minchah (Afternoon Service), 4:30 p.m.; and Neilah (Closing Service), 6 p.m.

Memorial services conducted on Yom Kippur contain special prayers which are offered for the souls of the deceased. This year, additional prayers will be recited in memory of the souls of Jewish martyrs and the war dead of our country.

A stirring reminder of the great Messianic call proclaiming an era of peace and justice for all men, the Shofar will again be blown to conclude the Holyday.

Dr. Sittler Will Speak At Schwab

Dr. Joseph Sittler, professor of theology and the author of two well-known books, will be the speaker at the University chapel service at 10:55 tomorrow morning in Schwab.

Last year Sittler was selected to give the Lyman Beecher lecture at Yale and the William Belden Noble lecture at Harvard. He is the author of "The Doctrine of the Word" and "The Structure of Christian Ethics."

Sittler has served as chairman of the North American Commission on Worship of the World Council of Churches and has been an active participant in the ecumenical (universal Christian church) movement.

The University Chapel Choir, under the direction of Willa Taylor, will sing a morning anthem, "How Excellent Is Thy Name" by Hanson. University organist George E. Ceiga will play as prelude Parry's "Christe, Redemptor Omnium" and "Psalm Tune" on "Martyrs" by Grace as postlude.
